WHEELER: QUIT WAR MEDDLING

ARMY PLANNING YOUNGER DRAFT, LONGER SERVICE

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 15.—President Roosevelt today disclosed that administration and congressional leaders are studying proposals to lower the age limit of the selective service act to bring younger men into the army.

At the same time, he acknowledged, there has been considerable discussion of extending the term of service beyond the one year present maximum at least until the army gets established to its new strength.

Mr. Roosevelt said that hearings will be held in congress on lowering the draft age range. Congressional action might be taken in June in ample time to revise the selective basis by early fall.

The President said it would not be a bad idea for every one to give a year of his life to the service of his country.

Study Lowering Age Limit.

Both congress and the war department feel that the time has come to study the question of lowering the age range of the draft in order to put the service on a more regularized basis, Mr. Roosevelt said.

The aim is to have every man give a year of his life to federal service around the age of 21. However, to launch the training program, Mr. Roosevelt said, men of older years also were needed and the draft age was put up to 35.

At present the army has enough older men and the need is for younger men who are more physically fit for army life. Army men agree that operation of the present conscription program has shown that the training of a complement of men more than 28 years old is a failure.

Want Lower Age Limit.

The army would limit compulsory service to men between 21 and 25 and would like to get young men between 17 and 21 for a year.

The army prefers younger men for three reasons:

1. They learn faster, make better fighters, and are in better physical condition.

2. They adapt themselves more readily to army life because they do not have to tear themselves away from fixed home ties.

3. The training of younger men is a more economical investment for the army because the younger men will be available for active service for 15 or more years.

Favor Swiss Plan.

The army looks with favor upon a plan of conscription, which would bring to the colors for a year all physically fit young men as they reach or approach the age of 21.

In an attempt to achieve the benefits of this plan voluntarily the army is about to launch a drive to obtain voluntarily enlistments of young men, including those between 17 and 21 years old.

The program will get underway after the school year ends in June.

The army also hopes to get as many of the young men who have come of age since last Oct. 16 as possible, under a proclamation which the President is about to issue calling all men who have reached their majority since that date to register for the draft. The army has not determined how to get these men.

Legality Is Doubtful.

One suggestion, of doubtful legality, is to call them first. Another is for a new lottery, which would get a large percentage of new registrants.

It has been estimated by the census bureau that 1,300,000 young men come of age each year in the United States. From last October to the end of June, it is estimated that about a million men have reached their majority and will be affected by the impending registration proclamation.

It is expected that the President's proclamation will call on all young men approaching 21 years of age in the future to register for selection for military service within five days after their 21st birthday.

Reveal Story of Massacre at Coal Mine

MEN AMBUSHED AND SHOT DOWN; CIO IS ACCUSED

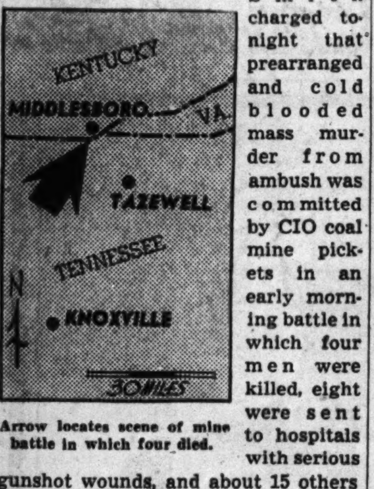
Company President Among 4 Dead.

Call for State Police

Widen, W. Va., April 15 (AP).—State Police Superintendent C. H. Crumpecker and 20 troopers left Charleston tonight for this picketed Clay county mining village after reports were received that shots had been fired near the closed nonunion mine of the Elk River Coal and Lumber company. Crumpecker said H. B. Davies, mine superintendent, had asked for the state police.

Davies said more than 100 shots were fired from the hillsides around the mining town and added that CIO pickets, who have kept the mine closed since the start of the Appalachian shutdown April 1, were reinforced after nightfall. He estimated 1,000 pickets were congregated near the town and said no one had been injured and that the union men were remaining off company property.

Middlesboro, Ky., April 15 [Special].—County Prosecutor Walter Smith charged tonight that prearranged and cold blooded mass murder from ambush was committed by CIO coal mine pickets in an early morning battle in which four men were killed, eight were sent to hospitals with serious gunshot wounds, and about 15 others received minor wounds.



Arrow locates scene of mine battle in which four died.

More than 200 heavily armed pickets lay in wait for an hour on a dark mountainside before their attack on 10 men, the prosecutor said his information indicated. It was agreed the shooting began as the disputants were in conference on a roadside.

Among those slain were the president and vice president of a coal mine company, both prominent in this town's business and civic affairs, and a Tennessee state highway patrolman.

Fought in Darkness.

Because of the darkness in which the battle was fought about 2 a. m., reticent or contradictory data given by the participants, and confusion over the scene being the borderline between Kentucky and Tennessee, a clear account of what happened was not obtained until the prosecutor completed a five hour personal investigation late today.

"This lawless action by pickets," Smith said, "is something that is spreading over the nation as a result of the New Deal administration's failure to curb labor racketeering

EXTRA DAYLIGHT!

Passage of a pending ordinance to extend daylight saving time to the last Sunday in October would be a gift of 28 extra hours of daylight for al Chicagoans, time now denied them because of early darkness under regular time.

James Sinclair, of the Machinists' District council, comprising eight AFL locals, and Don Burrows, business agent for the Auto Mechanics' union, local 701, of the International association of Machinists, said yesterday that the extra hour of daylight per day would:

1. Prevent industrial accidents and reduce eye strain for factory workers and office employés.

2. Make the streets safer thru increased visibility during the evening rush of homeward bound workers.

W-G-N WILL PRESENT TALKS ON NATION'S RELATION TO THE WAR

Lillian Gish, stage actress, and Jerome G. Kerwin, associate professor of political science at the University of Chicago, will discuss the relation of the United States to the war in a special W-G-N and Mutual broadcast from 7 to 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Miss Gish will speak in behalf of the America First committee and Prof. Kerwin will state the viewpoint of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. Prof. Kerwin will be heard first, speaking on the subject "Deliver the Goods Now." Miss Gish's topic will be "Why Another Mistake?"

Miss Gish, star of the play "Life with Father," recently told of her part in propaganda work in the world war. Prof. Kerwin spoke over W-G-N recently in opposition to the peace plea of Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago.

KANKAKEE CITY ELECTION SWEPT BY REPUBLICANS

Kankakee, Ill., April 15 [Special].—The Republican ticket made a complete sweep today in the city election, defeating the Democrats for every contested office from mayor down.

Albert F. Hattenburg was reëlected mayor by a vote of 6,405 to 1,981 for his Democratic opponent, Ed Larocque. Republican candidates for city clerk, city treasurer, and police magistrate won by large majorities.

GOP Wins in Rock Island.

Rock Island, Ill., April 15 [Special].—Republicans won all the city offices except one today in the city election. Robert P. Galbraith was elected mayor, Martin T. Rudgren was elected city clerk, and six Republicans and one Democrat were chosen aldermen.

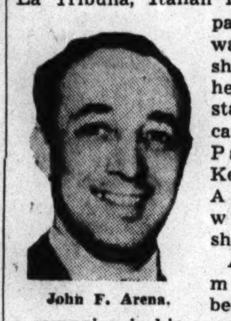
Now Gloria Green Must Wait 10 Days for Sister

Springfield, Ill., April 15 (AP).—That measles quarantine on the governor's mansion is going to continue awhile. The red quarantine sign went up about 10 days ago when 10 year old Gloria Green, youngest daughter of the governor and Mrs. Dwight Green, became ill. She was to be freed from quarantine Thursday, but today 13 year old sister Nancy took the disease, too.

Italian Editor Mysteriously Shot to Death by 2 in Street



John F. Arena.

John F. Arena, anti-Fascist editor of La Tribuna, Italian language newspaper, last night was mysteriously shot and killed as he was about to start his parked car in Irving Park road near Kenmore avenue. A girl companion witnessed the shooting.

Arena, a former marchese, had been conducting a campaign in his paper against what he termed the "fifth column" activities of men high in official Italian circles here. The Federal Bureau of Investigation is expected to step into the case today in view of threats made against Arena and his wife, the former Dorothy Seifert of Chicago. Arena was 43 years old.

Girl Tells of Killing.

Arena's companion, Eleanor Herrmeyer, 17 years old, 1110 Oakdale avenue, told Town Hall police that she and Arena had been to a movie and were sitting in his car when two men, wearing black topcoats and black hats, approached. One said:

"You got a flat tire, Bud."

Arena got out and walked to the front, where one man opened fire as the other ran to a car parked in Kenmore and backed it into Irving Park.

As the car neared Arena's the killer, a swarthy, stocky man about 5 feet 6 inches tall, leaped to the running board, fired a parting shot and the car roared away.

Miss Herrmeyer described the other gangster as a slender dark man about 5 feet 8 inches tall.

Three See Execution.

Three persons standing in front of 1008 Irving Park road were nearly hit by one wild shot and also witnessed the execution. They are Patrick Brosnan, 24, of 4400 Magnolia avenue, son of a policeman, and Philip Chesterfield, 21, and his brother, Edward, 15, both of 4343 Kenmore avenue.

Arena's widow, when informed of his death, cried threats against "those gangsters."

She told police that both she and Arena had received threats warning him to stop his anti-Fascist articles.

She was found at their home at 3124 Broadway and said that she knew nothing of Miss Herrmeyer.

Arena met his wife while she was studying voice in Europe. She is said to be a niece of a former drill master for the imperial German army.

Miss Herrmeyer and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Herrmeyer, said that Arena had considered the girl his protégé and planned to make a great singing star of her. She is a dramatic soprano.

Called by Italian Official.

Miss Herrmeyer also told police that shortly after she met Arena two months ago she was in his office at 326 West Madison street when he got a phone call from the east. When he hung up, she said, he laughed and said:

"I'll have to get a bulletproof vest, I guess."

He explained that the call was from an Italian official in the east who had advised him to quit writing certain articles in his paper.

Police planned to take to the inquest copies of La Tribuna of last February in which Arena said in a signed front page editorial:

"Many Italo-Americans here tell us they cannot speak openly against the acts of this 'fifth columnist' [naming an Italian living in Chicago], because they are afraid of persecution of themselves and their families. But they have given us facts, facts which are astonishing."

Later in the same article he said: "This 'fifth columnist' must be unmasked and banned."

Forced Out of Job.

Arena, who dropped the title marchese when he became an American citizen about six months ago, was forced out as editor of L'Italia, another Italian language paper, in May, 1939. L'Italia was acquired by Philip D'Andrea, president of the Italo-American union. The latter was sentenced to six months in jail in 1931 for carrying a concealed weapon during the Al Capone income tax trial.

Arena came to Chicago in the early 1930's. His first business venture was in publishing and printing, and when Italo Balbo, since killed in an air crash, flew here from Italy Arena printed the official flight program.

Arena was prominent in social circles here in his early years as a Chicagoan and is said to have been an Italian officer in the world war, wounded on the Austrian front.

After he founded La Tribuna, which also is known as the Italian Tribune, L'Italia attacked him as a "bogus nobleman." He had earlier charged that he was forced out as editor of L'Italia because he would not bow to the owners' wishes.

British-Greek Line Broken by Hitler's Troops

ATHENS, Greece, April 15 (AP).—German troops smashing deep into the British-Greek left flank and center on the northern Grecian battle front reached the western outlet of Siatista pass today, the Greek government spokesman announced tonight. Thus the Germans surmounted a formidable obstacle in their thrust to the south.

The pass, which is at the town of that name some 50 miles within Greece, provides an opening in a 6,000 foot mountain range beyond which lies a stretch of considerably easier country.

[The spokesman's language indicated what was not expressly stated: that the Germans had traversed the pass and were free beyond it. Siatista is on the western side of an opening thru a steep range of mountains running southeast into Greece from the vicinity of Lake Presba.]

Occupy Another Pass.

In earlier operations the Nazis had occupied the Vlachoklisura pass, which lies 20 miles to the north of Siatista.

The Greek command said "ordered movement of our troops toward new positions" were carried out in western Macedonia.

German forces, which had broken the apex of the allied line in the region of Florina, already were striking at the towns of Koziani and Siatista.

Hurl Back Nazi Lunges.

The British-Greek line, which originally ran northwest from Mount Olympus on the east to Florina and westward to the Albanian coast, had to be reformed further within Greece due to the allied withdrawal at the center. The line was heavily reënforced during the day by fresh Greek and British forces.

News from the front indicated that the Germans—struggling heavily with their steel machines in the rugged terrain—were suffering heavy casualties.

Greeks Also Menaced.

Abandonment of the town was made necessary by the fact that the German occupation of southern Jugo-Slavia had opened passes to the Greek flanks and rear.

Italian offensives in Albania were hurled back.

Thirty persons were killed when German planes bombed Trikkala in central Greece. Larissa, mountain town recently devastated by an earthquake, also was attacked by German bombers. Thruout the day 13 German planes were shot down, including three over Larissa.

British planes continued assaults on the German columns. Sofia, the capital of German occupied Bulgaria, was heavily raided Sunday night and Monday morning. Many fires were set off.

During the day, German bombers five times assaulted the harbor of Piræus, the port of Athens.

Picture British Routed.

BERLIN, April 16, Wednesday (AP).—German reports early today pictured British forces in Greece as in full retreat with some commentators declaring it was a "rout" under terrific bombardment of the German air force.

The Greek coast was bombed relentlessly as British tranports moved into and out of harbors. Dive bombers dumped three heavy bombs on a British transport off the Dalmatian [Adriatic] coast. The vessel listed heavily after the raid. Four merchant ships were sunk at Piraeus.

The confident tone of German reports followed yesterday's announcement that German advance forces had thrust British infantry and armored units back across the Aliakmon river to a point nearly 65 miles south of the Jugo-Slav border.

[The river crossing, placed by the Germans as near the Greek town of Servia, still is about 18 miles northwest of Mount Olympus.]

Farther to the west about 40 miles south of the Jugo-Slav frontier, the towns of Koziani and Ptolemais have fallen to the Germans.

U. S. PROMOTED BALKAN STRIFE, SENATOR SAYS

Lindbergh Speaks

EVENT—Antiwar rally sponsored by America First committee.
SPEAKER—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.
TIME—8 p. m. tomorrow night; doors open at 7 p. m.
PLACE—Chicago Arena, 400 East Erie street.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Denver, Col., April 15.—The people of Denver are not interested in fighting the European war.

This was apparent tonight when Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], charging that United States meddling has intensified Europe's "blood bath," carried into this capitol city his campaign to keep America out of war. One hour before the meeting convened, an overflow crowd of 4,000 jammed all breathing space in the Denver municipal auditorium, where the senator spoke under the auspices of the Colorado America First committee.

Another 4,000 milled outside the auditorium, rattled the doors, and demanded admittance. Sergt. Leon Hise, in charge of the police detail, called police reserves to calm the crowd.

Crowd Amazes Leaders.

The crowd amazed local America First officials, who were unprepared for the jam.

"We've been organized only two months," said Arthur A. Brooks, chairman of the local committee, "and we've a membership of only 2,000. It has doubled since the lend-lease bill was passed. The pro-war committees here have the socialites and we are getting the working men and the white collar workers."

The response to Wheeler and his plea to stay out of war was even greater than that received in Cincinnati, Cleveland, and Detroit, where crowds were turned away from the Wheeler meetings. The crowd rose and gave the Montana senator a standing cheer as he walked to the speaker's stand.

The listeners' doubled the ovation when he charged that "thousands have been sacrificed in the blood baths of Europe and of Africa because of assurances given their government by President Roosevelt's ambassadors and representatives."

Senses Military Promises.

"The blood of these people lies upon our heads," asserted Senator Wheeler. "There can be little doubt but what this nation has made promises of military aid to Greece and Jugo-Slavia.

"They were promises that cannot be fulfilled but they were promises which led those nations down the bloody road to war. Our guarantees to the Balkans will be no more effective than the British and French guarantees to Poland."

Senator Wheeler told his audience that the United States is not in the war and need not be there if the people present a united front for peace. He urged his listeners to write the President and their congressmen and demand that there be no convoys and no war. He reiterated his oft repeated warning that the convoying of ships means war.

Emphasizes Peace Efforts.

"At the risk of being called an appeaser, or a dupe, or an unwitting agent of Naziism," he said, "I repeat tonight what I said some months ago—we should exert tremendous influence of the United States for peace; our war making efforts must end, and our peace making efforts should begin.

"Col. Donovan should not be sent to the four corners of the world to urge nations to fight. The Wendell Willkies and all other Roosevelt ministers, with or without portfolio, should be recalled from Europe and returned to their haunts on Wall street."

Speaking of the danger of invasion, Senator Wheeler declared that there are not enough boats in the world to bring across the ocean 1 million men and the necessary equipment to support their warfare. He scoffed at the argument of interventionists that the United States must fight to maintain trade with South America.

"Our trade with South America runs somewhere around 750 millions per year," Wheeler said. "Do the people of the United States want to spend 100 billions in war to save this trade?"

"I have been called an isolationist," he continued. "I am only an isolationist to the same extent President Roosevelt was when, as a candidate for the Presidency, he said at Chatauqua, N. Y., that he was an isolationist because he wanted to isolate the United States from European and Asiatic wars. To that extent he was an isolationist in 1936, and to that extent I am an isolationist today.

"However, I denounce the streamlined and 1941 revision of the isolationism of President Roosevelt. He and his advisers are isolating the United States from every country in the world save England and some South American republics. When our stream of supplies ends, when no more American dollars and goods are sent across the Atlantic, we will be isolated from England, and when American gold no longer flows to South American dictators we will be isolated from even those nations."

Rips British Propaganda.

Wheeler told his audience that Britain has loosed the greatest propaganda machine in the United States known to history. He said a British propagandist had told him that when the flow of propaganda started congress would not dare vote against aid to Britain. He said the work of the propagandists was all that had been promised and that its influence was felt in Washington.

Brooks, chairman of the local America First committee, said that "85 to 90 per cent of the people of Denver do not want war or any part of it."

"We have the clergy with us 95 per cent," he said, "and about the only people who favor the prowar committees are those who are impressed by counts and lords. The royal refugees give them quite a thrill, and there are others, like Will W. Grant, chairman of the Colorado committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. His daughter is in England and he is worried. His law partner, Morrison Shafroth, who has no children in Europe, is as strong on our side as Grant is for the British."

Ickes Gets an Answer.

In the afternoon, interviewed over radio station KFEL and the Mutual Broadcasting system, Senator Wheeler was asked what he thought of the speech in which Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes attacked the America First committee. "We know where Gen. Robert E. Wood, Gen. Hugh Johnson, and Col. Hanford MacNider were during the last war," he answered. "All are patriotic Americans. Where was Ickes during the last war? I don't know, and I don't know where he is today on many questions."

Senator Wheeler also was queried concerning his opinion on the wave of strikes which has swept the United States and slowed up the armament program.

"The strikes are in the President's lap," Senator Wheeler answered. "He has his secretary of labor, his mediation board, and Sidney Hillman at his side. I do not believe in the legislative branch usurping the powers of the executive branch."

Movie Law Threatened.

Wheeler also asserted in the radio interview that the motion picture industry has done more to try to promote war than any other agency in the United States. He cited war pictures designed to create bitterness, and news pictures which present but one side of the subject.

"Recently I called this to the attention of Will Hays," the senator said, "and told him that if the motion pictures didn't present both sides we'd have to pass legislation."

CONVOY QUERIES FIND ROOSEVELT IN EVASIVE MOOD

Won't Discuss Need for Protecting Cargoes.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 15.—President Roosevelt evaded questions at his press conference today on his intentions with respect to using American warships to convoy arms cargoes to Great Britain and other foes of the axis powers.

One question asked was whether the need of our warships to insure delivery of our arms shipments is growing more acute. The President would not discuss the subject except to say that more nonsense has been printed on this matter by people who don't know a hill of beans regarding it than he has ever witnessed in all his experience.

Hesitates to Comment.

He said he knows a little something about it but that even with his knowledge he would hesitate to comment on the question of convoys.

Reports that American merchant ships are to be armed he dismissed as the talk of orators. He did say, however, that American statutes obligate the government to protect American merchant vessels wherever they operate outside of war zones.

Our warships, therefore, might be used to convoy American ships carrying arms cargoes around Africa and thru the Red sea, the war zone in which the President recently rescinded. Asked whether such protection would be given, Mr. Roosevelt countered with the statement that he knew of no American ships now in that region or going there in the near future.

Heated Debate in Senate.

Earlier in the afternoon there was a heated colloquy in the senate on the danger of the President getting the country into war by convoying arms cargoes.

Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] sought in vain to obtain from Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky a promise of action by the foreign relations committee on the Tobey resolution forbidding employment of warships to convoy arms cargoes.

Tobey expressed fear that before the subject could be debated "it may very well develop that on the Atlantic somewhere convoys have already been started" and "then some of our ships will be sunk and we will be in the war."

"I want to say," Barkley retorted, "that so far as the President is concerned I think he has an acute sense of his responsibility and it is not quite fair to express the fear that the President, before the senate can act in a negative way on some resolution, will order something to be done that will precipitate us into war before we have had an expression from the senate or the house or the congress on the subject."

Assails Roosevelt Action.

The senate debate also involved other phases of the impact of the war on the United States.

Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.], exhibiting a copy of the President's order establishing the agency to control prices, pronounced it "an act of legislation without any authority that I can find in the statutes."

Altho he agreed price fixing is necessary to prevent inflation, Taft declared that it should be done by legislation and that if the President had such power "congress might just as well go home."

Reading a treasury report showing that Great Britain and the dominions are financing the war on a 40 to 100 per cent pay-as-you-go basis compared with America's 20 per cent, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] said:

"It is time our people began to face this problem in its grim realities because congress cannot evade the unpleasant task of soon reaching into every American pocketbook for new and heavy contributions with which partially to meet our defense expenditures."

Vandenberg cited the American tax of $75 on a $5,000 income of a married person with two children compared with $391 in Canada, $1,052 in Australia, and $1,196 in the United Kingdom.

BEVERLEY WILMAN.

Needham, Mass., April 15 [Special].—Beverley Wilman, 22 years old, has written the draft board a letter stating that she did not register for the draft because she is a woman. The board got her name from a tax list, but it was spelled "Beverly," and they figured she was a man. They dispatched a crisply worded letter demanding to know why she hadn't registered. Now they know.

SET UP DEFENSE FOR AIR RAIDERS AT CAMP GRANT

Rockford, Ill., April 15 [Special].—Thousands of draftees drilled on roads and grounds at Camp Grant today as men and officers of the 61st coast artillery lay in camouflaged spots at the edge of the camp ready for a theoretical defense of the reservation against air attacks. Ambulances and stretcher bearers dotted the camp area as the medical replacement center's training program proceeded in full swing.

Brig. Gen. John L. Homer, commanding officer at Fort Sheridan, inspected air defenses set up by the coast artillery regiment. The first attack by the 108th observation squadron was expected some time during the night. Assignment of Brig. Gen. John M. Willis as commanding officer of the camp medical replacement center was announced by Col. J. H. Davidson, commander of the camp.

MAYWOOD GROUP NOW IN ARMORED DIVISION FORCES

Trained in Mechanized Unit Tactics.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Knox, Ky., April 15.—Five officers and 96 enlisted National Guardsmen from Maywood, Ill.—inducted into federal military service from civilian life less than five months ago—now are a part of the regular army's first armored division stationed here. As a unit of the division the Illinois guardsmen are participating in almost daily maneuvers and tactical problems.

The Illinois soldiers form Company B of the 192d tank battalion, the only National Guard organization attached to the armored division. The battalion is composed of four companies, A from Janesville, Wis.; B from Maywood, C from Port Clinton, O., and D from Harrodsburg, Ky.

Maj. Theodore Wickord of Maywood, formerly Company B commander, now is the executive officer of the battalion.

Lacking in Equipment.

The equipment of Company B and the other companies of the battalion is far from what is called for under the army's tables of organization. This was revealed today by officers of the unit.

At the time they were inducted into service each company had two light tanks.

Today each of the companies has six light tanks. These are serviceable and suitable for training purposes, altho they are not of the latest model. They lack the heavy armor plate of the new light tanks, and carry only .50 and .30 caliber machine guns for armament. The new light models, in addition to machine guns, are armed with a .37 mm. gun.

Should Have 77 Tanks.

Army tables of organization provide that the battalion should be equipped with a total of 77 tanks. It has 24. It was explained that the 24 were sufficient for training purposes.

A tactical exercise in which the battalion participated today is typical of the work it has been doing. With 40 light tanks and 30 motorcycle scouts the tanks left their base shortly after dawn on an all day maneuver in the hills of the 40,000 acre Fort Knox reservation.

The days plan of operations called for the tank column to establish its bivouac in heavily forested hills at noon. Twenty-two minutes after the hour a squadron of light bombers took off from the Fort Knox airport. Their mission was to locate and photograph the bivouac if possible.

LONDON, April 15.—Glasgow dockers, voting on the government's labor scheme for speeding up the handling of cargoes, accepted the plan today on the basis of a 3 month trial.

SAVE DEMOCRACY IN AMERICA FIRST, REV. O'BRIEN URGES

Carbondale, Ill., April 15 [Special].—America had better put its democratic ideals into practice at home before trying to impose them at the point of a bayonet on the peoples of Europe, the Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien declared in an address here today.

Plowing under every fourth American boy will not supply political freedom to Europe, he told a large audience at a massmeeting at the Southern Illinois Normal university, sponsored by the America First committee.

Father O'Brien, professor in the graduate school of the University of Notre Dame, said the American people want to see political freedom restored to the people of Poland, France, Finland, Norway, Belgium, and Holland. "We wish to see them enjoy likewise freedom from want, freedom from hunger. But," he went on, "war is a false path to that freedom. We do not supply those wants by engaging in a gigantic campaign of destruction, by plowing under every fourth American boy, by setting our own house on fire."

15,000 Parcels on Way to Britons Held in Germany

LISBON, Portugal, April 15 (AP).—The British ship City of Lancaster, sailing under the flag of the British Red Cross, arrived here today with 15,000 parcels for British prisoners in Germany. The parcels will be transferred here to two Portuguese liners sailing shortly for Genoa, Italy.

ONE OF NEWEST BRITISH CRUISERS SUNK BY TORPEDO

LONDON, April 15 (AP).—Britain acknowledged the loss of one of her newest cruisers tonight, but claimed destruction of a 10,000 ton tanker bound for a German occupied port.

The 5,450 ton cruiser Bonaventure, completed in the 1939-'40 program, was sunk on convoy duty by a torpedo, the admiralty announced. The date, location, and the number of casualties were not disclosed. The Bonaventure was the first cruiser acknowledged by the administration as lost since the war began.

The British submarine Tigris was credited with sinking the heavily laden tanker, which was plying to a port in occupied France.

Claim Toll of Four Destroyers.

BERLIN, April 15 (AP).—Four British destroyers were "put out of action" by the German air force in the last week, DNB, the official German news agency, said today.

3-STATE GROUPS ARE EXPECTED AT ANTIWAR RALLY

Large delegations from Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin will attend the antiwar rally tomorrow night in the Chicago Arena, 400 East Erie street, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the America First committee, reported yesterday. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will be the speaker. Mrs. Fairbank said 61 Illinois chapters of America First will send representatives. Accommodations have been provided for nearly 9,000 persons.

COMMUNITY FUND LEADERS MEET IN BRITISH AID DRIVE

200 Volunteer in Effort to Raise $1,000,000.

A cross section of the men who have been the leaders in Chicago's annual Community Fund drive met in the Palmer House last night to launch the million dollar civilian relief campaign of the British War Relief society in Illinois. Two hundred men were there. All will serve as volunteers in the drive.

Chauncey McCormick, vice chairman of the Illinois society, reminded them in opening the meeting that after the Chicago fire of 1871, Great Britain, in less than a month, poured a million dollars in money and supplies into the devastated city. Of the 10 million dollars in cash, food, and clothing from foreign countries that enabled Chicago to start to rise again, three-fourths came from the people of the British Isles.

Military Attaché Speaks.

"This city," Mr. McCormick continued, "which was not too proud to seek help from others, is not today too haughty to return help.

Col. Rex. Benson, military attaché at the British embassy in Washington, D. C., who came to America two weeks ago on a cargo boat that required 18 days to cross the Atlantic, made a direct and moving talk. He spoke particularly of the reception in England of the money and supplies sent by the British War Relief society, distribution of which his wife, a former Chicagoan, directs in England.

Tells of Bombs' Effects.

"Every dollar which is being sent from America has been well and carefully spent," he said. "You may ask why we can't provide these things [clothing, hospital beds, mobile kitchens] ourselves. We do try. The truth is that every man and women in the country is working on the war effort and is mobilized in one way or another.

"But a bombing raid comes with shattering suddenness. The minute the sirens sound, people get into their clothes and out they go. The whole center of a town can be destroyed over night."

Refers to Pickets.

Clarence Randall, vice president of Inland Steel company, told the group of men that women opposed to the British civilian relief drive had picketed the hotel as he came in. One bore a banner, "Illinois' poor needs that $1,000,000." To them he gave this answer:

"I suppose 90 per cent of the men in this room tonight have participated in the Community Fund drive. We are all going to be here again in the fall, as we have been every fall. We don't need to be told this is a time for extraordinary sacrifice. We are going to do this job over and above our domestic load. No sacrifice we can make will be more than trivial in the face of those which are being made on the other side."

U. S. WILL EQUIP POLISH TROOPS, SAYS PREMIER

New York, April 15 [Special].—General Wladislas Sikorski, premier of the Polish government in exile in London, returned here from Washington, D. C., today saying he was very satisfied with the result of his calls on President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of War Henry Stimson, and Harry Hopkins whom the President has placed in command of the lend-lease program.

The Polish premier said he had been promised equipment under the lend-lease bill for a Polish armed force which is to be recruited and trained in Canada for service overseas with the British forces.

NORTH IRELAND IS TARGET FOR HEAVY BOMBING

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, April 16, Wednesday (AP). — The ministry of home security today said a heavy force of enemy bombers last night carried out an attack lasting several hours over an area covering virtually the whole of northern Ireland.

The intensity of the attack varied. In some areas it was vicious and indiscriminate. Damage has been sustained by some industrial premises.

Raid Kiel 38th Time.

LONDON, April 16, Wednesday (AP). —British bombers attacked the German naval base at Kiel last night while a heavy force of German warplanes made a large scale raid against northern Ireland and roved widely over England. Four Nazi planes were shot down. The government said a small number of persons were killed in England. Damage to industrial premises at a few points was acknowledged. The raid on Kiel was the 38th of the war.

FEAR MANY DEAD AS QUAKE ROCKS CITY IN MEXICO

Colima Periled by Fires Volcano Started.

MEXICO CITY, April 15 (AP).—The city of Colima was reported half in ruins tonight as a result of earthquakes and in peril from forest fires started when a volcano was set in eruption by the shocks. Heavy loss of life was feared. The quakes, one heavy shock followed by a lighter one, shook the south half of Mexico today and caused damage in Mexico City estimated at $1,000,000.

President Manuel Avila Camacho's office was informed that probably half of the 15,000 residents of Colima were homeless, injured, or dead. Gov. Pedro Torres Ortiz of Colima state reported by radio that the city was seriously menaced by the forest fires. President Camacho arranged to send doctors and supplies by plane tomorrow morning.

Five Fires at Capital.

Colima is about 375 miles west of Mexico City, not far from the Pacific coast. Instruments at the seismological observatory here indicated the epicenter of the quake was in the wilds of Guerrero state, southwest of the capital.

In Mexico City the quake started five fires. One of them ravaged an entire city block in the industrial area before it was controled after a six hour fight by hundreds. A fireman was overcome and two other persons suffered burns. No other casualties were reported here.

Steel Girders Twisted.

Worst damaged of Mexico City's large structures was the $500,000 Pontiac building, where a large section of brick front eight stories high tumbled into the street and huge steel girders were twisted like paper.

The five story Excelsior building, in which the Associated Press office is located, swayed so wildly that water sloshed into the streets from storage tanks on its roof.

ITALIANS PRESS TWO-WAY DRIVE AGAINST GREEKS

Fight to Retake 2 Towns Lost in Albania.

ROME, April 15 (AP).—A double Italian offensive to reconquer Albania and subdue Greece took shape tonight, with Fascist pressure toward Argyrokastron, on the southern front, matching the drive in the northern sector which has wrested Koritza from well fortified Greek troops.

[The Greeks took Argyrokastron Dec. 8, thus wiping out the last advanced base from which the Italians, in their original invasion last autumn, intended to overrun Greece.]

Dispatches from the war correspondent of the newspaper Il Giornale D'Italia indicated that the new Italian offensive in the direction of Argyrokastron was based on Berat, above Tepeleni, which an Italian garrison also has managed to hold.

Harass Greek Troops.

Following the capture of Koritza in the north, the Italian air force was said to be harassing the Greek troops retreating southward in the direction of Erseke. The occupation of Koritza pushed the Italian lines forward about 25 miles.

The northern Italian drive is aimed at Kastoria, across the Greek frontier, for a junction with the German troops who are smashing down from Jugo-Slavia thru a gap in the western flank of the main British-Greek line.

Il Giornale's correspondent described the Greek second line of defense about Koritza as a succession of "watertight compartments," explaining that wherever the highway passed between the hills, the Greeks fired from a series of pillboxes, each independent of the others.

Shells Fall Among Troops.

As the Greeks withdrew from Koritza, they continued to fire from the heights of the Morava mountains to the southeast, shells from their mortars and bursts from their machine guns falling among the Italian troops entering the city.

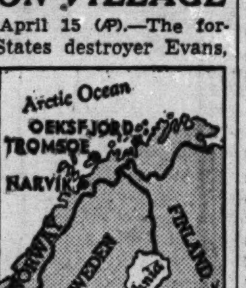
Gen. Ambrogio Bollati, retired officer writing in the official military paper Le Forze Armate, said German and Italian forces from Florina could threaten the rear of the Greek line facing the Italians in Albania, either enveloping it from behind or forcing the northern wing to draw back.

Fascist war planes sank one steamer and damaged others at Piraeus, the port of Athens, while British planes raided Italian Brindisi and Albanian Valona.

EX-U.S. WARSHIP USED BY NORSE IN RAID ON VILLAGE

LONDON, April 15 (AP).—The former United States destroyer Evans, renamed the Mansfield, one of four turned over to the Norwegian government in exile by the British, was used by the Norwegian navy last Friday night in a raid on fish oil factories at Oeksfjord, Norway, it was disclosed today. Oeksfjord is in far northern Norway, near Tromsoe.



Map Locates Oeksfjord.

The raid had been reported previously as having taken place variously on Saturday and Sunday nights.

The Mansfield has returned safely to her base in England, Norwegian authorities said. They added that not a member of the expedition was injured during the operations.

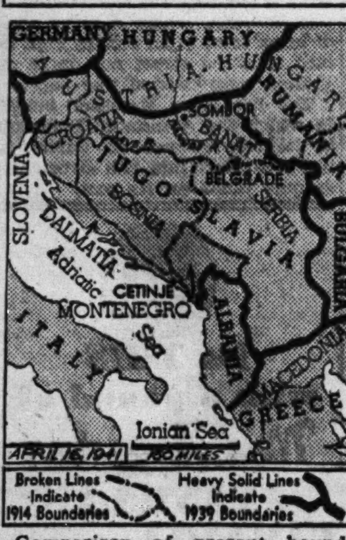
New Boundaries



Comparison of present boundaries with course of lines at start of war in 1914. The axis powers yesterday recognized Croatia as a separate state, and indicated other changes in boundary lines.

AXIS RECOGNIZES CROATIA AS NEW SEPARATE STATE

Nazis Weigh Bulgarian Claim to Macedonia.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 15.—While articles on the "Macedonian question" appeared in the Berlin press today, announcement was made that Germany and Italy had recognized the newly formed "independent" state of Croatia.

Considering the Berlin attitude toward Macedonia and Croatia, the future disposition of Jugo-Slavian territory is becoming clearer along lines which will be permanent unless Germany loses the war.

Favor Bulgarian Claim.

The press articles alluded to the Bulgarian claim to Macedonia [parts of which are in Bulgaria, Jugo-Slavia, and Greece] and made two main points which may be taken as foreshadowing the future attitude of Berlin:

FIRST—That important as the territory of Macedonia may be as a center of communications between Europe and the near east, economically it is unable to exist as an independent state, and SECOND—That despite the crazy quilt of tongues, nationalities, and religions inhabiting Macedonia, it is historically and culturally primarily Bulgarian.

Coincident with the recognition of Croatia, a dispatch from Zagreb, its capital, said that among the first acts of Dr. Ante Pavelich as chief of state were the banning of all political parties and prohibiting all public meetings.

The boundaries of Croatia, it was said in official circles here, will not be fixed until a peace is signed. Assuming that the Croats will be favored at the expense of the Serbians, the question remains of the Dalmatian coast. The Croats say it is theirs, but Italy has voiced a claim to it since before the last war.

Territory for Hungary.

Hungary is practically certain to get that part of Jugo-Slavia which Hungarian troops now occupy—approximately the land east of Sombor to the Rumanian border and north of Belgrade and the Danube. Rumania also puts forward a claim to this region, which is a part of the rich wheat growing Banat—the eastern part is in Rumania.

What then is left of Jugo-Slavia presumably will be called Serbia, as before the last war, but it will be much smaller in size and will seek an existence just as "independent" as that of the new Croatia, which is to say, as "independent" as the nation named Slovakia [a German protectorate].

Some facetious foreigners in Berlin have suggested that to make the partition complete, the axis powers might even revive the minuscule kingdom of Montenegro on the extreme south of the Jugo-Slavian seacoast. Queen Elena of Italy was a princess of Montenegro.

Clubs Teach British Wives How to Eke Out Rations

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 15.—Food Minister Lord Woolton today warned housewives that "food supplies are going to be difficult for the next three months" and then announced that kitchen clubs are being set up in many parts of the country. The housewives are urged to attend to learn from experts how to prepare new dishes and make the most of their rations.

JUGO-SLAV ARMY OF 1,200,000 MEN CRUSHED—BERLIN

BERLIN, April 15 (AP).—German and Italian troops today were credited with "pursuit and encirclement of remnants of the Serbian army, which is showing localized opposition in the Mostar-Sarajevo region." Numerous prisoners included the commander of the south Serbian army.

Informed sources estimated that a Jugo-Slav army estimated to number 1,200,000 men had been "beaten," dispersed, crushed, and brought to final collapse" in a week.

DNB, official German news agency, quoted Croat officers as saying Croats and Serbs were fighting each other in the Mostar area.

Capture Trainload of Serbs.

Another German dispatch said that in the Sarajevo region the Germans occupied the railway station and captured a trainload of Serb soldiers without firing a shot.

The German air force inflicted heavy losses on the Serbs, wiping out marching columns in the lower Bosna valley and in the area between the Sava and Drina rivers.

The Sarajevo and Mostar areas were bombed.

Hungarian troops were credited with completing occupation of the Drava-Danube triangle and pressing on southward to Donyu and Novi.

Take Over Government.

The German civil administration's swift follow up of the Jugo-Slav army was indicated by a DNB report that a gauleiter [district leader] and numerous Nazi party officials already had gone to Maribor [Marburg], south of the old Austrian border, to take over the government.

German news agency dispatches from Sofia said that Bulgaria had broken off diplomatic relations with Jugo-Slavia on the grounds that Jugo-Slav diplomats in Sofia had tried to foment a revolt.

SEESAW BATTLES RAGE ON AROUND SOLLUM, TOBRUK

Axis Offensive Force Believed Waning.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 15 (AP).—A wide open battle rocketed back and forth thru the Egyptian border village of Sollum tonight while, 80 miles to the west in the beleaguered Libyan port of Tobruk, the British announced they had staved off ferocious attacks by destroying 22 axis planes and 15 tanks, killing at least 100 of their enemy and capturing 200 Germans.

The impression prevailed here that the swift 800 mile axis advance across North Africa had almost spent itself when it reached Sollum.

Bomb Airdromes and Troops.

British planes bombed airdromes and troop concentrations in Libyan Cyrenaica and Tripolitania.

Military buildings were destroyed, dispersed aircraft were hit and heavy explosions caused particularly at the axis centers of Derna, El Adem, and Gambut, the British said, while in Tripoli one ship was set afire and others damaged.

At Sollum, which was said to have changed hands repeatedly in the course of the maneuvering of armored patrols, the British announced they inflicted losses on the axis units by both patrol and artillery action.

The British hung grimly onto the lower half of the seashore escarpment and the bottom of the cliffs, and apparently it was there that they planted their artillery.

Active in East Africa.

In East Africa, also, the air force was active, machine gunning Italian airdromes in Ethiopia.

Pressing the Ethiopian cleanup, the British said they were advancing toward Dessye and were pursuing Italian detachments in the south.

Here in Cairo, the Egyptian government announced that an agreement had been reached with British authorities, but did not disclose its nature.

TIME EXTENSION BENEFITS TO CITY TOLD BY EXPERTS

Saving of Lives Described at Committee Hearing.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

The benefits which Chicago would enjoy if daylight time is extended thru October were described yesterday at a hearing before the city council judiciary committee.

Safety experts and recreation leaders joined in urging the extension at a two hour session at which eight persons, including Ald. John J. Duffy [19th], cosponsor of the proposal, testified. Only two witnesses opposed the extension. Daylight time now ends the last Sunday in September.

Judge John P. McGoorty of the Superior court, who is vice chairman of the Chicago recreation commission, was one of those who testified in favor of the proposal.

Autumn Advantages Told.

"In this latitude October is the most beautiful month of the year," he said. "I've always believed it was an anomaly to exclude October from the daylight saving schedule. There are no valid economic objections to extending daylight time to include October. Every one I have talked with favors the plan."

Ald. Abraham Cohen [4th], who originally favored the extension and changed his stand after he said he had received objecting telephone calls, asked Judge McGoorty: "Have you ever talked with live stock, grain, or produce dealers about the results of the extension?"

"No," replied Judge McGoorty, "but we operate with no dislocation of business thru the present period of daylight saving. One month more would make no difference."

Mothers Indorse Proposal.

Mrs. Edith Joyce, 1811 West 104th street, chairman of the Chicago Woman's Civic league, told the committee she represented more than 1,900 mothers. She said more than 700 of the league's members attended a meeting Monday night and that 90 per cent favored the extension.

"We believe that October is as good a month as June, July, August, or September for children," she said.

V. K. Brown, park district recreation chief, said outdoor activities in parks increase with the start of daylight saving time and decrease sharply when the extra hour of daylight time is taken away. He said the recreational benefit usually occurs before the dinner hour and that workers who want to enjoy the parks merely would delay their dinner hour in October if given the additional hour of daylight.

Saving of Lives Cited.

George F. Fleming, chairman of the Keep Chicago Safe committee, testified that in 1940 a total of 29 persons were killed by autos between 5 and 6 p. m. in the seven months which were without daylight time and that only 14 were killed between 5 and 6 p. m. in the five months which had daylight time.

"In 1939 there were 44 persons killed by autos between 5 and 6 p. m. during the seven month standard time period and 14 in the same hours during the five months of daylight time," Fleming said.

Arthur E. Rex, chairman of the safety committee of the Norwood Park Citizens' association, said most accidents occur between 4:30 and 6:30 p. m.

Charles R. Rice, president of the Chicago Live Stock exchange, opposed the extension on the ground it would impede the live stock business which employs 40,000 workers. Questioned by Ald. Duffy, Rice said his branch of the business involves only 4,000 workers.

The hearing was continued until Monday afternoon.

4 TOWNS VOTE FOR DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

The city of Kankakee yesterday voted to follow Chicago's lead and adopt daylight saving time. The proposition for the extra hour of sunshine from May thru September was carried with 4,270 votes to 3,780.

Two towns in McHenry county also voted for daylight time, indicating they would model their ordinances on Chicago's and keep the extra hour during October if this city decides to do so. Harvard voted for the proposition, 850 to 709, and Marengo balloted in its favor, 599 to 333. Beecher, in Will county, voted 2 to 1 for daylight saving time.

Belvidere, Boone county, voted down daylight saving, 2,703 to 922, the proposition also was defeated in Canton, Fulton county, by 2 to 1.

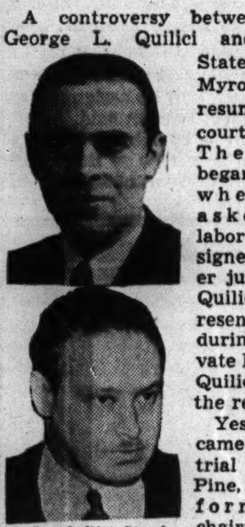
CIO CASE STIRS ANOTHER TIFF IN QUILICI'S COURT

Prosecutor, Judge Trade Sharp Remarks.



Judge Quilici [top] and Myron Lewis.

A controversy between Judge George L. Quilici and Assistant State's Attorney Myron Lewis was resumed in Jury court yesterday. The dispute began last week when Lewis asked that a labor case be assigned to another judge because Quilici had represented the CIO during his private law practice. Quilici refused the request.

Yesterday's tiff came during the trial of Lester Pine, 23 years old, former vice chairman of a CIO union in the Royal Drug company, 544 South Wells street. Pine was charged with assault after he struck Harold Mishnick, assistant foreman of the company, when Mishnick discharged Pine March 20.

Pine admitted striking Mishnick in the eye and Judge Quilici asked: "Was there any language used?"

Prosecutor Lewis objected. "The court should not take sides," he shouted. "The defense has closed its case."

"Mr. Lewis," Judge Quilici asked, "are you aware of what you have said?"

"Yes," Lewis replied.

"You talk too loose," the judge warned. "You said I was taking sides."

"I did not say that."

"It's a good thing you made that last remark," Quilici said. "I would have held you in contempt of court. That was uncalled for. I don't care what you think of me as an individual, but I insist on respect for this tribunal. The Supreme court has said that in this type of case language which reflects upon one's parentage may be sufficient provocation for assault."

"The Supreme court has also said," Lewis retorted, "that a court should not take sides."

Wants to Know Facts.

"The court has a right to know the facts," said Judge Quilici.

A. B. Schatz, Pine's attorney, repeated the court's question: "Was there any language used?" Pine said there was.

The assistant foreman testified labor trouble had nothing to do with Pine's discharge. "He was always putting his feet up on the benches and not working," Mishnick said.

Judge Quilici found the defendant guilty. He turned to Lewis. "Are you pleased, Mr. Lewis," he asked.

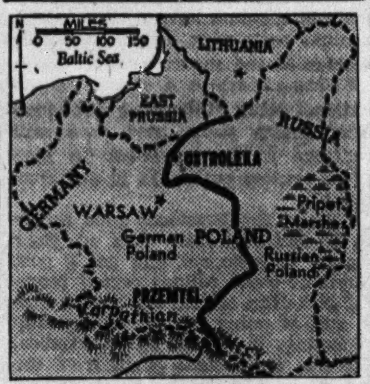
"I couldn't be more pleased," said Lewis.

"Twenty-five dollars and costs," said the judge.

Lewis then spoke up for the defendant and asked that the fine be cut to $10, all that Pine could pay.

Quilici smiled at the change of events and agreed to reduce the fine.

Nazi Defense Line



Heavy black line is boundary line between Germany and Russia. Fritz Todt, builder of Siegfried line, is to inspect Germany's eastern fortifications along border.

BERLIN, April 15 (AP).—Minister of Munitions Fritz Todt, who built the German Siegfried line, or west wall, has gone to Ostroleka [Poland] with three of his closest collaborators for inspection of Germany's eastern fortifications. The trip will take Todt along the German-Russian frontier from Ostroleka to Przemysl. Thousands of German workers have been digging this east wall ever since the new border between Germany and Russia was agreed upon.

SEAWAY SCHEME CALLED MENACE TO GRAIN PORTS

Montreal Shipping Men Tell of Threat.

BY JOHN STURDY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., April 15.—Local shipping men, who have fought the St. Lawrence seaway project for many years, foresee a bad effect, not only on Montreal and other eastern Canadian ports but on Canadian lake shipping and the railroads, if the scheme is carried out.

They agree with Scot Misner, head of Colonial Steamships, Ltd., that the seaway would damage Canadian grain boat trade, but are not willing to prophesy the extent of that damage. The ill-effect on the lake boats, which now carry grain from the head of the lakes to Montreal, Sorel, Three Rivers, and Halifax, would depend on the economic situation a decade from now, when the waterway project would be completed.

If good sized ocean carriers were able to proceed into the lakes and load at the lakehead ports, inland carriers would be certain to suffer, shipping officials here state. To what extent the ocean ships would be able to eliminate the lake competition would depend largely on the world situation at the time, they add.

It is declared here that Montreal and ports eastward to the Atlantic would be badly affected. Grain is the No. 1 commodity handled thru Montreal in transfer from lake vessels and rails to ocean going bottoms.

Sorel and Three Rivers on the St. Lawrence are also sizeable grain ports. With direct shipment from the lakes to the sea, these ports would lose a great deal of revenue, both from the grain handling and from harboring dues, it is declared, and it is believed here that Montreal probably would be unable to attach dues on vessels merely passing thru the port from inland waters to the sea.

As a hydroelectric project and a waterway, the St. Lawrence seaway scheme has been severely criticized by the Shipping Federation of Canada, the membership of which includes a majority of the big ship operators.

MINE MASSACRE IN AMBUSH LAID TO CIO PICKETS

Company Head, Policeman Among Four Dead.

He said his investigation revealed an astounding story of cold-bloodedness on the part of pickets who had determined to close the Fork Ridge coal mine. Operations at the mine continued despite the April closing of nearly all soft coal mines pending agreement on a new work contract sought by the CIO.

Pickets Mobilize.

Last night, he said, several hundred pickets, many from nearby Harlan county, were mobilized in Middlesboro, the largest town in Bell county. In a motorcade of about 80 to 100 automobiles and trucks, they drove toward the Fork Ridge mine on a mountainside 7½ miles away and about 2½ miles across the state line into Tennessee.

"They drove up a winding mountainside road toward the mine and stopped in the vicinity of the state line," the prosecutor related. "There they got out of their cars and took up positions on the steep terrain above the road.

"Trampled areas and the presence of blood from the wounded and many empty shells showed where they had shot from behind logs, trees, and ravine embankments in their attack on the handful of men who opposed them in the open."

Victims Fall in Trap.

The 10 men who comprised the opposing side had driven down the mountain road from the mine after learning that some miners were being held up by pickets at the state line.

In this group was C. W. Rhodes, president of the Fork Ridge Coal company, one of the largest mines in this area, and president of the American association, a combination of soft coal mining interests which founded Middleboro.

Accompanying him were E. W. Silvers, vice president and treasurer of the company, Rob Robinson of Tazewell, Tenn., a Tennessee highway patrolman who had been assigned as a deputy sheriff to help guard the mine since April 1, and eight other men from the mine.

The party from the mine was in three cars. One of the officials got out to inquire about the men being delayed. The company side said it was Silvers, the pickets said it was Rhodes. It was agreed, however, that the union leaders were talking to the officials when the shooting started. Each side blamed the other for firing first.

"A man who was at the scene told me that when the cars stopped, some one among the pickets yelled: 'There they are! Let's get them! .. Prosecutor Smith said. "The firing then began, with both sides apparently shooting as fast at they were able.

"From the number of shells and the many sizes found in the woods where the pickets lay, they had an enormous advantage in firing power. We found empty bullet cartridges of .45, .38, and 9 mm. caliber, and 12, 16, and 20 gauge shotgun shells.

"I was told that one man, who appeared to be the leader of the pickets, stood in the roadway down the hill from the company officials' car and shot with slow and deliberate aim. He fired several bullets after the general shooting had ended.

Follow Their Leader.

"Then he walked to his car, turned it around and drove a short distance to an intersection where he blew the horn twice. At that apparent signal all the other pickets came down from the mountainside and got into their automobiles and drove away.

"It looks like they were set there to get Rhodes. It seems to me significant that the shooting stopped as soon as Rhodes was dead."

Rhodes' car was riddled with bullets. Rhodes, Silvers, and the Tennessee patrolman were shot dead, as was Sam Evans of Middlesboro, a miner picket. All of the eight seriously wounded and taken to hospitals were pickets.

The prosecutor said apparently the plans to put the Fork Ridge mine out of commission were so well arranged that a second group of about 200 men had started toward the pit, walking across the mountainside from a nearby mine and bringing with them a quantity of dynamite.

"I was informed," Smith said, "that a man close to Rhodes met this group before it reached the Fork Ridge mine. When he told the men that Rhodes had just been killed, they set off their dynamite on the mountain and left. Their plan undoubtedly was to blast the mine tipple, but they were satisfied to learn that Rhodes was dead."

Battle on State Line.

Inasmuch as the battle took place directly on the state border, Smith said a question of state jurisdiction was involved. He said he found blood directly on the state line and that while all of the pickets fired from the Kentucky side, there was some doubt as to where all of the company men were.

The state line crosses the road at a 90 degree angle, where the shooting occurred. A sign indicating the state line was riddled with bullets. Smith had surveyers measure the angle of some of the holes and then took the sign to his office at Pineville, seat of Bell county, for further examination.

The prosecutor sent a telegram to the Tennessee governor, Prentice Cooper, at Nashville, Tenn., asking him for coöperation in making a full investigation.

In his telegram Smith termed the gunplay "one of the most cold blooded mass murders ever committed in the history of this county" and called the governor's attention to the fact that one of the victims was a highway patrolman.

Investigation Asked.

"The question of jurisdiction," he told the governor, "will be one of the first questions raised the moment this case goes to trial. I would be most grateful if you would issue orders to Tennessee state police, if you haven't already done so, to coöperate with us in making the fullest investigation."

Smith said that altho no arrests had been made he would issue warrants the moment he could get sufficient evidence. He asserted he definitely wants to prosecute this case.

It was generally conceded, however, that successful prosecution would meet great difficulty. CIO leaders were heard boasting today of their 20 to 1 preponderance of witnesses. The survivors from the handful of company men would have a slim chance against such odds of proving their version of the shooting.

"Unless there is a change in the national policy of handling labor matters," Smith commented, "we will continue to be powerless to stop these lawless outbreaks in our community.

"When the President tells people to go out and take care of their rights, they go out and get a gun. Supreme court rulings permit peaceful picketing, but no one armed with a gun is going out to do peaceful picketing. A change in this radical attitude must come down from the top to be effective."

FIRST DRAFTEES TO JOIN ILLINOIS DIVISION AT CAMP

Camp Forrest, Tenn., April 15 (AP).—The first draftees from Illinois—350 of them—will arrive tomorrow from Camp Grant, Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, camp commander, announced today, starting the influx of 2,890 draftees this month and more than 6,000 next month.

They will be assigned to the 58th Field Artillery brigade, composed of three Illinois regiments, two from Chicago, the other from towns outside Chicago.

The second group of 250, to be moved into camp Thursday, and a third of 250, to arrive April 22, also will be assigned to field artillery units. Where the rest of the trainees arriving in April will be assigned has not been decided, Lawton said.

Trainees will be added to the 11,000 Illinois troops here now so there will be a full square division of 18,000 men by July 1.

DIES AID TELLS RED-NAZI PLOT BEHIND STRIKES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 15.—Communists and Nazi sympathizers have been coöperating in strikes and sabotage against armament industries, J. B. Matthews, research director of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities, disclosed today.

J. B. Matthews.

Matthews told the house military affairs committee, which is investigating delays in the armaments program, particularly the epidemic of strikes impeding production, that evidence of such Red-Nazi coöperation was uncovered by Dies committee investigators.

The committee has investigated approximately 200 strikes and in the majority of these, Matthews declared, the strikes were communist inspired.

Counts 250,000 in Unions.

Matthews declared there are approximately 250,000 communists in American labor unions, virtually all CIO. There are some local AFL unions under Red domination, he said, but none of the AFL international unions. Records show, he added, that approximately 40 per cent of the CIO leadership is composed of communist party members or those closely allied to the party.

In addition to sabotage to the extent of $300,000 in the Ford Motor company strike, there has been extensive sabotage in shipyards and in the aircraft industries, particularly on the Pacific coast, Matthews told the committee. In other cases, he added, armaments production has been affected by slowdowns instituted by communists or Nazi sympathizers, or both, he added.

Lists Strikes as Examples.

Matthews listed the following as examples of communist controled strikes: the Ford strike in Michigan, the Allis-Chalmers strike in Wisconsin, the Internatonal Harvester company strikes in Illinois and Indiana, the Vultee Aircraft company and the Harvill Die Casting company tieups in California, and the New York City bus strike.

In addition, Matthews said that the Dies committee has records of 160 communists involved in the Bethlehem Steel company strike.

Among the ring leaders in the communist agitated strikes, according to Matthews, were the following:

Harold Christoffel, head of the CIO local which kept the Allis-Chalmers plant idle for more than two months, delaying vital armament orders. Witnesses have sworn before the Dies committee that Christoffel holds a communist party membership card, Matthews said.

Meyer Adelman, Christoffel's superior, who is chairman of the CIO's Industrial Union council of Milwaukee and is a member of the National Council of the American Peace Mobilization, which Matthews charged is a new communist front organization formed to defeat the national rearmament program.

Donald Henderson, an openly avowed member of the communist party who is general secretary of the American Peace Mobilization and heads a CIO union.

Kenneth Eggert in List.

Kenneth Eggert, who was secretary of the communist party chapter in Toledo, O., and was sent by the International Die Casters' union to organize the Harvill strike. Eggert, said Matthews, now is in Cleveland organizing for a general strike in the aluminum industry.

Windham Mortimer, who organized the Vultee strike. Virtually all members of the strike committee at that plant are tinged with communism, said Matthews.

Ralph Dawson, who helped Eggert organize the Harvill strike. He has a long communist and police record, Matthews told the committee.

Walter Reuther of the CIO United Automobile Workers' union reported planning a General Motors walkout. He is on the staff of Sidney Hillman at the Office of Production Management, of which Hilliman, a CIO vice president, is associate director general.

CIO HARVESTER UNION DEMANDS PAY RAISE; THREATEN NEW STRIKE

The Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing committee [CIO] made a demand yesterday on the International Harvester company for an immediate wage increase of 10 cents an hour at eight of its midwestern plants. New strikes are a possibility if demands are not acted upon soon, an FEWOC spokesman said.

The FEWOC sponsored the recent strikes at four of the plants which ended March 31 thru the intercession of the National Defense Mediation board.

Grant Oakes, national chairman of the FEWOC, presented the newest demand to the Harvester company to affect the McCormick, Tractor and West Pullman works in Chicago; units in Milwaukee, Wis.; Richmond, Ind., and in Rock Falls, Rock Island, and East Moline, all in Illinois. Oakes also wire Dr. Clarence Dykstra, chairman of the mediation board, urging an immediate 10 cent per hour boost and an additional increase in the board's final recommendations.

ALDERMEN TOLD ABOUT $5,000,000 BUS DEPOT PLAN

Greyhound Bus Lines officials explained their plans for a 5 million dollar loop terminal yesterday to the council subcommittee on streets and alleys, headed by Ald. William Murphy [17th]. The company officials were advised by Ald. Joseph Gillespie [29th] to submit their plans to Leslie J. Sorenson, city traffic engineer, to make certain that traffic arrangements will be successful.

Ald. William Cowhey [41st] commented that any company wishing to spend 5 million dollars on loop improvements should be encouraged.

KNOX CONCEDES U. S. MUST CURB ARMS STRIKES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 15.—The first admission by an administration spokesman that legislation is necessary to curb strikes against the nation's rearmament program came today from Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

Knox gave a qualified indorsement of the bill sponsored by Representative Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the house naval affairs committee, which provides for a 30 day cooling off period before strikes and eleminates jurisdictional disputes between unions.

Declaring he believed it would be desirable to "freeze" labor organizations as they now stand, Knox asserted: "Labor leaders must be made to feel a sense of stewardship. I am not arguing for incorporation of unions, but it is essential that the men responsible for leadership should be required to take out some kind of organization paper to put squarely on the shoulders of the men a financial responsibility they cannot ignore." He added that there should be an annual accounting for every penny collected by unions.

ARMY TRAINING TO FIGHT ABROAD, SAYS STIMSON

Planning 5 Years Ahead, Senators Told.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Henry L. Stimson. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Washington, D. C., April 15.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today told a senate committee created to investigate the 40 billion dollar armaments program that the United States is arming with unexampled speed, but that "to plan for war today a nation should commence its preparations at least three to five years in advance."

The secretary reminded the committee that Germany began to prepare for war seven years ago, while this country's preparedness program has been under way only about seven months.

Expeditionary Force Hinted.

Stimson refused to concede, however, that the army is not prepared to send an expeditionary force abroad. Questioned by Senator Joseph H. Ball [R., Minn.], he said he was not talking about an expeditionary force, but that "we wouldn't be helpless." Under further questioning he conceded that an expeditionary force at present could be equipped only with obsolete world war 75 mm. guns and 155 mm. howitzers and that none of the new medium tanks would be ready.

Stimson hinted at the possibility of another expeditionary force in his prepared statement, asserting that "our forces must be prepared for the possibilities of war in many and varied terrains, it being quite uncertain in what part of North or South America, or even possibly other regions, it ultimately may be necessary to use them in the defense of this country and its possessions."

Whitewash Expected.

Stimson was followed on the witness stand by Assistant Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, whose testimony was equally optimtistic. The first day's hearing in the long heralded senate investigation of the armaments program indicated that it will produce no results not wanted by the administration. This course was assured when Vice President Henry A. Wallace appointed the committee, consisting of Chairman Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], Tom Connally [D., Tex.], Carl Hatch [D., N. M.], James M. Mead [D., N. Y.], Mon C. Wallgren [D., Wash.], Ralph Brewster [R., Me.], and Senator Ball.

All seven members voted for the war dictatorship bill and the two minority members are freshman, interventionist Republicans.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

Following is the text of Mr. Stimson's statement:

"The success or failure of the performance of a task cannot be measured without careful consideration of the conditions under which it has to be performed. I have assumed that your committee realizes this and is willing that a general statement of our task should be presented to you before you enter into consideration of the details of its performance.

"I have therefore prepared such a statement giving you a general picture of what the war department has been called upon to do, the difficulties and obstacles which faced it, and the ways in which those difficulties have been overcome. Other witnesses will be ready to testify in detail to all of these matters. My purpose is to present the general picture.

I.

"The task of preparing our land forces for defense in the present emergency began in June, 1940 when the battle of Flanders and the fall of France first aroused our people to their danger. Congress had made some previous appropriations for airplanes and other equipment but the first of the immense emergency appropriations for raising and arming adequate defense forces was not made available until June, 1940. Between that date and October 8, 1940, congress appropriated nearly 7 billion dollars further for the army, over 4 billion of which was not appropriated until September, 9, 1940.

"The time and size of these appropriations are strong evidence of the unexpectedness and seriousness of the danger which was suddenly revealed to the nation.

II.

THE NOVELTY OF THE CONDITIONS.

"The danger was not only unexpected but it was novel in its character. During the great war the armies of Germany and the allies were deadlocked on the western front for over four years. In that war those armies found it practically impossible, without overwhelming losses, to break thru the barbed wire and the machine gun emplacements which both sides had erected. This situation lasted until finally Germany's strategic reserves were exhausted by attrition in the autumn of 1918. This had led to a belief in the invincible character of modern defensive warfare. The subsequent building of the Maginot line illustrated this belief.

"When therefore in May, 1940, a German army suddenly burst upon the world, able to penetrate field fortifications, and which had developed for that purpose a technique in the use of airplanes and tanks hitherto unexpected by any of its opponents, the United States found itself suddenly faced with a problem of defense and training which was fundamentally different from what it had faced in the first world war.

"In 1917 we armed in comparative leisure behind the protection of the stabilized front in France and the complete control over the sea possessed by the allied fleets.

"France and Britain being intact, we bought from them most of the heavy weapons with which we fought. This was true of substantially all of our field guns, tanks, and airplanes. True, we ourselves built these weapons, but generally speaking they were not ready for our use until after the war was over.

"We also were able to limit the training of troops which was done in America to the training of divisions only and even to send those divisions across the Atlantic in a very imperfect state of training to complete that training after they go to France. The warfare being in trenches, our troops could be put into the trenches side by side with the veteran troops of our allies and receive the remainder of their training in the face of the enemy.

"All of the organization and training of the corps and armies into which our forces were subsequently subdivided was done on the actual battle front in the presence of the enemy.

III.

THE PRESENT PROBLEM.

"Contrast with this the situation and the problems which have confronted us today.

"1. We are obliged to create here in America large forces which are fully trained to operate in a war of movement. The teams necessary for warfare must be complete and the men must be trained to the minute in all of the problems of team movements. This means the complete creation in America not only of divisions but of fully trained corps and armies with all of their specialized troops and weapons.

"2. These forces must be armed and trained for a new kind of mechanized warfare involving huge numbers of new and specialized weapons which are extremely complicated in character and slow to build, such as modern airplanes and tanks and the new forms of antitank and antiaircraft artillery.

"3. Every one of these weapons must be built in this country. No other nation has them for sale to us, but on the contrary many nations are trying to buy them from us.

"Thus, we have been faced with the task of training to full completeness forces armed with new and complex weapons; trained in new and complicated technique; and to do it all within the United States. Furthermore, our forces must be prepared for the possibilities of war in many and varied terrains, it being quite uncertain in what part of North or South or Central America, or even possibly other regions it ultimately may be necessary to use them in the defense of this country and its possessions.

"Finally, in view of the suddenness of the emergency and the critical condition of Great Britain revealed at the end of June, 1940, we have had to do this with the utmost speed.

IV.

SOME OF THE DOMESTIC OBSTACLES TO CREATING A LARGE AMERICAN ARMY.

"1. Uninformed critics often overlook the conditions which control the creation of a large army in a democracy like ours. In time of peace we have never kept an army in readiness for a great war. In this respect we have treated it quite differently from our navy which now is habitually kept up in comparative readiness for the emergent defense of the nation.

"In time of peace the army is allowed to shrink to a minimum number of men and no attempt is made to keep in stock an adequate supply of the constantly changing and developing new weapons necessary to equip an adequate force. The most that can be done by our officers is to try to keep abreast of the methods of war and to create plans for the future expansion of the army, and to develop and procure specimen types of weapons with which it can be armed.

"This, so far as it was possible, had been done before June, 1940. The general staff had worked out on paper the plans for the organization of a mobile force to be created within the continental United States ready for a war of movement. This force was to consist of four separate armies and nine army corps comprising both regulars and National Guard, and aggregating over a million men.

"But there actually were on the muster rolls on July 1, 1940, only about 250,000 regulars and about 225,000 Guardsmen. In order to reach the size of the forces contemplated for June 30 of this year, it was necessary to multiply these small existing forces nearly threefold.

"The supply officers had kept in touch with modern weapons and developed new types of their own, of which in some cases they had been allowed to build specimens. The general plan of structure was therefore in existence tho, of course, the revelations fron the battle of Flanders made certain modifications both in tactics and armament vitally necessary.

"2. Appropriations—Not a further step could be taken without both substantive legislation and appropriations. Estimates were prepared in June, placed before the congress, explained to congressional committees, debated on the floor, and finally enacted into law. As I have already pointed out, this final step only became accomplished in October, barely six months ago from the time I am now speaking. No contracts for munitions can be made until thus specifically authorized by the congress.

"3. The selective service act—The only method by which we could make sure of sufficient man power to create the large forces which would be needed was by a compulsory service statute. And never in our previous history had such a law been passed except in time of recognized war. In consequence, a prolonged popular discussion was necessary before the legislation could be enacted to create this vital pool of man power for our future forces. The bill was introduced on June 20, 1940. It was at first hoped in the war department that it might be passed speedily, early in August, but it was not actually enacted into law until Sept. 16, 1940.

"4. Again, one of our primary lines of defense is the National Guard, which is composed of civilian soldiery under the primary jurisdiction of the 48 states. In the light of the requirements of mechanized warfare as revealed in the battle of Flanders, it became obvious that the National Guard must receive at once a large amount of training beyond what it had ever received before. No adequate power existed in the federal government to order the Guard out in sufficient masses and for sufficient time to give this training. A joint resolution giving such authority was introduced in congress on July 30, 1940, but final action was not obtained until Aug. 27, 1940.

"5. Until these two statute, the selective service law and the joint resolution authorizing the ordering out of the Guard, were enacted by the congress, and until the appropriation bills mentioned above became law, the war department could not purchase a foot of ground or let a single contract for housing or arming the men who were to be called out under the authority of such legislation.

"By the time the authority was finally given, the summer was over and our planned construction was at the mercy of the uncertain weather of the approaching winter. That winter proved to be exceptionally unfavorable.

V.

CONSTRUCTION WORK BY THE QUARTERMASTER CORPS.

"The foregoing outline shows the unavoidable legislative difficulties which faced the quartermaster corps. That corps in the beginning had charge of constructing all the proposed troop housing as well as all new munition plants which might become necessary.

"Tentative plans had been made for this construction and tentative sites for much of its location had been chosen. But these plans, as well as the congressional estimates based upon them, had to be made in unavoidable ignorance of many factors which afterward were certain to arise. The only guides which the men who made them had before them were the per capita costs of the world war cantonments and of certain small camp units handled in 1939-'40.

"These were known to be insufficient and this fact was carefully pointed out to the appropriations committees of the two houses of congress by the chief of staff when the estimates were presented, and those committees were informed that further appropriations, in all probability, would be necessary.

"In the light of retrospect we can now visualize many causes which would necessarily make inadequate for the present emergency estimates based upon our former experience in the great war or elsewhere. For example, in 1917 training areas for team practice for a war of movement were not necessary; today we are obliged to provide for that purpose large maneuver grounds in the neighborhood of the cantonments. In 1917 there was practically no training in artillery firing at any of the divisional cantonments.

"Today it is necessary to provide long firing ranges for the various types of field guns and other long range weapons. Today the roads must be made much stronger in order to support the heavy tanks and truck equipment which is now used. These are merely examples of the difference in conditions which necessitate today large outlays in amounts difficult to forecast in detail.

"But perhaps the chief difference is this: In 1917 the cantonments were intended to house troops for a shorter period than those now being constructed. We then knew that our troops were going to France and that much of our training would be overseas. There was then strong evidence that the contending forces in the war were nearing exhaustion and that, whatever way the decision went, the end was probably not far away.

"Today not only are we facing a dangerous emergency, but there is strong evidence that this emergency may be very prolonged and that we may have to continue our effort for a long time. To meet all these contingencies we are now planning a program of training which will cover many successive military units and many successive instalments of men and which in the aggregate may last for five years.

"Therefore we are giving the men today more adequate and comfortable housing and better facilities for hospitalization, recreation, and education than existed in 1917. The quarters and barracks, the hospitals, the recreation rooms and guest houses are upon a more comfortable and higher scale. Even the utilities, in view of the expectation of a longer occupancy, have been built upon a broader basis.

"In addition to this there have been substantial increases in labor and material costs. Details as to all of this will be given by witnesses who follow.

"This whole subject of the increase in the estimates has been recently treated by the report of the committee on appropriations of the house of representatives, and the conclusions of that committee are worthy of the attention of this committee as indicating a wise and temperate summary of this situation. I refer you to them. See report 152, 77th congress, first session, fourth supplemental appropriation national defense bill, fiscal year 1941.

"What I wish now to emphasize and make clear is that the initial delays have already been substantially conquered and overcome; that these new and improved plans are resulting in the successful accomplishment of housing for our troops which will give them better care, better training, and better means of recreation and improvement than any American troops have ever received in the history of this country. Futhermore, this will have been done in shorter time than was the case in the great war 23 years ago.

"When the armistice was signed in 1918, more than 18 months after the United States had entered the war, construction work in the United States had not yet been finished. One hundred seventy-two unfinished projects of various sorts were discontinued with the armistice. Today, only a little more than six months after our appropriations were passed in September, 147 new housing projects are either entirely completed or are very closely nearing completion, with all the utilities and conveniences, recreation buildings, theaters, service clubs, chapels, athletic areas, hospitals, bakeries, laundries, cold storage plants, etc., necessary for the comfort of their occupants.

Forty-two of these projects are veritable cities, with populations running from a minimum of 10,000 to a maximum of over 60,000 inhabitants. Over 700,000 men are already in occupancy of their completed new quarters. The status of our construction is in such an advanced condition that we can confidently assure the country that all of the remaining men of our proposed military program will find their quarters awaiting them ready and completed for their occupation with all attendant facilities on the scheduled dates now set for their occupancy. I think I am speaking in measured language when I say that in no country in the world, including our own, have military forces ever before been provided for in so brief a time and upon so adequate a scale for ministering to their necessities and comforts.

VI.

"In considering this progress it must be remembered that the quartermaster corps of the army has been responsible for the planning and completion of a very large construction program other than that of troop housing. The cost of these additional construction projects amounts to about one-half billion dollars. They include manufacturing plants for the quartermaster, ordnance and other supply services; storage depots, 20 air fields, 9 general hospitals, and other construction work of miscellaneous character.

"The projects vary in size from a few hundred thousand dollars to 56 million dollars, which is the cost of the Indiana proving grounds and powder project. All of these projects like the housing projects are being prosecuted vigorously and are in a similar excellent state of progress.

VII.

CONSTRUCTION WORK BY THE ENGINEER CORPS.

"Prior to the pending emergency the law had required that all construction in the nature of cantonments for the housing of troops should be done by the quartermaster corps and accordingly last summer the plans for the housing of all the forces covered by our defense program were taken up by that corps. Subsequently the burden of carrying out this immense and unprecedented program became too heavy for the existing force of the quartermaster corps and, on the recommendation of the war department, congress wisely passed legislation permitting the division of this labor between that corps and the engineer corps.

"On or about Sept. 6, 1940, the construction of all of the cantonments, airdromes and other facilities required by the air corps, other than a few projects which were then in an advanced state of construction, and also the construction at the new Atlantic bases acquired from Great Britain were transferred to the corps of engineers.

"By this transfer the division of construction work as between the quartermaster corps and the engineer corps results in the quartermaster corps now conducting a program of something over 1 billion dollars' worth of construction and the corps of engineers conducting a program of approximately 700 million dollars of construction. The construction projects which have been allocated to the engineer corps have been actively and efficiently prosecuted and are generally meeting the requirements of their scheduled completion dates.

VIII.

THE PROCUREMENT OF ARMS: GENERAL FEATURES OF THE PROBLEM.

"The character of modern warfare has also had its effect on the procurement of arms. To plan for war today a nation should commence its preparations at least three to five years in advance. Some seven years ago Germany began to concentrate on its preparation for war. It evolved a new technique of diplomacy, a new form of propaganda, and finally new tactical methods based on new weapons. The thought and energies of the entire country were devoted to preparation for war.

"In spite of repeated warnings, the democracies preferred not to compete with that preparation. As a result, in 1939 Germany was ready to move toward its objectives, first without force and, then, at the first show of opposition to her plans, with terrific violence. Germany disclosed to the world a quantity and variety of modern weapons and, second, a method of employing them which have thus far achieved far reaching results.

"Last year the war department was faced with the necessity of acquiring in a short time munitions adequate to meet the munitions which Germany had spent seven years in producing.

"The weapons of modern war are marked by greatly increased mobility and fire power, and it is just these elements which complicate and delay their manufacture. Weapons suitable for modern warfare almost invariably have to be manufactured so as to move faster and fire faster than did their counterparts in the last war.

"In 1917 and 1918, with the country actually at war and with an army actively engaged in the field and with all the enthusiasm and devotion to the task which a nation at war could apply, it would have taken us about two and one-half years from the commencement of our effort before we could have fully munitioned our army. Consequently, as I have already pointed out, we were obliged to purchase from our allies nearly all of our heavy weapons. Today, assuming existing priorities are not altered, we shall, in spite of the greater complexity of modern weapons, do the job from eight months to one year faster than we were doing it then.

"The army and the war department made their initial and, perhaps, their chief contribution to the rearmament of this country in the prolonged studies and advance planning which took place long before there was any Office of Production Management to assist or any sufficient money available to put the studies and plans into effect. The capacity of the country to make munitions was studied in peacetime, potential manufacturers were spotted, prototypes were developed and built. That painstaking work has now been reflected in the speed and efficiency with which requests for appropriations were presented to congress and the orders placed once congress appropriated the necessary funds.

"What took many months to do in 1917 we did in 1940 in a small fraction of that time. That initial task has now been performed by the department and we are prepared to proceed with the maintenance and expansion programs that follow the first step. In addition, the department has recently been given the responsibility of instituting a vast new program to cover the needs of those other nations whose integrity we feel is vital to our defense. It will proceed with that program, I firmly believe, with even greater speed and efficiency than marked the programs which were instituted last summer and last fall.

"But while the army can place orders, it does not fill them. The army makes, in its own establishments, only a relatively small fraction of the arms and equipment which it uses. The actual production of by far the greater portion of our munitions is the responsibility of the private industries of the country which receive the orders. Thus far the department has imposed its military program on top of the normal commercial operations of the country and to date the government has done little to subordinate the civilian needs of the country to its military program.

"Possibly we can improve our rates of production if we cut into those needs. But the speed with which our rearmament program has gotten under way and the great improvements over our record in this respect in the last war is due, in the main, to the energy and efficiency of the officers and personnel of the general staff and of the supply arms and branches of the war department.

IX.

THE PROCUREMENT OF ORDNANCE.

"Comparison of the speed with which our procurement program was instituted in 1940 with similar efforts in 1917 is convenient only to measure our rate of progress with our accomplishments of 23 years ago but it may be of interest if only for that purpose. Let us consider first certain ordnance items.

"By the close of the last war we were able to supply our army in France from sources in this country with rifles, bayonets, cartridges, and some other light equipment. All heavier equipment with which our soldiers fought was supplied by the French and the British. Our army, as has been said, did its fighting with artillery purchased from France. We ordered over 10,000 75 mm. guns to be produced in this country but none was finished in 1917 and in 1918 we only succeeded in shipping 143 to France before the armistice was signed.

"In the last war, in spite of the American familiarity with tractor machinery and in spite of the fact that we ordered over 23,000 tanks to be produced in this country, not a single one of those tanks was finished in time for training purposes at home or for combat use overseas. Today our production of tanks is already well under way and in quantity production in spite of the fact that the present day tank is a far more complicated and intricate piece of mechanism than was the tank of the last war.

"We have many old type machine guns on hand from the last war. Our production of these weapons is one of which we can be proud but the demands for improved types of these weapons are great and exacting. With the need for heavier calibers and more intricate designs arising from aircraft, antiaircraft, tank, and antitank requirements, the problem of machine gun design and manufacture has become much more complicated and difficult.

"But here again the department was able to institute the program, select the types and the manufacturers, and place the orders practically as soon as the money was made available by congress.

"We have an entirely new line of artillery and mortars all involving new designs. These weapons have much greater mobility, range, and, in many cases, fire power than their world war counterparts. In all of these items we are far ahead of our 1917 schedules. Highly complicated antiaircraft guns—guns which are clock-like in their intricacy and which fire heavy caliber projectiles at phenomenal rates of speed have been developed and are now in production. In the world war only one gun especially designed for antiaircraft fire was completely finished in this country by the time of the armistice.

"Before 1940 the war department had anticipated the need for the new artillery types but it was not until September, 1940, that money was available in sufficient quantity to enable the ordance department to institute an adequate artillery program.

"The development of actual warfare culminating in the break-thru in Flanders necessitated some rapid modification of types but it is a tribute to the planning of the war department that the designs required so little change after the reports of the performance of the various weapons began to come in from our observers.

"In ordnance items the chief modifications which actual warfare induced were in the design of tanks. The new designs were promptly put in production, however, and as a result all of our equipment now in production is thoroly modern. One aspect of the ordnance program which is present as a retarding factor in 1940 and which was not present as a retarding factor in 1940 and which was not present in 1917 results from the competition which ordnance manufacturers must encounter with the aircraft suppliers for machine tools.

"With the metalization of airplanes and airplane parts and with the greatly increased emphasis on the importance of aircraft generally, it has been found that conflicting demands for machine tools have arisen and all ordnance items, except aircraft armament, have been sharply subordinated in their priority to aircraft needs as well as to the needs of the navy. But in spite of these delays, unless the priorities of ordnance items are further modified, the ordnance program should proceed in accordance with the above outlines, i. e., with quantity production averaging about one year to 14 months after placement of the order.

X.

THE PROCUREMENT OF AIRCRAFT.

"Altho the problem of aircraft procurement varies somewhat from that of ordnance by reason of the fact that the department is dependent entirely upon private industry for the manufacture [and to a substantial extent for the design] of aircraft, the aircraft procurement program has also been marked by the shortness of time within which large orders were placed after appropriations became available. Whereas in 1917, after war was declared, it was necessary to send a mission to Europe to find out what types of airplanes were required the air corps in 1940 had already made a study and knew what types it wanted. Immediately upon receiving the necessary funds for their procurement they were ordered, practically all within one month's time.

"Congress made available approximately 1½ billion dollars for the purchase of airplanes in September of 1940, as against the sum of 365 millions made available for the production of planes in this country in July of 1917. Roughly, the airplanes today cost five times more than they did in 1917 and, while some allowance must be made for increased labor and material costs, these figures give a fairly accurate measure of the greater complexity of the planes which we now have to produce as compared with those of 1917.

"In 1917 it was not until October—nearly seven months after war had been declared—that a single one of the famous old DH-4's was ordered and it was not until late in 1918 that the first planes were delivered in France. Those planes, by the way, altho a standard combat type in 1917, could not anywhere nearly equal the performance of our basic trainer plane today. Some further conception of the magnitude of the task involved in modern aircraft manufacture can also be given by the realization that one of our newer type four-engine bombers will cost initially to manufacture between $700,000 and $800,000. Even after full production has been attained each one of these planes will cost approximately $300,000.

"The exigencies of actual combat brought about, as always, necessary modifications in our designs, but these modifications were mainly in armor and armament. Planes in production at the time of the break-thru were promptly modified and some slowup of production, of course, resulted, but the planes ordered under the new appropriations embodied from the outset the new designs.

"A notable instance of the farsightedness of American design is the case of the heavy multiple-engine bomber. One type of these bombers was designed by us as early as 1934 and it has been in service for five years. To this day it is probably the finest heavy bomber in the air. At the high altitudes at which it can fly it can outdistance all but the very fastest pursuit ships, and its speed is so great that even the fastest modern fighters have difficulty in overtaking it.

"In aircraft procurement as in ordnance, altho we have greatly speeded up the work involved in placing orders with commercial plants, the general rule still remains true that it takes American manufacturers from one year to one and one-half years to reach quantity production.

XI.

OTHER SUPPLIES.

"I have made special reference thus far only to the procurement of ordnance and aircraft items. There are other supply services of the army which have performed great tasks promptly and thoroly. They are less spectacular and we do not hear much of them, partly because they do their job well and partly because their requirements, altho enormous in the aggregate, can be produced with relative rapidity.

"Without their services, however, there would be no one to man the guns and planes which take so much longer to produce. The quartermaster corps has many procurement responsibilities other than its construction program. It provides the food and clothing for the soldier and, generally speaking, it provides the motor vehicles and other means by which he is transported from place to place. No difficulties are contemplated in the prompt completion of the quartermaster equipment program.

"The engineer, signal and medical corps, and the chemical warfare service have also been responsible for the planning and procurement of large stores of material, practically all of which has been ordered and great quantities of which are already on hand.

XII.

SUMMARY.

"To summarize—the war department, due to changed conditions of warfare and to the unexpectedly successful tactics of an aggressor nation in Europe, was suddenly faced last June with a new and difficult problem. It involved the creation in this country of a large, highly mobile force, and it involved training, housing, and equipping it for modern combat. The war department had the full responsibility of meeting this problem. By the middle of this summer the army will be assembled, housed, and in the full course of its training.

"The initial phases of the war department's production responsibility have been completed and this summer the forces in training will be well on their way to being fully equipped. No soldier will lack the basic weapons sufficient to carry his training well ahead and his heavier equipment will be coming forward steadily and in substantial quantities. All of the work necessary to bring this about has been performed under the greatest pressure and at very high speed.

"From this point forward, the chief responsibility for the speedy completion of the equipment will rest upon American industry. The officials of the supply services and the war department will continue to supervise, coördinate, inspect, and supply technical information in connection with the manufacture of equipment but their contributions to date will have made it possible for commercial firms to advance the delivery of the equipment some 8 to 12 months ahead of our 1917-1918 experience.

"With the magnitude of the task and the speed and pressure under which it was performed, it is inevitable that some mistakes have been made; but, when the work of this committee is completed, I am confident that it will be found that the total of those mistakes will appear quite significant when set against the value of the time saved and the size of the task performed."

Attend Banquet Honoring Lord Halifax

Envoy Speaks

New York, April 15 (AP).—Viscount Halifax, the British ambassador, said tonight that axis successes in the Balkans and Africa had caused "grave repercussions" but had thwarted Hitler's hopes for further diplomatic conquest and prevented the concentration of striking power against Great Britain itself—"in the only theater which could be decisive."

As a result, he said in a speech before the English Speaking union, Hitler can be expected "to make every effort, by ruthless attacks on shipping and indiscriminate night bombing, to smash the center of resistance."

Halifax cited a recent survey of the shipping situation by Prime Minister Winston Churchill which he said "made no attempt to minimize its gravity but gave good ground for thinking that the battle of the Atlantic is a battle we can certainly win, provided our joint resources are, to the full limits of our respective possibilities, brought to bear."

HOPKINS IS NAMED SUPERARMS LENDER TO WARRING NATIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harry Hopkins.

Washington, D. C., April 15.—President Roosevelt today named Harry L. Hopkins, No. 1 White House intimate, the supervisor of his program to extend every aid to nations fighting the Rome-Berlin-Tokio axis.

At the same time Mr. Roosevelt promised material assistance to China under the lend-lease program.

Hopkins' new assignment was announced by the White House in an exchange of letters between the President and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., who suggested the treasury liaison committee which has been coördinating foreign and domestic military purchases be dissolved.

Hopkins will take over the work of this committee as far as operation of the lease-lend act is concerned. The state department will handle the munitions orders of nations not at war with the totalitarian states.

SPIRITED RACES BRING OUT HEAVY VOTE IN VILLAGES

Cook and Nearby County Towns Pick Officers.

Bright skies and spirited campaigns brought a large turnout of voters yesterday for the election of local officials in 86 villages and towns in Cook county and in municipalities in neighboring counties.

One of the bitterest fights was in Calumet City, where John W. Jaranowski, a former mayor, was returned to office on the People's party ticket. He polled 2,071 votes, defeating the incumbent, William F. Zick, who received 1,319 votes on the Good Government ticket, and Fred C. Drake, who polled 1,619 on the Citizens' Taxpayers' slate.

Jaranowski, who was mayor from 1925 to 1935, once was a county commissioner. During the campaign Drake attacked Zick for not restricting the number of taverns in Calumet City.

Skokie President Reëlected.

In Skokie [formerly Niles Center] George Blameuser was reëlected for his third term as president, polling 2,118 votes on the People's Harmony ticket against 1,614 for Joseph F. Urbanis on the Caucus slate. During the campaign Blameuser was assailed for spending $250,000 of special assessment funds for current pay rolls. Blameuser's defense was that this kept down the tax rate.

Earle K. Broberg, candidate of the United party, was elected president of Maywood over Curt O. Krausser, the incumbent, running as an independent, and Robert E. Corrigan, heading the Citizens' Welfare ticket.

Harry C. Kinne was reëlected village president of Wilmette. He polled 2,321 votes to 1,673 by Henry J. Brandt of the Wilmette Unity party.

Flossmoor Bond Issue Loses.

In Flossmoor a proposition for a $20,000 bond issue to finance construction of a municipal building was defeated, 217 to 76.

The Voters' Choice party in Dixmoor elected its slate, headed by Gustave A. Huber as president. Charles Special, former president of the village, is serving a county jail sentence for operating a speed trap in Dixmoor.

In Waukegan, Lake county, Mancel Talcott, Republican, mayor since 1935, was defeated for reëlection by Frank G. Wallin, Democrat. Talcott received 4,890 votes against Wallin's 7,770.

Deerfield in Lake county voted down, 533 to 514, the sale of liquor across the bar. This vote, the first on local option in a Lake county municipality since repeal, is expected to put the village's three taverns out of business.

In Woodstock, McHenry county, Raymond Johnson, on the Progressive ticket, was elected mayor, defeating the incumbent, William Burns, on the People's party ticket. Johnson polled 2,234 votes to 1,117 for Burns.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE BAD BREATH

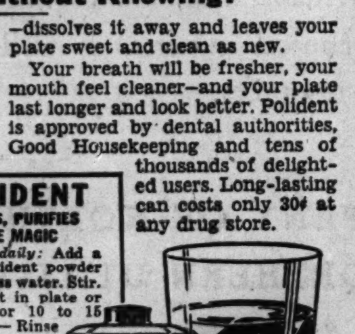
Millions Suffer Without Knowing!

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others may! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing often can't get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities, Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of delighted users. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store.

POLIDENT CLEANS, PURIFIES LIKE MAGIC
Do this daily: Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes — Rinse —and it's ready to use!



Prevents "Denture Breath"

DULL·TIRED NERVOUS·DIZZY INVOLUNTARY NAPS

Are You Troubled with Gas? GARLIC, regularly used, is an effective aid in relieving High Blood Pressure symptoms. D. GOSEWISCH's concentrated Garlic tablets are "Garlic Made Sociable" No odor on the breath. Absolutely Whiffless, pleasant, chewable like candy. 2 weeks' supply, 50c; 5 weeks', $1.

"You think of everything!"

"Well, here we are—comfortably settled in our nice new quarters—with everything under control!

"I'm so glad you notified the telephone company early—so we'd have service the day we moved in!"

• The first day of May is Moving Day for us too—and on a grand scale! Last year at this time, your telephone company "moved" many thousand telephones for subscribers who were changing home or business locations. This year, the number of moves probably will be even larger.

Your telephone company makes every effort to give you uninterrupted telephone service at all times. During moving week, extra people are assigned to the work—both to handle the actual "Disconnects" and "Installs," and also to do the no less important clerical work required to keep names, numbers and new addresses correct for up-to-the-minute service.

It is our earnest hope that no one will be without a telephone on Moving Day one minute longer than necessary! To this end, please notify us at the earliest moment when you plan to move.

J. W. BREEN PACKS UP AND LEAVES HIS JOB AS BARRETT'S ASSISTANT

James W. Breen.

James W. Breen, veteran politician and attorney, yesterday packed his portfolio, cleaned out his desk, and walked out of his job as assistant in charge of Attorney General George F. Barrett's Chicago office. Breen was appointed Feb. 3 and thus held the post only two months and 12 days. Recently he had been in charge of prosecuting handbook operators thruout the state.

"I'm leaving to take care of my own business," was Breen's explanation for his resignation. "I found I could make more money in private practice."

Attorney General Barrett in a prepared statement said he had accepted Breen's resignation "effective immediately."

"We are still friends and there has been no disagreement of any kind between us," said Breen.

Barrett said E. J. Peterson, who has been head of the sales tax division office, will succeed Breen as acting assistant in charge of the Chicago office.

Chicago Slaying Suspect Arrested in California

Chicago police were notified yesterday that police of Long Beach, Cal., are holding Adam Koufargiris, 51 years old, who is wanted for questioning in connection with the murder of Gust Maarolis, 48, after a tavern fight in May, 1939. Chief J. H. McClelland of the Long Beach police said Koufargiris had waived extradition and admitted killing Maarolis and wounding another man, Mike Paulakis, after Maarolis attacked him during a quarrel.

HORNER'S LAW BOOKS GIVEN TO BAR ASSOCIATION

The late Gov. Henry Horner's personal collection of law books has been placed in the library of the Chicago Bar association, 29 South La Salle street, as a memorial to him, it was announced yesterday. When Horner became governor in 1932, after his long service as Cook county Probate judge, he presented the books to Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel.

PREPARED...

● With the national defense program rolling into high gear, power facilities for Chicago and northern Illinois are prepared for the emergency. In 1940, additions to our generating capacity were completed. Others are under construction . . . still further additions are planned. Our three-year program now under way will cost approximately $120,000,000.

But the requirements of national defense depend on much more than machines and money. The human factor is important, too. Habits of teamwork developed by the entire organization assure a continuation of the dependable service which these companies have provided through the years.

Deeply aware of our responsibilities, we welcome the opportunity to serve in the nation's defense, and to make available to industry the services of our technical experts, as well as our expanding power resources.

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcer Pains

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcer pains caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from the druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little and sold under an absolute guarantee that it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Walgreen, Stineway, Service, Fay and drug stores everywhere.

VAGRANT STORM IS BLAMED FOR AIR LINER CRASH

Warning Radio Message Garbled by Static.

Miami, Fla., April 15 [Special].—A small, unreported, and unpredicated thunderstorm forced down the Eastern Air Lines plane that was wrecked in landing in the swamp near Vero Beach, Fla., last April 3, investigators for the company and the civil aeronautics authority agreed today.

The storm, small in area but with terrific destructive force, was encountered by two Eastern Air Lines planes. One escaped from the area and landed safely at West Palm Beach airport. The wrecked plane, however, had an aileron failure when in the storm center. It then was "put on the ground in the first likely spot," according to the pilot.

Static Prevents Warning.

The first ship left West Palm Beach half an hour ahead of the plane that was downed. Charles L. Meyers, pilot of this first plane, said his plane was tossed around for minutes before he was able to get underneath the storm at 500 feet near Avon Park.

Meyers tried to radio to hold the second plane which was flown by Capt. Gerald O'Brien. Static garbled the message.

O'Brien's ship also was flying on instruments in a cloud when it struck the thunderstorm. The ship rose from 3,000 to 9,000 feet on one swoop. Then dropped 2,500 feet in another. When the aileron failed O'Brien landed in the swamp, he said.

Definite Proof Lacking.

In Atlanta, Ga., today Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, president of the air line, in commening on the company's accident near there on Feb. 27, predicted that the cause of the crash never would be proved. He said, however, the accepted explanation is that the pilots misunderstood barometric pressure readings given from the ground and set their altimeters to read from 800 to 900 feet higher than actually they were.

The cockpit was so completely smashed, said Rickenbacker, that evidence of the instruments could not be accepted as definite proof of anything. Rickenbacker revealed the probable explanation for the accident for the first time from his hospital bed there last night. He was one of eight injured in the crash which killed eight.

Circus in Chicago

Unloading elephant in Pennsylvania yards for Greater Olympia circus, which opens in Stadium Friday night.

The Greater Olympia circus will begin rehearsals at the Chicago Stadium today, in preparation for the formal opening of its third annual show on Friday night.

With the exception of the bounding rope trick by La Tosca Canestrelli, the circus cast is entirely different from that of last year. The big emphasis in the 1941 show is on the wild animal acts prepared by Terrell Jacobs and his wife, Dolly.

Twenty-four girls will present an aerial ballet on the trapeze system. The stars will be Joan Spalding, Flo Mayo, Ethel Marine, and the three Erwingos.

PLANNING BOARD APPROVES IDEA OF TOLL ROADS

The Chicago Plan commission advised the city council yesterday that it approves the principle of toll superhighways for Chicagoland. The commission approved legislation which would create a special governmental authority to construct and operate such highways. A copy of the recommendation will be sent to the state legislature, where a bill favoring toll highways is pending.

Blaze Destroys Barracks of Sixty Illinois Soldiers

Camp Forrest, Tenn., April 15 (AP).—Sixty Monmouth, Ill., soldiers, members of the service battery, second battalion, 123d field artillery, were burned out of their barracks last night by fire that virtually razed the two story wooden structure.

ORGANIZE FIGHT ON NEW FEDERAL SCHOOL AID BILL

Gen. Fries Says It Has Same Old Evils.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Opposition to a new attempt to federalize public schools of the country thru federal aid grants was organized yesterday by Friends of the Public Schools at a meeting at the Morrison hotel. The new bill is sponsored by Senator Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah].

Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, U. S. A., retired, of Washington, D. C., described the bill at yesterday's meeting. He said the measure contains all the objectionable features of previous federal aid to schools' bills, but that it stresses needs of children of workers in new munitions centers and migratory workers' families.

Asks $300,000,000 a Year.

"The bill asks for $300,000,000 a year," said Gen. Fries. "This is more than has been asked in any previous federal education bill and presumably is increased because we are appropriating billions for defense and it is thought that 300 million may get thru by riding the defense band wagon.

"But the amount of the appropriation is unimportant. The general wording as to state boards of education and the adopting of a plan by legislatures are the same as in the other bills. The United States commissioner of education has the right to withhold funds if reports from the state are not made promptly and in the form desired."

Special Needs Recognized.

Gen. Fries admitted that in a few places there might be need for temporary aid in new armament centers and that congress might be requested for appropriations for such new towns. He added, however, that congress should keep control of such appropriations even more closely than it does of flood control, power development, and rivers and harbors grants.

"Money should be appropriated for specific school needs in specific localities," he said. "Then no commissioner of education could get control of all education, which is a centralization of power to be avoided at all hazards," said Gen. Fries.

BIDS ON 3 PAVING JOBS ARE OPENED BY COUNTY BOARD

The county board opened bids yesterday for three highway paving projects with total cost of more than $300,000. The projects, apparent low bidders, and the bids follow:

Winnetka avenue from Briar street to Bortling lane and Tower road from Locust street to Tower Manor drive, New Trier township, R. R. Anderson company, $58,855; 106th street from Torrence avenue to Ewing avenue, Chatham Paving company, $131,934, and 87th street between Western and Eggleston avenues, Chatham Paving company, $131,934.

The bids were referred to the roads and bridges committee for consideration next week.

NEED CLEVER PEOPLE BE CONSTIPATED?

● Man, the clever one, is the only animal that manufactures his food—refines it, cooks it, preserves it and even invents it.

Perhaps that is why modern man is so frequent a sufferer from constipation due to insufficient bulk in his meals.

● SARÁKA is an intelligent, modern aid in relieving this common difficulty.

SARÁKA is something you take after meals to form "bulk"—gentle bulk—that gives the intestinal muscles work to do—work that's good for them and therefore good for you.

● SARÁKA IS DIFFERENT. The intestinal bulk it forms is soft, not rough; smooth, not harsh; jelly-like, not oily. There is nothing else exactly like SARÁKA. In addition to bulk it contains a gentle vegetable aid to elimination. It supplies "softage," not roughage—softage with a plus*—for dual action.

Don't expect to relieve constipation overnight. Take SARÁKA† faithfully for a few days—and begin to re-educate your intestinal muscles for more healthful regularity.

● ABSOLUTELY FREE

Now, for a limited time only, you can enjoy the benefits of SARÁKA at our expense. Just send us a penny postcard or letter requesting a generous trial tin of SARÁKA • Write for your free package and interesting booklet today • SARÁKA, Dept. 127, Bloomfield, N. J.

THE DRIVE ON SUEZ.

Much more important than the campaign in Greece is the German drive toward the Suez canal. Nothing that happens in Greece is likely to prove decisive no matter who wins. That is not to say that the campaign in Greece is unimportant, but only that it is a side show, of limited strategic value to either of the principals. The strategic value of the Suez canal can hardly be exaggerated.

It is only a few weeks since Mr. Churchill in parliament hailed the imperial victories in North Africa as removing all likelihood of closing the Suez route. Meanwhile the Germans with Italian help have recaptured all the territory the Italians had lost and today are back at the point from which the retreat started. The Germans are in possession of air fields from which shipping in the canal can be menaced and the British at this writing have been unable to stem the advance of the German armored columns. The double reversal of fortune in so short a period can have had few parallels in military history. Something like it happened when the Russians drove to the gates of Warsaw in 1920 only to be driven back to the Ukraine, but to make the parallel complete the Russians only a few weeks later should have been back at Warsaw.

The British might continue to resist in their island fortress even if Egypt fell to the invader and the canal were closed to British ships, but the blow to imperial organization and communications would be a severe one. The position at Singapore would become far more critical than it is. The movement of men and supplies from the far east would be rendered immensely more difficult and costly.

It is difficult to understand what has happened in North Africa, for there is no reliable index to the strength of either of the opposing armies. The Germans moved a considerable armored force into Libya, presumably at the time when the British fleet had been drawn into the eastern Mediterranean to meet the Italian cruisers, but the Germans must have used up a huge store of supplies in their rapid advance and it is not easy to see where it all came from. Perhaps some of this material has been flown to Africa from Sicily, a distance of only a few hundred miles, but the quantities involved were in all probability too large to permit this explanation to suffice. Perhaps British naval strength in the Mediterranean is so largely concentrated at the two ends that the narrows in the middle are almost unguarded. Perhaps the German transports outfoxed the British by heading not for Italian ports in Africa but for French Tunisia and were then allowed to proceed within the protection of the three mile limit. Perhaps the Germans have been supplied by the French in North Africa.

Any or all of these explanations may provide the answer. It is possible, too, that the explanation may be the simple one that the Germans are so superior in armored equipment or tank tactics or both that even a light German force cannot be stopped.

The British are still far from losing the canal, for the Germans and their Italian allies must still cross almost the whole width of Egypt to reach their objective. British reinforcements can be brought up from the south, where the war is about over. The German advance, remarkable as it has been, must have taken a considerable toll of men and machinery. The line of communications of the attackers grows longer with each victory. In sending much of the army of the Nile to Greece the British staff may have made the capital error of sacrificing a position of immense value for the doubtful advantage of a Balkan campaign, but as to that it is still too early to pass judgment.

VITAMINED BASEBALL.

There was an unfortunate omission from the recent editorial bearing this title. As every one ought to know, and we do, pork, beef, and liver are chock full of vitamin B. And we said so in the original draft of the piece, but because of some slip-up in editing, copyreading, typesetting or proofreading we didn't say so in the piece as it was printed. Any one who became a vegetarian on our account should change his habits accordingly.

LAW AND ORDER IN MICHIGAN.

News reports of the CIO strike against the Ford plant near Detroit raise a serious doubt whether machinery for maintenance of law and order still exists in Michigan, at least in cases where the law is defied by labor rioters.

Police took into custody more than 200 pickets armed with baseball bats and bludgeons, but placed charges against none of them. The police took away the weapons, a loss easily remedied, and let the prisoners go.

CIO goons assaulted two witnesses on the steps of the federal courthouse in downtown Detroit. The two witnesses testified later that the police took the names of the goons but failed to arrest them.

Violence in a labor dispute breaks the same laws that are broken by violence under any other circumstances. There is no law and no court decision excusing or exempting it.

We have had occasion before to deplore the action of authorities in dismissing criminal charges growing out of strike violence, following the settlement of a strike. The complainant in a criminal case is not the employer or the employé who was assaulted. It is the people of the state in which the crime took place, and their interest in the matter cannot be bartered away in any private settlement.

The dismissal of charges in such circumstances is the best method possible of assuring prospective rioters that they may indulge in violence in the future without fear of punishment. In Michigan the authorities seem to have avoided the odium of dismissing charges by incurring the greater odium of failing to place them in the first place.

INVITATION TO MUTINY.

Mr. William Fulton of this newspaper's staff is the most recent of a long line of witnesses who have testified to the lack of discipline in the American merchant marine. Mr. Fulton went to Havana on the maiden voyage of the President Hayes and returned on the Monterey. On both ships he found the crews more or less sullen, incompetent, and insubordinate. The details have been set forth in recent dispatches and need not be repeated here.

Ships' officers, said Mr. Fulton, lay their troubles at the door of the CIO National Maritime union. The NMU, he added, followed the Moscow party line with utmost fidelity both before and after the signing of the Hitler-Stalin pact. If Mr. Roosevelt ever has any considerable quantity of military supplies to send up the Red sea in American ships the probability is that he will have the utmost trouble in delivering the goods. As long as Stalin is Hitler's ally, the record strongly suggests that strikes, sabotage, and even mutiny may be expected in the American merchant marine if it is employed to send supplies to Britain or Greece.

The communists worked their way into positions of influence in the maritime unions with the encouragement of the New Deal. Madam Perkins took the position that mutiny was only animal exuberance and should not be too severely punished. The unions were allowed to blockade American ports on this continent and in Hawaii for weeks on end. There is much evidence to show that the communist influence is particularly strong in the union of radio operators aboard ship. The meaning of that fact ought to be obvious. If our ships are to be engaged in ferrying military supplies to Egypt, as is now contemplated, there is the gravest danger that disaster will overtake them.

Rear Admiral S. C. Hooper, speaking for the navy department, told a congressional committee toward the end of February that congress had better look into the subversive activities of the American merchant marine. He was particularly disturbed about radio operators. These men, he said, "can shift their apparatus to frequencies which other operators won't hear and communicate with the enemy. They can divulge the position of the ship or a convoy. They can divulge the position of the fleet. It might prove the difference between victory and defeat in war."

It will not be easy to root out the communists from the various seamen's unions. The New Deal has protected them with legislation and more especially with administrative measures. Only now, after the damage has been done, is any serious effort being made to deport Harry Bridges, the west coast leader of the CIO and the maritime trades.

From Mr. Fulton, Admiral Hooper and many others in a position to know the facts, the nation has learned that its merchant crews are unreliable. If this country is to serve as the arsenal for Hitler's enemies, as Mr. Roosevelt has described our rôle, it will probably be necessary to use naval personnel on merchant ships. That will place a heavy drain on the navy's man power and may greatly reduce the efficiency of the fighting fleet. A prudent administration in Washington would never have allowed so heavy a price to be exacted, but this administration is not prudent.

For political advantage, the New Dealers raised subversive, violent men to positions of power in ocean shipping and in the heavy industries. Now the New Dealers are rushing toward a war in which precisely these industries must be depended upon if we are to avoid disaster and humiliation. There is no comfort to be found in the fact that the New Deal screwballs asked for it. They did; but few of them are going to be drowned or mangled. That will be the fate of the young men.

Editorial of the Day

LIKE A NIGHT ALARM.

[Texas Digest.]

One of the most discouraging [not to say alarming] incidents of its kind to come to our notice in a long time is the action of the directors of the Brazos River Reclamation and Conservation district in approving a contract under which the electric power to be generated at Possum Kingdom dam will be sold to a coöperative agency, financed by the federal government, and rejecting a much more favorable contract proposed by a private power company.

The agency, known as the Brazos River Transmission Electric Coöperative, Inc., undertakes to pay the district $203,000 a year for the power generated at the dam. The Texas Electric Service company of Fort Worth proposed to pay the district $306,000 a year for this power, or 50 per cent more. Also the private company proposed to serve rural electric coöperatives at cheaper rates and would have been able to serve at least twice as many such coöperatives as will be served under the approved contract. Besides this, it will be necessary for the coöperative agency to spend in excess of 2 million dollars in building transmission lines, most of which will duplicate existing private lines, and this money will be borrowed from the federal government.

That the directors of the district should have rejected these advantages and approved the unfavorable contract with the coöperative agency would be surprising enough. But the discouraging thing about the whole business is that apparently they acted under coercive pressure from Washington. The correspondent of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, in reporting the meeting at which the two proposed contracts were considered, said:

"The directors apparently were more deeply impressed by repeated warnings voiced by Congressman Robert Poage of Waco that failure to approve the contract with the transmission coöperative would result in the district being 'disowned' by the federal government and shut off from future aid in the construction of other dams contemplated for flood control purposes. Poage's warnings were issued so repeatedly at the morning session of the board, which was open to the press and the public, that they took on some of the aspects of a threat."

It is this aspect of the matter that is alarming. It reveals a situation that, to say the least, is deplorable. Federal financing of Brazos river projects, or of any other projects, should be based on merit in every case and on the public interest. It should not depend upon the arbitrary will of Washington bureaucrats, and local administrators of such projects should not be compelled to obey orders from Washington against their better judgment. The exercise of such coercion, even in the slightest degree, should be regarded as a danger signal, like an alarm in the night, especially at a time when a last ditch fight is being made in the world for the preservation of free institutions.

An understandable impatience has been noticed in history. As it repeats itself, it grows louder.—Atlanta Constitution.

HOW TO WRITE PROPAGANDA.

William Shakespeare, whose works are largely used in the United States to puzzle school children, was a practically unknown figure in London about 350 years ago, when there was an active interest in the drama among sinister characters of the upper and lower classes. Actors were regarded as rogues and vagabonds then, and some of them were even female impersonators; but Shakespeare, who began his career in this questionable guild, soon rose to a higher position by stealing plots from every literary source available to a man of his limited education.

In his youth he was arrested for poaching upon a nobleman's deer preserve, but there is no record of the sentence which this crime so richly deserved. Shortly thereafter he married a farmer's daughter named Anne Hathaway, and the evidence that this was a shotgun ceremony is convincing, for his first child was born a few months later.

We next hear of him as a ragamuffin, holding horses in front of London theaters. No doubt he curried the actors as well as the horses, for he soon joined a company of mummers and progressed thru the grades of inferior player, stage manager, and rewriter of old manuscripts to a co-partnership. It is believed that the works attributed to him were written by other men who were ashamed to confess their authorship.

He did not waste his earnings in extravagant living like his free-handed associates, and instead of keeping his money in circulation he invested it in real estate, theater shares, and other capitalistic enterprises. The usurer Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice" no doubt represents his real character. He retired in middle age, an economic royalist, and returned to Stratford, his native village, with a coat of arms secured by bribing the college of heralds. His profligate London cronies visited him frequently, and he died after a drinking bout, bequeathing his widow only a second-hand bed.

THE ROAD TO VAUX, 1941.

We had not thought again to know
Our columns in review,
And eyes are dim that see them go
Along the avenue;
And still as prayer the watching throng
Salutes each passing row,
Remembering the other youths
Who took the road to Vaux.

The bugles blow as bugles will,
The drums still stir our blood,
As boys we know and boys we love
Entrain for camp and mud;
But all the cheers of other years
Are strangely muted now,
We turn aside with anxious hearts
We cannot disavow.

For those who marched from Valley Forge,
Who crossed the Wilderness,
Or forced the hell of San Mihiel
Had little need to guess
Where they should find the flaming fields
Where death and glory grow,
But who of us dare point the way
To our great road to Vaux?

The road to Vaux has many forks
On land, and sea, and air,
And all the world is battleground,
The tyrant's thorofare.
But youth, and fire, and courage wait
To turn the sullen tide,
And Yankee sons still hold their ground
In undefeated pride.

The guns are still upon our hills,
God grant they never roar;
And may mankind turn back to peace
Before they leave our shore.
New men, new hopes, old flags, old faith
Still wait to meet the foe,
But may we never need to tread
The bloody road to Vaux.

SAVING A DAMAGED LIVER WITH SUGAR AND INSULIN.

ATTENTION has been called repeatedly to the vital importance of keeping the liver in good health. If we abuse the organ—particularly with large and sustained doses of intoxicating beverages—there may come a time when it will rebel. In such circumstances the development of alcoholic cirrhosis may follow. The tissues may become more firm and gradually lose the power to function.

If the condition is observed early and the offender removed, recovery may take place with no permanent damage. On the other hand, should the malady progress, sooner or later the structure will be unable to take care of the food which is poured into it. Then it is that fluid will collect within the abdomen in such huge amounts that the diaphragm will be pushed upward, making breathing almost impossible. Furthermore, the return of used up blood from the extremities is seriously hampered.

Strangely enough, the ordinary remedies used to banish excess liquids from the body will be useless. In consequence, the procedure known as "tapping" is employed. This must be performed periodically as the water gathers with each passing day. After the operation, in order to avoid collapse, it may be necessary to replace protein and salt—as large volumes of both materials are drained away.

Now the liver, like the kidneys, can work if 20 to 25 per cent of its normal substance remains unharmed. Moreover, recent investigation points to the fact that many of the cells which have been injured—seemingly beyond repair—can be rehabilitated with proper care. If whisky is the cause, stopping its consumption and supplying essential elements in the meals may bring about spectacular improvement.

The present plan of management is to replace water loss by allowing the patient to satisfy his thirst. We can give common salt directly into a vein and we can increase the proteins [meats] in the diet gradually.

But what can be done for the gland itself? Of course, sugar [glucose] is helpful, but this is not the only substance that will be required. Liver extract, when injected into the muscles, will afford a high degree of protection. Next we may recall that most dipsomaniacs have substituted drinking for eating and there is scarcely one who receives an adequate ration of vitamin B. Brewer's yeast, therefore, should be fed in generous quantities.

When glucose—which is effective in beginning inflammatory states—is prescribed, the solution may be administered to the point where it overflows into the urine. But this preparation alone will not relieve outstanding chronic cases. When combined with the hormone from the pancreas [insulin], however, it apparently spares the liver and aids it to store glycogen [the so-called liver starch].

In a recent report of J. A. Schindler, a 35 year old alcoholic failed to respond to the sugar treatment until insulin was added. Sixty units were needed to prevent the appearance of urinary sugar, and the change for the better was striking. The fluid within the abdomen gradually lessened and, within two weeks, disappeared completely. Appetite and strength were enhanced and, as long as this regimen was maintained, the sufferer was comfortable.

Attempts to omit the insulin, however, were followed by a return of symptoms. At the end of six months the patient could do light work and enough restoration of hepatic function had occurred so that the hormone was discontinued. Within a year he was entirely well.

Schindler emphasizes, however, that alcohol must be strictly prohibited, otherwise the continued presence of the toxin responsible will neutralize all gains.

NOT SO LONG.

J. P. writes: I had my appendix removed recently and my friends tell me it will take a year to recover from the operation. Is this true?

REPLY.

If no complications developed, the convalescent period need not exceed two weeks after you leave the hospital.

SPINAL FLUID.

T. Y. writes: What is spinal fluid?

REPLY.

The ventricles [sizable hollows within the brain] and the space between the spinal cord and its covering membrane contain this fluid. In a sense, we may think of the cord as floating in a thin column of liquid.

DOESN'T LIKE AMERICAN SHIPS.

Chicago, April 12.—Your article on the disgraceful conduct of the crew of the United States Lines prompts me to congratulate you for bringing to light the sad state of affairs of our merchant marine.

As one who has traveled widely on many ships of all nations, I can honestly say that the crews on the United States Lines ships, especially the S. S. America, are the most ill-mannered, insolent, and lazy group of men one could find. The lack of discipline, ignorance of seamanship, and even drunkenness make travel on any of these ships a real danger to the passengers' safety. This applies equally to seamen and stewards. The ships' officers have no authority because of the communistic control of the seaman's union by the CIO.

If the future of the United States rests in world trade it is futile to expect any results from our merchant marine.

NO SILVER STAR FOR HER.

Minier, Ill., April 7.—What is all this prattle about silver service stars for grief-stricken parents whose boys are now in camp? Not one of these parents would object to the year's training in camp if they did not fear that these boys might be called upon to fight Europe's war again. We must build a home defense no foreign power will dare cross oceans to attack. Then we need fear no one.

If only those who feel we owe dear old England the lives of our youth would do the fighting themselves, propaganda would take a toboggan ride. We want to help England, but we owe her no human sacrifice, and let's not be afraid to say so. These interventionists are more hysteric than patriotic.

If our boys are again led to the slaughter on foreign soil no silver button could possibly "assuage the grief of parents" and no silver button could possibly "fill them with pardonable pride," nor would they care "to be singled out everywhere in a most honorable manner."

No 20 mule team could possibly draw us into a parade if our sons are forced to die in a muddy ditch in no man's land again.

Mother of Four Boys.

GREEN AND BROOKS.

Chicago, April 13.—The straightforward actions of Gov. Dwight H. Green in carrying out his campaign pledges, and likewise the very able and consistent manner in which Senator C. Wayland Brooks has fought for the principles he advocated in his compaign are very gratifying to their friends and supporters in the state of Illinois.

By their example these two men have given us greater confidence in our representative form of government. They have taken their pledges to the people seriously, not just as "so much campaign talk."

Geo. E. Tobey.

CRANKS?

Aurora, Ill., April 12.—A few days ago I read an article which told how many letters President Roosevelt received in a day. The writer said all letters were answered except a few that were written by cranks. I know several persons including myself who have written to the President in protest against war, and none of us have received an answer. Can it be that any one who is against war is a crank?

Ruffled.

CAN WE SAVE OURSELVES?

Chicago, April 13.—It looks like the wreckers down in Washington finally have achieved success in breaking into Henry Ford's organization. They played most foully for it, with thugs and hoodlums, with lengths of gas pipe and baseball bats, with threats and intimidation, but they put it over. Not one of the CIO troublemakers, not the Michigan governor, not one of the crew in Washington, not all of them put together, would be capable, even in a thousand years, of creating as much useful real work as Mr. Ford has done.

The little men in Washington prate of saving countries thousands of miles away in order to save our American way of life. They know that what we knew as that way of life—the incentive to work and succeed, and the protection of property rights—already has largely been done away with. We will have to hurry if we want to save even a part of it. What is left very probably may be lost even before we save England, China, Greece, and all the others [if we save them], or while we are embarked on the rescue trip.

One cannot escape the thought that this is a deliberate policy. Little by little, but day by day, steadily, surely, and relentlessly, the government is taking us over. While they busy people's minds with foreign wars they are doing their utmost to destroy that American way about which they mouth so much.

We are being hypnotized and Hitlerized. The question is not whether we can save the world but whether we can save ourselves.

"HARBOR LIGHT."

Rochester, Minn., April 13.—"The Harbor Light" cartoon in today's Tribune was a masterpiece and by it Cartoonist Orr touched many heartstrings. The cross of Christ and its message is the only hope for the war torn world. It was indeed appropriate that such a masterpiece should be found on the front page of the World's Greatest Newspaper on Easter morning, when Christendom sings: "In the cross of Christ I glory, towering o'er the wrecks of time."

PRAISES GOV. GREEN.

Chicago, April 13.—Gov. Green is one politician who didn't sell out. I wish to register a hearty tribute of approval and appreciation of the governor's efforts to cut the sales tax and increase the levy on cigarets and beer and liquors, which are rightly and justly classed as luxuries. It is proof that there is at least one man who has not lost his sense of values, and who is showing himself to belong to that very rare class, the honest politician.

ENGINEERING TEACHING.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., April 12.—"Engineers in a World They Made" is surely worthy of comment at this time. The present writer has had some experience in engineering college teaching. Unlike many others, however, his opinions can prove embarrassing only to himself

Time is the important factor. Under the present curricula four years of training is not enough. But the courses in drawing, mathematics, and mechanics might be improved and considerably reduced as time factors. Students now plod thru high school and college solving their problems in the two dimensional way, by orthographic projection. They think in two dimensions. They are satisfied with two dimensional movies. Perspective solutions are much more simple and understandable. Fundamental courses could be simplified and improved.

COMMITTEE O. K. GIVEN TWO CENT TAX ON CIGARETS

State Expects Yield of 20 Millions.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 15.—Gov. Dwight Green's proposed tax of 2 cents on a package of cigarets won approval of the house revenue committee today, less than a week after introduction. The measure was sent out by a vote of 26 to 5. Whether the measur will get bipartisan support in the house is undetermined.

Debate was limited in the committee session. George B. McKibbin, director of finance, told the members that the levy was needed to help raise revenue lost by the lowering of the sales tax to 2 cents July 1, and would produce 20 million dollars.

Taxes in Other Localities.

Twenty-six states and three large cities tax cigarets as follows:

2 CENTS.

Washington	Ohio
Utah	Pennsylvania
Arizona	New York
Kansas	Rhode Island
Wisconsin	Connecticut
Iowa	Massachusetts
Vermont	Georgia
Kentucky

3 CENTS.

North Dakota	Alabama
South Dakota	Tennessee
Oklahoma	South Carolina
Texas

4 CENTS.

Mississippi

5 CENTS.

Arkansas	Louisiana

In addition, New Hampshire levies 2¼ cents and Denver levies a 1 cent city tax, and Kansas City and St. Louis, 2 cents.

Cut Marriage Waiting Time.

Earlier in the day, the house concurred in senate amendments to a bill which, as finally passed, would reduce the waiting period for marriage license applicants from three days to one day.

By a vote of 80 to 22, the house also passed a bill to create a three member commission, armed with powers of eminent domain, to establish a medical center district on Chicago's southwest side in the locality now housing the Cook county and other hospitals and medical schools.

The commission would have the authority to borrow from the RFC and to regulate rents, charges and methods of operation in the hospitals, clinics, sanitariums, and laboratories it would construct with the funds so obtained.

Favorable action was also taken on a resolution sponsored by Dr. Adam S. Mioduski [D., Chicago] which would establish a joint committee to draft a senatorial [legislative] district reapportionment and present it to the house by May 15.

Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer Martineau.

New York, April 15 [Special].—Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer Martineau, 28 years old, wealthy and socially prominent daughter of the late banker, George F. Baker, is honeymooning in New York with Stanley Martineau, 25, Canadian sculptor. The couple eloped to Elkton, Md., where they were married yesterday. Mrs. Martineau's first husband was T. Suffern Tailer, a champion golfer who last January enlisted in the army. They were divorced on April 4.

ONE DIES AFTER HEADON CRASH ON ARCHER AVE.

Joseph Miller, 47 years old, 4544 South Wood street, a butcher, died yesterday in the Holy Cross hospital of injuries suffered Monday night in a head-on automobile collision at Archer and Rutherford avenues. Two other persons were seriously injured.

Frank A. Thelen, 71, an Aurora insurance broker, died in St. Charles hospital, Aurora, yesterday of injuries suffered two weeks ago in a collision in Downers Grove between his car and one driven by Einar Johnson, 4735 North Kildare avenue, Chicago.

Charles Harney, 45, of Morris, in Grundy county, a coast guardsman, died yesterday in Joliet of injuries received Monday in an automobile collision on route 66, five miles south of Joliet.

Robert Montgomery, 6 years old, colored, of 1638 Lexington street, East Chicago Heights, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile yesterday at 14th and Berkeley streets, East Chicago Heights. The driver was Richard Fisher, 50, of 330 West 15th place, Chicago Heights, a salesman.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 238 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 179 were killed in Chicago, where 6,105 were injured in traffic in the same period.

CAPTURED AFTER GUNFIRE, DRIVER GETS JAIL TERM

Elmer Tadel, captured after an automobile chase in which the police fired three times, was sentenced yesterday to 30 days in jail by Judge Jay A. Schiller in Safety court on a charge of drunken driving. Tadel is 29 years old. He lives at 6101 Evans avenue.

Police said they took up the chase at 4:30 a. m. Monday when they found Tadel driving north on the wrong side of South Park avenue at 72d street. He drove thru a stoplight, they said, and refused to stop when they sounded the siren and announced they were police officers. They were firing at his car when he wrecked it against the elevated structure at South Park avenue and 63d street.

SENATE PASSES CURB ON WOMEN AS BARTENDERS

Springfield, Ill., April 15 [Special].—By a vote of 32 to 11 the state senate today passed its bill to prohibit any woman from tending bar except when she is the tavern licensee or the wife of the licensee. The bill now goes to the house of representatives.

The senate received two nominations from Gov. Dwight Green. One was that of John H. Craig of Lewiston to succeed Edward P. Allen of Quincy, Democrat, as state fire marshal. Craig was assistant director of agriculture under Gov. L. L. Emmerson. The second appointment was that of William T. Fossett of Springfield, chairman of the Sangamon county Republican committee, as superintendent of standards in the department of agriculture.

The nominations were referred to the executive committee.

AUTO BILL BARS JAYWALKING AT TRAFFIC LIGHTS

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 15.—Pedestrians would be required to obey the red and green traffic lights under a bill introduced in the legislature here today by Representative David Hunter [R., Rockford] chairman of the house roads and bridges committee. The bill, sponsored by the Illinois highway department, would make numerous other amendments to the state traffic code, including the following:

David Hunter.

1. Kills 35 mile an hour prima facie speed limit in suburban areas.
2. Establishes regulations for bicycles.
3. Removes 45 mile an hour limit on posted speed zones.
4. Boosts truck speed limits.
5. Authorizes "no passing zones."
6. Defines headlight requirements.

Gives Pedestrian Right of Way.

In placing pedestrians under the control of traffic lights, the bill would require turning vehicles to give the right of way to walkers moving with the green. The state code, of course, applies to city streets as well as to rural highways.

The removal of the 35 mile an hour prima facie maximum in suburban areas is sought because many broad highways traverse incorporated areas, rural in character, where an open road pace is reasonable. Under the present laws, the state is authorized to post a higher speed limit, but not higher than 45 miles an hour. Amendments would remove this restriction on posted speed limits.

Bicycle Regulations.

The bicycle regulations provide that parents shall not permit their children to violate the following rules:

No extra riders; no hitching to vehicles; no carrying bundles that would keep one hand from handle bars; ride no more than two abreast; white front light, red rear light, a bell or other signal, and brakes are required.

Truck speed limits are boosted by raising the maximum weight for certain speed limits. Weights up to 8,000 pounds would be permitted 45 miles an hour.

A 40 m. p. h. limit on buses between 12,000 and 15,000 pounds would apply to buses as heavy as 16,000 pounds. Trucks as heavy as 16,000 pounds, rather than the present 15,000 maximum, would be permitted 30 m. p. h. A maximum of 25 m. p. h. would apply to trucks over 16,000 pounds.

The "no passing zones" are designated by a center line which may not be crossed. The proposed new headlight requirements would prohibit glare and require enough light to reveal a pedestrian or a vehicle 350 feet ahead.

BRIDGES CALLED 'SACRED COW' OF RED NEWSPAPER

Daily Worker's Praise of Him Told at Hearing.

San Francisco, Cal., April 15 [Special].—Harry Bridges, alien California CIO director, is regarded as a "sacred cow" by the Daily Worker, communist newspaper, a former staff writer for that publication testified today at the resumption of Bridges' deportation hearing.

Howard Rushmore. [AP Wirephoto.]

The witness, Howard Rushmore, now a reporter for the New York Journal American, explained that a "sacred cow is a person to whom only favorable publicity is given, never criticism." He said that while he was a member of the communist party and a writer on the Daily Worker only praiseworthy comment on Bridges was permitted.

Rushmore's testimony was given in support of the government's contention that Bridges is a member of an organization that advocates overthrow of the United States government by force and should be returned to his native Australia.

Tells Support for Roosevelt.

Later, under cross-examination by Aubrey Grossman of Bridges' counsel, the witness said the Daily Worker also "once gave enthusiastic support" to President Roosevelt, but added the President later was subjected to violent criticism and could hardly be considered a "sacred cow."

Former Congressmen Jerry O'Connell [D., Mont.] and John Bernard [F.-L., Minn.] were "sacred cows" of the Daily Worker.

Mrs. Roosevelt, wife of the President, was considered both favorably and unfavorably by the Red paper, and John L. Lewis, former CIO head, was regarded "pretty favorably" thruout 1937, '38, and '39.

Party's Goal Described.

Rushmore testified on direct examination before Examiner Charles Sears that the general practice of the Daily Worker was to criticize anything which deviated from the communist party line. That line, he said, called for the "overthrow of the United States government by a proletarian revolution."

The witness said he joined the communist party at St. Louis, Mo., in 1934 and resigned last year. He joined the Daily Worker staff in New York in 1937 and left it in May, 1939.

The hearing was resumed today after a week's recess to permit Bridges to attend the convention of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union, of which he was renominated president in Los Angeles last night.

CHARGE AGAINST COURT TRUSTEE BRINGS U. S. QUIZ

Report Bankruptcy Cases Under Inquiry.

Washington, D. C., April 15 [Special].—Attorney General Robert Jackson was reported today to be investigating the background of an alleged embezzlement by Harry Dubia, a federal court bankruptcy trustee in Chicago, of $21,232 in funds entrusted to him. Dubia has been indicted by the federal grand jury in Chicago.

Jackson's inquiry, it was said, came despite attempts of Chicago politicians to avoid embarrassment thru the inquiry. Be fore Dubia's indictment on April 8 the Chicago office of the federal bureau of investigation examined his books.

Referred to FBI Chief.

The findings were submitted to J. Albert Woll, United States attorney in Chicago, and also to J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI.

It was when the report reached Hoover that the politicians were said to have attempted to hush the matter. Hoover said it was too late and that he had already passed the case on to Jackson.

TEN ESTATES INVOLVED.

Harry Dubia, who is 40 years old and lives at 6 East Scott street, was indicted by the federal grand jury here on April 8. He was charged with having embezzled $21,232 from 10 estates for which he was trustee.

The evidence against Dubia was collected by FBI auditors at the request of J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, who began an investigation of bankruptcy matters pending in federal District court three weeks before Dubia was indicted. It is reported in the United States courthouse that Woll intends to finish the inquiry he has started regardless of political consequences.

CORONER ASKS ALL TO REPORT ON FIRE TRAPS

Coroner A. L. Brodie appealed to the public yesterday to report to the authorities buildings which might be considered fire traps.

He made the appeal during two inquests at the Wabash avenue station into the deaths of three persons by fire. The victims, all colored, were Thomas Gray, trapped in a burning basement at 4654 Wabash avenue, and Mrs. Mary Sheppard and Mrs. Mary Eaton, burned in their home at 650 Bowen avenue. The inquest verdicts termed the deaths accidental.

"Neighbors should call the building department about unsafe conditions in houses in their neighborhoods," said Coroner Brodie. "We want to act before people die." Coroner Brodie said he will take up the problem with the city council. He said New York laws make landlords or their agents liable to charges of manslaughter where tenants perish by fire in hazardous buildings.

ST. LOUIS' NEW G. O. P. MAYOR TAKES OFFICE

St. Louis, Mo., April 15 (AP).—Republicans took over the government of Missouri's largest city today with the inauguration of William Dee Becker as St. Louis' 35th mayor. Becker succeeded Bernard F. Dickmann, whom he defeated in the municipal election April 1, ending an 8 year period of Democratic control of the city hall.

In his inaugural address, Becker, a former judge of the St. Louis court of appeals, promised "rigid economy" and an "efficient, honest and nonpolitical administration." Among his specific pledges, he committed himself to continue the city's smoke elimination ordinance, which had been enacted with Dickmann's support. It prohibits the use of soft coal unless burned mechanically to prevent smoke.

Granted Divorce

MRS. HELEN BARBEE.

Mrs. Helen Barbee, 24 years old, a clothing model, told Superior Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday that her husband, Charles, also 24, not only ran away with "Jane Doe" and Jane's daughter, but socked Jane's husband as well. The court granted Mrs. Barbee a divorce on grounds of misconduct. She was allowed $15 a week alimony and the custody of their daughter, Marlene, 2 years old. The Barbees were married June 4, 1938, and separated last May 20. Mrs. Barbee lives at 7601 South May street.

54 PAPERS AWAIT READING BEFORE CANCER MEETING

The cause or causes of cancer in humans remains as mythical as its cure, it appeared yesterday when 150 distinguished research scientists gathered at the Stevens hotel to open the 34th annual meeting of the American Association for Cancer Research.

Fifty-one papers were scheduled for delivery during the two day session. None was of startling significance to the layman, yet each contributed one more tidbit to the fund of knowledge on the cause, pathology, and treatment of cancer.

Gradually scientists are deducing that cancer is not one disease but many, a spokesman pointed out. It should be used like the phrase, "infactious diseases," rather than like the word "pneumonia," each disease having its own causes and treatment. It is highly improbable, he added, that one cause ever will be singled out.

REVERSE BOWEN GUILTY VERDICT IN TYPHOID SCOURGE

Supreme Court Nullifies Removal Order.

A. L. Bowen.

The conviction of A. L. Bowen, former state director of public welfare, on charges of omission of duty in failing to safeguard the Manteno State hospital's water supply was reversed yesterday by the Illinois Supreme court.

Sixty persons died in the state institution during a typhoid epidemic in 1939. Bowen was convicted of neglect of duty, ordered removed from office, and fined $1,000 by Judge James V. Bartley of Joliet in a bench trial in the Kankakee county Circuit court in Kankakee last June.

State's Proof Attacked.

The Supreme court ruled the state failed to prove Bowen guilty and said: "It was not proved, and we cannot assume, that typhoid bacillus ever was found in the drinking water."

Bowen's defense was that the epidemic was not caused by contaminated drinking water but was traceable to a woman carrier of the disease. At the trial experts disagreed on whether the epidemic was waterborne or carrier-borne. Judge Bartley, however, found Bowen guilty of negligence in ignoring health department reports that foreign matter had been found in the Manteno water supply.

Trial Jury Discharged.

Bowen first was tried by a jury, which was discharged when it failed to reach a verdict. The second trial was without a jury.

After his conviction Bowen remained in office, pending a decision by the Supreme court, until Gov. Henry Horner died last October and was succeeded by Gov. John Stelle. Stelle then dismissed Bowen from office.

Bowen, who is 71 years old, served under five governors during his 25 years of state welfare work. He had jurisdiction over 28 state institutions.

10 POLL WORKERS SENTENCED FOR ELECTION FRAUDS

Six Get Terms in Jail and Four Are Fined.

Ten election officials were sentenced to jail or fined yesterday when they pleaded guilty of contempt of court in vote count irregularities in the mayoral election of April 4, 1939. Sentences were imposed by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki.

Six of the officials got jail sentences and four were fined. The 10—four Democrats and six Republicans—admitted changing 282 votes in the 18th, 25th, and 34th precincts of the 1st ward.

The officials who pleaded guilty and their fines or jail sentences are:

TWENTY-FIFTH PRECINCT—Ernest R. Waldron, Democratic judge, 90 days in jail; Gilbert Earl Gay, Republican judge, 90 days; Jack A. Stowell, Republican judge, 90 days, and William F. Morris, Republican clerk, $8 fine.

EIGHTEENTH PRECINCT — Silvester Garbo, Democratic judge, 2135 Michigan avenue, $200 fine; Thomas M. Keyer, Republican clerk, 120 East Cermak, $8 fine.

THIRTY-FOURTH PRECINCT — Frank Venizio, Democratic judge, 2617 Shields avenue, 90 days; Anthony Bentivegna, Democratic judge 2742 Shields avenue, one day, considered served; Paul Balzano, Republican judge, 2313 25th street, 90 days, and William Galvin, Republican clerk, 338 25th place, $8 fine.

Bill to Step Up Manpower of Navy Sent to Roosevelt

Washington, D. C., April 15 (AP).—The senate passed and sent to the White House today legislation which would increase the authorized officer and enlisted strength of the navy and marine corps by approximately 75 per cent. The measure would increase the permanent peacetime enlisted strength of the navy from 131,485 [plus 6,000 apprentice seamen] to 232,000 men, and the emergency strength from 191,000 [plus 6,000 apprentice seamen] to 300,000.

JOHN J. SONSTEBY, MUNICIPAL COURT HEAD, DIES AT 62

John J. Sonsteby.

John J. Sonsteby, chief justice of the Chicago Municipal court for the last 10 years, died yesterday in a hospital at Winter Haven, Fla. He was 62 years old.

Judge Sonsteby died of a heart attack which followed an illness that began last November when he and his wife went to Winter Haven to visit their daughter, Mrs. Henry M. Sinclair.

Judge Sonsteby was the court's second chief justice, having succeeded the late Harry Olson in 1930, after Judge Olson had served from the time the court was established in 1906. Judge Sonsteby instituted a number of reforms, among them the establishment of separate courts for the cases of gunmen and automobile thieves.

Born in Milwaukee.

The chief justice was born in Milwaukee Jan. 15, 1879. He came to Chicago in his youth, gaining his education in the public schools here and in the John Marshall Law school. In 1906 he began practicing law.

From that year until 1909 he was a member of the board of education, of which he was also a member from 1912 to 1915. He was credited with a major part in establishing commercial education in the high schools. He was attorney for the then county treasurer, Clayton F. Smith, from 1916 to 1918.

During the world war he was chairman of the boards of instruction of the northern district of Illinois and government appeal agent for Exemption board 78. He was elected chief justice as a Democrat in 1930 and reelected in 1936.

His widow, Mrs. Alice Osland Sonsteby, survives with two daughters, Mrs. Sinclair and Miss Mona Katherine Sonsteby. His home is at 1514 Pratt boulevard.

Term Expires in 1942.

Judge Sonsteby's term expires Dec. 1, 1942. State law provides that the governor can appoint a successor for an unexpired term of less than a year, but if the term is longer an election must be held in conjunction with the next regular election.

The earliest regular election is set for next November, when Superior court judges are to be chosen. Since nominations are made at party conventions for the Superior bench, there will be no primary election at that time. Therefore, unless the law can be amended, candidates will have to run as independents or it will be necessary to hold a special primary election costing $500,000 to choose nominees for the chief justiceship.

Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of the County court discussed the problem yesterday with the election commissioners. He conferred also with Harold F. Scovel, head of the judiciary committee of the Chicago Bar association, and with Werner W. Schroeder, national Republican committeeman from Illinois, who said he would present the problem to Gov. Dwight H. Green.

Operation Is Undergone by Quints' Physician

TORONTO, Ontario, April 15 (AP).—Dr. Allen Roy Dafoe, physician to the Dionne quintuplets, underwent a major operation here today, his brother, Dr. William Dafoe, announced tonight. The nature of the operation and Dr. Dafoe's present condition were not disclosed.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Margaret Kittermaster.

Mrs. Margaret Bunnell Kittermaster, daughter of the late John A. Bunnell, former president of the Chicago Board of Trade, died yesterday in her home at 651 Waverly road, Highland Park. She was 43 years old. She was the wife of Dougall A. Kittermaster, an insurance broker, who was the first volunteer from the middle west in the Canadian expeditionary force in the world war. Her mother, a daughter and a son also survive. Funeral services will be held at 4:30 p. m. today in Trinity Episcopal church, Highland Park. Burial will be in Brantford, Ont.

Richard C. Callahan.

The funeral of Richard C. Callahan, a former employé of THE TRIBUNE, will be held at 9:30 a. m. Friday from the chapel at 1732 Wilson avenue to St. Gregory's church. Mr. Callahan died Monday in Colorado Springs, Colo., at the age of 65. He leaves his widow, Mary Coffield Callahan, assistant chief probation officer for Cook county, and three sons, Richard C. Jr., Jerome, and Stephen.

Mrs. Virginia G. Davidson.

Louisville, Ky., April 15 (AP).—Mrs. Virginia Gaggs Davidson, 62, mother of Dr. Carter Davidson, president of Knox college at Galesburg, Ill., died today of a heart ailment. The widow of Dr. Harry A. Davidson, Louisville physician, she is survived by another son, Lloyd, University of Chicago faculty members, and a daughter.

Dr. Thomas A. Woodruff.

New London, Conn., April 15 (AP).—Dr. Thomas Adams Woodruff, 75, widely known ophthalmologist, died today. For years he practiced in Chicago, leaving there in 1918.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Services for Mrs. Martha Jane Van Duzor, a past national president of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 3946 Milwaukee avenue, and not at 3 p. m. as was incorrectly stated in yesterday's TRIBUNE.

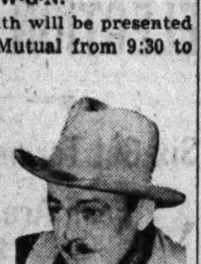
ON W-G-N.



Hugh Studebaker.

Whispering Smith will be presented over W-G-N and Mutual from 9:30 to 10 p. m. T. T. Keliher, retired chief special agent of the Illinois Central railroad, and many of his former associates, will attend the program. Mr. Keliher, who knew the original Whispering Smith, assisted Frank Spearman in writing the novel on which the drama is based by providing Spearman with many stories about Smith's life. The drama, starring Hugh Studebaker in the title rôle, is produced by Blair Walliser.

A discussion of America's relation to the war will be presented from 7 to 7:30 p. m. Lillian Gish, stage star, and Prof. Jerome G. Kerwin of the University of Chicago will be the speakers. Miss Gish's topic will be "Why Another Mistake?" and that of Prof. Kerwin will be "Deliver the Goods Now."

Lou Stringer, new Chicago Cub infielder, will be interviewed by Bob Elson at 2:45 p. m. on the Lead Off Man. After the interview Elson will present a play-by-play account of the game between the Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Arthur Godfrey will offer a quarter-hour of songs and patter at 9 a. m.

TREASURER WINS FIGHT TO DEDUCT COLLECTION FEES

The county treasurer may deduct his costs in collecting special assessment delinquencies, the Appellate court ruled yesterday. The opinion reversed a finding of Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher who had awarded $5,400 judgment to the village of Broadview against Treasurer John Toman.

The $5,400 had been deduced by the treasurer at the customary rate of 50 cents for each of more than 10,000 items. Erwin A. Stanicek, counsel for the village, contended that the county should collect the costs of collecting special assessments from property owners. He said he would appeal to the Supreme court.

Village officials said Broadview had collected only $175 of the total collections after deductions had been made by former Treasurer Horace J. Lindheimer in 1935 and 1936.

SEEK COURT AID TO FIND REALTY WITHOUT OWNERS

Disclosure of the tangle involving hundreds of thousands of dollars of ownerless property to which Cook county is entitled thru escheat rights brought several developments yesterday.

Marshall Korshak and Joseph P. Burke, assistant state's attorneys, said they will petition Probate Judge John O'Connell to call into court all living public administrators to testify regarding any estates still open.

Investigators assigned by Auditor Lee Howard, poring over dusty records of 265,000 estates closed since 1918, found two lots which the county has the right to take over by escheatment proceedings.

John T. Dempsey, present public administrator, said his office will cooperate with the state's attorney and the Probate court in taking escheatment action against property left by persons dying without heirs.

Burke and Korshak said the petition to call in ex-public administrators will aid in bringing to light any properties upon which persons may be living either rent free or paying rent to some unauthorized person.

PUPILS OF SENN HEAR THEIR OWN W-G-N PROGRAM

Senn High school students and teachers had an opportunity to hear themselves on W-G-N last night. At 4:30 p. m. more than 600 students and teachers participated in the Citizens of Tomorrow program in W-G-N's main studio. The program was recorded and played back on the air at 7:30 p. m. Because of baseball broadcasts, all Citizens of Tomorrow programs henceforth will be recorded and presented at the evening hour.

David M. Davidson, principal of the big school which has an enrollment of over 4,650, spoke briefly and emphasized the need for loyalty, patriotism, enthusiasm, and regard for others. Philip Maxwell, as master of ceremonies, conducted the Chicago Tribune news quiz. The program was produced by Blair Walliser, a graduate of Senn.

Mr. Maxwell announced the addition of Ben Davis, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Jacob Henry Schmidt, Flint, Mich., to the roll of honor.

RFC HOLDS CITY MUST HAVE TITLE TO AIRPORT LAND

The Reconstruction Finance corporation yesterday informed Barnet Hodes, corporation council, that before any loan would be granted for a new city airport terminal the city must acquire title to the airport land, at present leased from the board of education. The lease as now written contains a clause that all improvements on the land revert to the board when the lease expires. Hodes said he wrote to ask whether a loan would be given if the lease were amended so that the RFC instead of the board of education would hold first lien on all revenues.

BOY, 11, TUMBLES 40 FEET TO DEATH IN OLD COAL YARD

Charles Christensen, 11 years old, was killed yesterday when he tumbled 40 feet to the bottom of a chute while at play, apparently alone, in an abandoned coal yard at 6603 Ridge avenue. The boy, who lived at 1541 Hood avenue, was found unconscious by patrons of a nearby driving range who heard a commotion. He died in St. Francis hospital, Evanston.

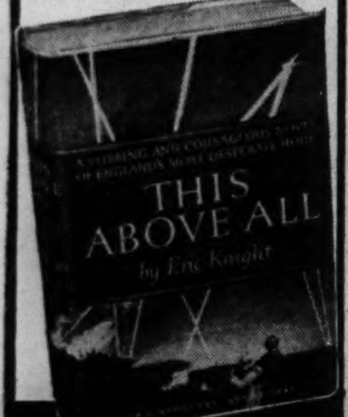
"The first great novel of the War"*



THIS ABOVE ALL

By Eric Knight

The overwhelming enthusiasm generated by this superb novel prior to publication has been more than borne out by the superlative praise lavished on it by the critics:

"A great novel of the fury of war, worthy to stand beside Hemingway. Nowhere in modern fiction will you find more moving and beautiful, ugly and terrifying, personalized yet impersonal descriptions." —Sterling North, Chicago News.

"The most important novel about the war . . . the gripping, unforgettable story of England's battle and of a man's inner battle, both fighting with their backs to the wall. It is a novel packed with dramatic action, high strung with suspense. And there is a love story of strong, wonderful tenderness."—N. Y. Times.

*"The first great novel of the war. It sounds the note of a new England as challengingly as it has yet been heard . . . and contains a love story that reminds me of 'A Farewell to Arms'."—James Hilton.

"The first novel of any pretensions to come out of the war. Eric Knight writes with passionate conviction and skill." —Clifton Fadiman, The New Yorker.

Speeches Show Churchill's Skill as Word Artist

"Blood, Sweat, and Tears," by Winston S. Churchill. [Putnam, $3.] Published Monday. May choice of the Book of the Month club.

"I was Winston Churchill's Private Secretary," by Phyllis Moir. [Funk, $2.] Published last Friday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

From the moving speech which Winston Churchill made when he became British prime minister comes the arresting title of this book: "I would say to the house, as I said to those who have joined this government: 'I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears, and sweat.'"

The quality not only of Winston Churchill the leader but of Winston Churchill the author is inherent in that phrase. This book, made up of speeches which he delivered between May 5, 1938, and Feb. 9, 1941, has the compelling drama of history made and recorded by the same hand.

The speeches, which might easily have been ephemeral or which might by the course of fate have seemed a little pitiful and more than a little tragic—as did the published speeches of Prime Minister Chamberlain entitled "Peace in Our Time"—have the solidity of rightness after, as well as before, the fact. For Winston Churchill was an amazingly clear-eyed prophet from the time when he, almost alone, opposed relinquishing the control to the Irish Free State of the Atlantic ports which he believed vital to the defense of England [passionately pleaded in the first speech in the book].

"We do not minimize our task," he says on March 30, 1940, and from the first speech to the last he says the same thing, even when his natural orator's gift for ringing and dramatic phrases is at its best, aimed at stirring his countrymen. Time may prove these speeches among the great speeches not only for their historical influence but for their brilliance and strength as moving orations.

They are, of course, of interest to all Americans, not only as a recorded group of historical documents [which every one may have read before when they were delivered] but indirectly as a picture of the man.

Phyllis Moir's book about Winston Churchill adds little to the impression which the speeches give. Indeed, in trying to draw a human portrait of the man who appeared almost a superhuman genius to his secretary, she sometimes makes him sound like an extremely difficult person. She marshals the unimportant but interesting and often illuminating facts about his family life, his hobbies, his play, as well as important ones about his work and his English faith. A final brief chapter gives the highlights of his life, but most of the book is written from observation, not biographical data.

Excels at Oratory

Vast Saga Unfolds

"Manhold," by Phyllis Bentley [Macmillan, $2.50.] Published yesterday.

"Inheritance," Phyllis Bentley's most popular novel of the Yorkshire woolen industry was, she notes, only one panel in a vast series of West Riding novels, a series which began chronologically with "Take Courage" [1625-1672] and now continues with "Manhold" [1720-1805], which immediately precedes "Inheritance" [1812-1931] in point of time. All of her novels, she points out, are either directly about the cloth weaving industry or about the workers and the overlords in that industry.

"Manhold" is a record of human relationships rather than of industrial rasps and tensions, altho the hatred which was to become a curse on two generations grew out of old Sam Horsfall's quarrel with his brother-in-law over a share in the weaving business.

The dominant character in "Manhold" is Ann Gildersome, who as a little girl saw her father drown before her eyes while she vainly cried to her uncle for help and who then vowed a vengeance which had its grim flowering long after her death. In her shadow is Richard, her cousin, who might have had happiness but chose love. The tale is a dramatic and a fiery one told with Miss Bentley's customary delicate but sturdy grace.

Phyllis Bentley is one of the most skilled of modern English novelists in her sureness of novel carpentering and her quiet power of character delineating.

Nathan Novel Tells a Tragic Story Tenderly

"They Went On Together," by Robert Nathan. [Knopf, $2.] Published Monday.

Robert Nathan, whose widest popularity has been won with what most readers would call whimsies, chooses a situation as far from the whimsical as it is possible to imagine for "They Went On Together." It is the story of the tragic trek of a little family uprooted by the invader, scurrying from the raining doom, wandering hopelessly in search of shelter, and still, as the book ends, with "a long way to go."

There is nothing whimsical about the facts of women and children groping for life in a war-mad world. But within that grim frame Robert Nathan has created an idyl of tender young love. He has so thoroly succeeded in making this a tale of the very spring of love that the reader almost forgets the grimness for the tenderness.

To this reader the delicacy which gives his work its greatest popular appeal, its flight above reality, is far from being what makes Mr. Nathan soar above his fellow writers. It is the very quality which keeps him from the heavenly literary hosts. Robert Nathan can write rings around most American novelists, but he's more liable to think rings around a subject instead of straight thru it.

Some readers may be deeply touched by the understatements and the implications in this tragic record of war's centrifugal casualties, but I will wager that most readers will call it "a sweet and tender story of the love of two homeless children" and "rise above" its horrors as Mr. Nathan does.

◆

There is no geographical background mentioned here, but the place names are American, in a melting-pot sense, as are the names of the characters—Paul and Sylvie, the principal ones with "Mom" and little Marie Rose and Lefty and Beanie and Red. The talk is idiomatically American in thought as well as in words—and excellently so. The reader may read it as a tale of a possible tragic American future, or of a tragic European yesterday, as he will.

Lands to South Supply Settings for 3 Volumes

BY PERCY WOOD.

Both Alec Waugh and his brother, Evelyn, the English writers, have been poking around the Americas of late. Evelyn recently published an unsparing critique of Mexico, and now Alec comes forward with a West Indian novel in a locale which might be any one of the British islands, but sounds more like Dominica, a lush green spot in the Leeward group, than any other. He calls it El Santo.

Dealing with a typically colonial white society, "No Truce with Time" is a well-handled love-story-tragedy of mannerly Britons crowded so closely together that none can step across conventional lines without his neighbors being practically forced to recognize it. This became the plight of Mrs. Gerald Montague, wife of one of the island's most influential men, when a handsome young Englishman came from home to consider establishing a tourist hotel on El Santo.

Her attempted solution of an impossible situation would be rankly melodramatic in the hands of a less skilful writer than Mr. Waugh, but he works it out completely logically with more than a touch of British impassivity. One could wish, however, that he had written in a little more of the West Indies incomparable tropical beauty.

◆

No lack of description is found in Glanville Smith's "Many a Green Isle," which recounts adventure in almost all of the French, British, Dutch, and American islands, not in guide book fashion but from the personalized standpoint which can only be gained by long residence. It carries the "feel" of the islands as well as any recent book, and far better than most, but it is a rambling account and will not be of much use to the casual tourist. However, for those who have traveled in the West Indies, "Many a Green Isle" will prove a delightful experience.

◆

"Wind on the Pampas" is more maturely written than many novels and is particularly interesting because of its intimate description of life on a big ranch in the Argentine, with an ostrich hunt standing out among other incidents. The story is comparatively slight, but it is understandingly told.

Prizes Awarded for Best Novels of Latin America

At a dinner Monday night at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City to celebrate Pan-American day awards in the Latin American Prize Novel contest were presented. The contest was sponsored jointly by the pushing house of Farrar & Rinehart and Redbook magazine and organized in all of the Latin American countries and in Puerto Rico by the Division of Intellectual Coöperation of the Pan-American union.

The first prize of $2,500 went to Ciro Alegria of Peru for his novel, "Broad and Alien Is the World." Additional prizes of $1,500 were given by the Redbook to Signor Alegria and to Enrique Gil Gilbert of Ecuador for "Our Daily Bread"; to Cecilio J. Carneiro of Brazil for "The Bonfire," and to Miguel Menendez of Mexico.

Archibald MacLeish headed the dinner committee and was the toastmaster. All four of the prize winners were present at the dinner.

Light and Entertaining Romance Will Provide Good Escape Reading

"The Countess to Boot," by Jack Iams. [Morrow, $2.]

If you are tired of weighty thinking and the world's state, Jack Iams' rollicking and droll romance of young love in the Manhattan and Virgin Islands is an excellent escape. True, the plot is conventional and thin enough: Boy [dissatisfied commercial artist] meets girl [electrical engineer turned social secretary], love, difficulties, misunderstandings, escape, tropic island, reunion in the hibiscus patch, fade out into happy ending. But young Mr. Iams lifts this out of the conventional with amusing dialog, delightful characters, neatly etched social satire—and the countess to boot. The Countess di Sylvio, née Elsie Schultz of Minneapolis, is a free soul, generous, bibulous, and unconventional.

HARD CASE

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1941: By Luke Short.]

SYNOPSIS.

Old Badey, postmaster and proprietor of the general store at Yellow Jacket, N. M., sees a letter come in addressed to Dave Coyle, notorious outlaw. Badey goes to Sheriff Beal, who, realizing there is a $7,000 reward for Coyle's capture, decides to organize an armed force. Coyle comes to town for his letter—and diverts attention from the post-office by leaving cartridges warming to explosion point on the blacksmith's forge, while he gets his letter. Then daringly he goes to the deserted hotel and selects a room for himself. His letter is from Cafol McFee, but she has mixed her envelopes and Dave gets a letter intended for Will Usher in which Carol tells Usher she is warning Dave against him.

INSTALMENT III.

FORGED DEED.

Dave stared at the note. He knew what had happened. Carol had written him and Will Usher on the same night, and had put the letters in the wrong envelope.

He thought of something then. Suppose Carol had mentioned his presence in Yellow Jacket in her other letter?

As soon as he thought of it, Dave lunged for the lamp, wiping out the flame with his hand. The envelope, which had been in his lap, fluttered to the floor and planed under the chair.

And in that very instant there was a knock on the door.

Dave waited a moment and said softly, "Who is it?"

There was a throaty chuckle from the other side of the door.

"Who'd you think it would be, Davey? It's me—Will Usher."

Dave said thru the door, "I don't want trouble. Light a shuck."

"Listen a minute, Dave." Will said. "I want to talk to you."

"Drag it."

"Wait a minute." Usher's voice was urgent. "I haven't got a gun and this isn't a trap. Open the door."

Dave said softly, "I'll walk that door down and cut your ears, Will. Here I come."

He went to the door, unlocked it and opened it with his right hand. His gun was in his left. There was nobody there. He stepped out into the hall and looked down it, and it was empty.

He stepped back into the room again, locked the door, and lighted the lamp, a frown on his face. Carol, in her letter to him which Will Usher had received, mentioned Yellow Jacket, and Will was here. Beyond that, Will had the letter that Carol had written him, and he wanted it. He wanted the letter and he didn't know whether he could trust himself to take it from Will Usher without getting in a fight, but he decided he could if he held his temper.

He started across the room toward the door, and was almost there when a knock came on the door again. He reached swiftly for the key, twisted it, flung the door open, and reached out and grabbed for Will Usher's coat lapels to yank him inside.

His hand was swifter than his recognition, for he already was grasping the silk collar of a basque before he could stop himself. And then his hand fell away, and he was confronting a girl who was almost as surprised as he was.

"Why—howdy, Carol," he stammered.

"Hello, Dave," Carol said softly, swiftly. "I'm coming in, and close the door after me!"

She brushed past him, and Dave shut the door behind her, then turned and leaned his back against it. He saw a girl who was smaller than he was, and whose thick hair was pale as his was dark. Her face, with its almost uplifted nose and its friendly mouth and deep violet colored eyes, was too impudent to be beautiful and had too much character in it to be called pretty. Right now, it was frightened, too, and Dave smiled faintly.

"You've grown up," he said.

Carol stamped her foot. "How can you joke now, Dave? Don't you know they're hunting you all over town?"

"Sure."

"You can't stay here. I'll——"

"Why not?"

"But they'll find you!"

"Not till I want them to," Dave said calmly. "Not till I've talked to you."

Carol sank down on the bed and put the flat of her palms to her temples. She shivered a little, and Dave looked at her curiously, his face impassive. He liked the blue color of the dress she was wearing, and he thought she looked nice and he knew it wasn't because she was the first white woman he'd seen for a long time.

He said, gently for him, "What's the matter?"

Carol looked up. "I'm just think what an awful fool I am. First, I sent Will Usher the wrong letter and he found out you were here. Second, I addressed your letter in your own name, so the whole town is hunting you. And now—well, dad is with me. He's bound to find out you're here and he'll head a posse for three weeks just to hunt you down."

Dave said, "You're flustered, I reckon. You was flustered when you sent me word in Mexico. You still are. Why?"

"Dave," Carol said. "Will you please go? Now? Will you please get out of town?"

"I—I sent word to you in Mexico because I needed help. You see, I didn't forget that stage trip we had together when I came home from school. I couldn't very well forget it, could I, when it was in all the newspapers in the territory that you saved me from that gang of Will Usher's kidnapers?"

"You shouldn't have told 'em who I was.

"But I thought dad would plead with Gov. Johns for your pardon! I—I didn't know they'd chase you clear out of the territory into Mexico."

"Neither did I," Dave said carelessly.

"Then when this—this trouble came up, I sent for you because—well, I guess I thought you could help."

"What trouble?"

"O, it doesn't matter now! All you can do is get out while you can!"

"What trouble?" Dave insisted.

"Dad's trouble. Haven't you heard that we're losing all our range on a forged deed?"

"Tate Wallace. He owns the Three Rivers Cattle company."

The interest in Dave's eyes quickened. "Tate Wallace, or Wallace Tate?"

"Tate Wallace. Why?"

"What's he look like?"

"He's a Texan. Tall, slim, over 30, light hair and eyes, and a lazy way——"

"I know him," Dave said thinly. "How'd he do it?"

"He and his men just rode in and burned our line camps and drove our riders off and shoved the stock back. All we have now is the house. We fought, but there were too many of them. When the sheriff visited them they showed him the deed of sale from dad. Now dad's taking it to court, but it won't do any good."

"Why won't it?" Dave asked softly.

"They've got the fake witness to the deed—a liar named Sholto—under heavy guard. They're bringing him thru here tomorrow on the way to Sabinal, where they'll take him by train to Santa Fe for the suit. We're on our way now, too."

"What did you want me for?" Dave asked.

Carol blushed, but she looked him straight in the eye. "You won't like this, Dave. But you told me you were a gunman. Everybody said you were. I wanted you to come up and—and drive the Three Rivers outfit off our range."

"That's all right," Dave said tonelessly. "I would have, too."

"But it's too late now! The message took so long to reach you, and in between the deed came to light and dad filed suit." She paused. "Now do you see, you can't help!"

Dave lounged erect from the door and walked into the middle of the room, his hands on his hips. His face was alert, still, curious.

"You think you tolled me into a trap, and you're sorry," he said quietly. "Forget it. They can't take me and they can't hold me and they can't kill me, so quit worryin'. I want some questions answered."

"But——"

"Will you answer them, or do I have to go down the hall and ask your dad, at the point of a gun?"

Carol stared at him and she knew he meant it and she said quickly, "I'll answer them! Only please hurry!"

Dave grinned faintly, arrogantly and said, "One. They must claim they paid your dad something for the land. Did they?"

HELL-BENT FOR WAR

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

The General states his purpose:

"The Lease-Lend Bill has passed. That decision must be accepted by all. All must loyally support it.

"But let us not forget one thing. It was not advanced as a measure either to get us into war or to put us into position to accept responsibility to reconstruct the world after the war. Now it is being assumed, and with a good deal of reason, that it really involved us in war or made such involvement inevitable.

"It has further been announced that its purpose was, in part, to give us a voice in the 'reconstruction of the world' which presupposes a reconquest of Europe. No such thing has been decided by popular mandate after full and free debate. There is still an opportunity and a duty to debate that.

"This book is a brief critical review of the arguments and emotions by which we have been driven thus far 'hell-bent for war.' It is one last critical look before we leap." $1.50

ONTARIO OPENS CROWN LAND TO U.S. SPORTSMEN

Offers 21 Year Leases in Hunting, Fishing Areas.

TORONTO, Ont., April 15 [Special].—In one of the largest conveyances of public lands from government to individuals since the western half of the United States was opened up, the province of Ontario will lease 2 million of its 14 million acres of crown lands to sportsmen, clubs, and commercial camp operators.

This was announced today by Peter Heenan, provincial minister of lands and forests.

Finest for Fishing and Hunting.

Heenan said the properties were tax free, and situated in the finest fishing and hunting grounds in Ontario. They include the districts of Nipigon, known for its brook trout; Lake of the Woods, leading resort area; Rainy River, Algoma, Timiskaming, Thunder bay, Kawartha lakes, and other places a few hours' drive from such border points as Detroit, Buffalo, and Sault Ste. Marie.

New roads have made the districts accessible to visitors. Nearly all the tracts made available are wooded, and high above sea level, and with frontage on fishing water.

Islands to Be Rented.

Heenan said tenants would be limited to single acre plots and to 21 year leases. Thousands of small islands also are to be rented.

While crown lands are not subject to tax, buildings on them are taxed at 1 per cent of their value.

The commissioner said the decision was in response to hundreds of inquiries from American sportsmen's clubs and individuals wishing to establish camps and summer homes in this province, and from business firms wishing to provide vacation places for their employés.

The area embraced in the "happy hunting grounds" is four times that of Rhode Island.

GREEN WILL OPEN PERE MARQUETTE 16 ROOM LODGE

Springfield, Ill., April 15 (AP).—The new lodge at Pere Marquette State park, in Jersey county, near Grafton, will be dedicated May 4 by Gov. Green. Public Works Director Walter A. Rosenfield said the lodge will contain 16 hotel rooms, a dining room, and large lounge for the use of state park visitors. Overnight cabins will be completed by July 2.

In the Mexican state of Vera Cruz, not far from the city of Orizaba. It is a favorite springtime garden spot for travelers from America. The town got its name from the fact that it was the site of a small fort built by the Spaniards in the course of their march toward the capital of the Aztec empire, and from the fact that it has a profusion of flowers, including gardenias, azaleas, gladioli, tuberoses, white lilies, and orchids. It is surrounded by coffee trees, and in the spring the array of coffee blossoms has the appearance of snow covered fields. Near the Municipal building is a permanent flower display. From the town one may view the snow covered Peak of Citlaltepetl—also called Pico de Orizaba—the highest mountain in Mexico.

In THE TRIBUNE the other day I saw a reference to Miami's Matheson Hammock. Please give details. —F. S. M.

It is a new recreation park, covering about 600 acres on the shores of Biscayne bay, less than half an hour's drive from the Miami business section. It is named for the late W. J. Matheson, who donated the property to Dade county for use by the public. In its undeveloped state it was popular with hikers and horseback riders. Within the last year the county authorities have started developing its bathing beach and its anchorage facilities, and these will be finished by midsummer. Much of the tropical atmosphere provided by the shrubs and trees is being retained.

I have been told that southern California's Tournament of Lights is well worth seeing. Where and when is it held? —J. B.

Where is Waterton Lakes national park? —W. E.

In the southwest corner of Alberta, Canada.

Is summer a good time in which to visit the Grand canyon of the Colorado? —D. D. K.

Yes. It is usually fairly cool along the rim, even tho it's hot on the floor of the canyon. Because of the absence of rain and mist, the views are better than in the winter.

BASS AND PIKE HERALD FISHING SEASON'S START

Annual Run Under Way Up Wolf River.

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicagoans who have been suffering from fishing fever are about to obtain relief. The 1941 season is getting under way.

The black bass in Reelfoot lake, in Tennessee, have been knocking lures right and left and will continue to do so for some weeks. In Wisconsin the annual wall-eyed pike run up the Wolf river has started, and it's legal to catch these fish in that stream. Indications point to some good fishing, beginning tomorrow or the next day.

Winneconne, Gills Landing, Weyauwega, and other towns along the Wolf river above Oshkosh are good bets for this early pike fishing, which calls for use of live bait. Only in the Wolf and Fox rivers may one catch pike at this time. The other waters in Wisconsin are not open until the middle of May.

Panfish Legal in Illinois.

Here in Illinois it's legal to take panfish. So the fly rod fishermen are having a good time.

At Escanaba and Menominee, Mich., and Marinette, Wis., this is the week of the big smelt festivals. Altho these parties are mostly fish, and not much actual fishing—because you dip the smelts with a net instead of using a rod and reel—they're fun, and thousands of sportsmen will head north to take part in them.

Reelfoot lake, over night by train from Chicago, is one of the best bets for early spring bass fishing. The recent warm weather started the fish hitting. A message received from there yesterday said: "The bass are tearing up the lake—no fooling. And nearly all the boys are getting a limit."

Lake Made by Quake.

If the weather is right angling is excellent in Reelfoot, the lake made by an earthquake more than 100 years ago. The open season on bass lasts thru April and May. A license good for three days costs $1. If you want to stay longer the nonresident license is $5.

A Chicagoland sportsman appears to have cinched the 1940 world record small mouthed bass title. Kenneth Curtis of Winnetka last year caught one that weighed 13¾ pounds 10 hours after it was taken from the water.

When rival fishermen heard about this oversized bass they thought that it might be a southern large mouthed specimen, but Alfred Weed, curator of fishes at the Field Museum of Natural History, has examined it and he says there is no doubt that it is a true small mouth.

The catch was made in Apopka lake, near Inverness, Fla., on an artificial lure that has the most ominous name in the world of fishing gadgets. It's known as the "Dillinger."

Oversized Bass

Azalea Gardens to Be in Full Bloom by Saturday

Wilmington, N. C., April 15 [Special].—Orton Plantation Gardens, show place of eastern North Carolina, will put on one of its most lavish displays next Saturday, when the Kureme azaleas are scheduled to budst into bloom. Following the blossoming of this dwarf variety, the Indian azaleas will flower, with the result that the annual show will last until the second week of May.

13,520 Visit Nassau in 3 Months of 1941

NASSAU, the Bahamas, April 15 [Special].—This resort had 13,520 visitors in the first three months of 1941, compared with 9,085 in the corresponding period of 1940. This was a gain of 49 per cent. Part of the increase was ascribed to the presence of the duke and duchess of Windsor.

NEARLY ALL MIAMI HOTELS WILL STAY OPEN THIS SUMMER

Miami, Fla., April 15 [Special].—This year, for the first time, nearly every big winter resort hotel in the metropolitan Miami area, will remain open thruout the summer. A survey completed today showed that only two of the 150 canvassed would close their doors.

The decision to keep open was made in anticipation of a record summer crop of tourists and vacationists.

Effective April 1, virtually all the hotels slashed their rates to approximately 50 per cent of the peak winter tariffs. Rooms ranging from $2 to $4 single and from $5 to $8 double are the rule now at many of the leading inns.

Apartment rentals also have been scaled down. Furnished flats which at the season's height brought from $50 to $80 a month are now available at from $35 to $45. These have accommodations for four persons or more. "Efficiency" apartments, suitable for two persons, may be had for less.

The downward trend is visible thruout the area. At Tahiti beach, on Biscayne bay, private cabanas are going for $10 to $12 a month, while beach facilities there cost 25 cents, with an additional 15 cents for private lockers.

LINER SAILS ON MAIDEN VOYAGE AROUND WORLD

New York, April 15 [Special].—The President Garfield has sailed from Jersey City with 53 passengers on her maiden voyage round the world. Capt. J. E. Murphy is the master.

The President Garfield was launched last November. She is the fourth American President liner built recently for round the world service.

She will go thru the Panama canal to California and from there to Honolulu, Manila, and the far east. The homeward trip will be by way of Singapore, Colombo, Bombay, and Cape Town.

Capt. Stedman Is Named Commodore of U. S. Lines

New York, April 15 [Special].—Capt. Giles C. Stedman, master of the flagship America, has been named commodore of the United States Lines. In making the announcement John M. Franklin, president of the company, said Capt. Stedman, 43 years old, probably was the youngest man ever given a command of such responsibility.

Dolly Thomie's Engagement Is Announced in New York

BY JUDITH CASS.

FROM New York comes news of an engagement announcement that climaxes a courtship that breaks almost all records for speed. Mr. and Mrs. Tage Palm, former Chicagoans, gave a dinner last Friday night to announce the engagement of her daughter, Dolly Thomie, to Tom Nerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Einar Nerman of Stockholm, Sweden. Young Mr. Nerman and Miss Thomie had met just the Monday before. He is sailing soon for Sweden to complete his military training.

Mr. Nerman, who has traveled extensively in Europe and North and South America, painting and exploring, recently has been working in Hollywood as an assistant technical director for one of the big producing companies. His father, a well known portrait painter and illustrator in Sweden, and Mrs. Nerman have been visiting in New York, so were present at the announcement dinner. Young Mr. Nerman expects to return to this country in six or eight months and the wedding will take place then.

Miss Thomie attended the Francis W. Parker school when she lived here. Mr. and Mrs. Palm have many friends here and were active in social as well as in Swedish and artistic circles. Mr. Palm was connected with the Swedish exhibits at the Chicago and New York expositions.

Mrs. Hans Schweizer and Alexander Carman to Wed.

More interesting romantic news is that Mrs. Hans Schweizer [Mattie-belle Hubbart] and Alexander Raymond Carman Jr. are planning to be married on April 30. The wedding will be quiet with only the families present. Mrs. Schweizer is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Hubbart of Detroit, formerly of Chicago, who will be here for the ceremony. Mr. Carman is the son of Mrs. Alexander R. Carman of Evanston, where Mrs. Schweizer resides. Mr. Carman and his bride and her little daughter, Heidi, will make their home in Kenilworth.

Owing to the death last Friday of the bridegroom's father, invitations have been recalled for the marriage of Miss Ruth Johnson and Gardiner B. Van Ness Jr. Instead of having a large ceremony at 4:30 o'clock next Saturday in the Church of the Holy Comforter, Kenilworth, they will be married in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Homer Johnson of Kenilworth.

Burgweger-Chancellor Wedding to Be June 21.

Miss Helen Theodocia Chancellor and Francis Dewes Burgweger, who have chosen Saturday, June 21, as their wedding date, have a good start toward a bridal party in their two families. Miss Patty Chancellor will finish her sophomore year at the University of Wisconsin just in time to be her sister's maid of honor, and two younger Chancellor sisters, Imogene and Barbara, who are students at New Trier, will be bridesmaids.

The bride's brother, Justus Chancellor III., will bring his Yale room-

Tribute Paid to Chicago's Greatest Lady

BY MARCIA WINN.

She is Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, who now is 82. Her mother was born within the palisades of Fort Dearborn, and as a child she was chased by a bull on Congress street. In her 82 years she has been associated with almost every episode in Chicago's first 100 years and has taken part in its every development for good, and yesterday she became the first woman to receive the merit award of the Rotary club of Chicago. With it came the loving tribute, "Chicago's leading citizen and most faithful and trusted friend."

The grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman was filled for the occasion with men now high in the life of Chicago. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. in a statement read by James B. Forgan, paid fervent tribute to her "not only for the guidance she has given to our yesterdays, but for the manner in which she continues to inspire us in her leadership for a better way of life."

Mrs. Bowen, field daisies on the black straw hat which nestled on her white hair, then stood up. She smiled maternally at Mr. Forgan who, with Mr. Ryerson, played in her yard when she was a young married woman and they were small boys. In a vibrant, youthful voice she began to talk—of her memories of the Chicago of the past, of her prayers for the Chicago of the present and future.

"I love Chicago," she said simply. "I have lived in it more than 82 years. As I go about the city I see in many different places reminders of my youthful adventures."

At the age of 4, she recalled, she rode her pony every morning to her father's bank at Washington and Clark streets. Later she went to school at Dearborn seminary where Marshall Field & company now stands and was horrified at the sight of a child wearing a dunce cap.

She climbed the fence of her grandfather's home at Wabash avenue and Monroe street to avoid the trampling feet of cattle being driven down the avenue to be slaughtered. She was chased by a bull on Congress street and rushed into the L. Z. Leiter home for succor. She fell into the breakwater where the Illinois Central station now stands, and once, in an excursion underneath the high sidewalks on Michigan avenue, fell over the body of a man who had been murdered.

From the searing days of the civil war she recalled the Chicago Zouaves marching down Michigan avenue in their brilliant uniforms, the prison camp on the far south side, the bitterness between the north and the south. Later her father took her to the courthouse thru crowds of women weeping and in black; he lifted her to his shoulder, and she looked down on the calm, dead face of Lincoln. She saw the city swept by fire and rebuilt.

"I have seen the lake pushed back from our avenues to make way for broad drives and museums and art galleries," she continued. "Beautiful buildings have arisen almost in a day. Parks and playgrounds are laid out in almost every part of the city.

"The city, however, has its plague spots in spite of all one's idealism about it—its black smoke and soot; its dirty alleys filled with garbage collected only once a week, a menace to health; its rat infested buildings, erected shortly after the fire, with their empty windows stuffed with rags, no plumbing, no sanitation."

Yet these, she said in conclusion, are local problems, and hearts and minds now are full of national danger. She reminded her transfixed audience that she has seen four wars—the civil war, the Spanish war, the first world war and the present war "in whose shadow we stand."

Fabric Gloves in Vivid Colors Latest Conceit

BY REA SEEGER.

Spring fashions for that tired feeling, the sort of pickups that never fail, list such new arrivals as fabric gloves [you'll need a dozen or so to see you thru a sticky summer] in all vivid shades, in subtle pastels and in the cool bamboo beige tints and popcorn white.

You'll wear green to cool down violent clashes of color in printed dresses or strong shades of green, red, or yellow for accent duty on dark street clothes such as brown, navy, and black or as the only spike of color with white or beige costume. You'll wear clear lemon yellows and butter yellows with black, with navy, and with dark green and even red.

This wave of yellow has taken the town. . . . Bright sunny yellow hats, dark hats trimmed with butter yellow roses or tied with ribbons of this sunshine color. There will be yellow crêpe, silk and chiffons and thin linen blouses to top or contrast dark gray, navy, copper, and black suits.

Yellow shines triumphant in crisp summer straw cartwheels, in small roguish sailors, and in picture hats of transparent materials. Yellow goes to all the smartest weddings, whether they're held in the garden, in the home or church. Bridesmaids are gowned in yellow and carry flowers with lots of green. They will wear gay green hats and matching gloves and even slippers.

Yellow tweeds slide under topcoats that are made of yellow and mixed plaids, stripes, and checks. Yellow flannel and other soft woolens make the trimmest of summer suits and the cotton crop will also feature sunshine in the clever dye jobs . . . seersucker, chambray, and linen—to name just a few of the future finds.

Costume accessories, bags of all sizes, shapes, and capacity; gloves, short or long; belts, and many lovely pieces of lingerie and summer thin negligees are promised in this new fashion shade.

* On the House *

It is quite possible to change the face of an aging linoleum floor with paint. First, however, remove all evidences of grease and wax with turpentine, since paint will not adhere to them. Then wash the floor well, dry it thoroly, and apply a good grade of floor paint or floor enamel. If you wish a finish that will not show up dusty footmarks, give the floor a spatter finish. You can apply several colors in spattering.

Imagine Yourself In This Girdle!

First—it will not roll over! The patented "Sta-Up-Top" prevents that! Next—it will not ride up! The famous "TwoWay-OneWay" construction hugs your body like a second skin. It slenderizes your figure too, because the sides stretch both ways, while the front and back stretch up and down only. And finally, like all Le Gants, it gives the comfort of elastic with the control of cloth.

ENGAGEMENTS

Announcement was made in Berkeley, Cal., yesterday by Prof. and Mrs. T. Harper Goodspeed of the engagement of their daughter, Ellen, to Allan Oakley Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Hunter of Fresno. Miss Goodspeed has been a student in Berlin, Germany, and at the Banahou school in Honolulu. She was graduated from Miss Head's school in Berkeley and will receive her degree in May from the University of California, where her father is a member of the department of botany and director of the botanical gardens on the campus. Her paternal grandmother, Mrs. George S. Goodspeed of Berkeley, was a former director of Ida Noyes' hall at the University of Chicago. Her maternal grandfather, Solon S. Beman, was a well known architect in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Butts Beem of Hinsdale announce the engagement of their daughter, Joanna, to James Eric Fromm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Fromm of Detroit. Miss Beem attended Connecticut College for Women and will be graduated from the University of Michigan in June.

Mr. and Mrs. George Diver of Dearborn parkway announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Nell, to Jack Steinmiller, son of Mrs. William Steinmiller of Chicago. Miss Diver was graduated from the Marywood School for Girls.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Guest of Albion avenue have announced the engagement of their daughter, Alice-Gene to Samuel Marotta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marotta.

James C. Daley of River Forest announces the engagement of his daughter, Margaret Mary, to George William McGurn, son of Mrs. George W. McGurn of River Forest.

WEDDINGS

Miss Anabel Lee Combs, daughter of Mrs. Lee Combs and the late Judge Combs of Los Angeles, Cal., and George Anderson II., son of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of Chicago, were married on March 8 at the Wee Kirk of the Heather, Las Vegas, Nev. Mr. Anderson studied at Princeton and his bride attended school in Lucerne, Switzerland, before entering Northwestern university.

The marriage of Miss E. Joanne Heinl, daughter of Mrs. John Nicholas Heinl of Cherokee, Ia., to Carl Feickert of Belleville, Ill., took place last Saturday in the Joseph Bond chapel, with a reception following at the Hotel Windermere East. The bride is a graduate of St. Luke's School for Nurses and formerly studied at the University of Chicago and at Columbia Teachers' college. Mr. Feickert, who is president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the state of Illinois, was graduated from the University of Illinois. They will be at home after May 15 in Belleville.

2 Mistakes Wives So Often Make

Because of inward shyness or ignorance, many married women make needless mistakes—risk health, happiness. Why? Generally because feminine hygiene is considered too personal to be discussed. And so many women use over-strong solutions of acids which can burn or scar delicate tissues. Today risks are needless. For science has given womankind Zonite. Non-poisonous, non-caustic, yet kills germs, bacteria on contact. Destroys undesirable odors. Protects personal daintiness. Most important, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles already bought. Free Booklet Tells Intimate Facts. Get this frankly written booklet, "Feminine Hygiene Today"—FREE, sent postpaid in plain wrapper. Send name and address to Zonite Products Corporation, Dept. 338C, 370 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

People in Pictures

Hollywood, April 15.—Ruby Keeler is back at the old bandstand, dancing on the Columbia lot in a picture tentatively titled "Betty Co-ed." She's glad the title will be changed, because in the first place she doesn't play a college girl, and in the second place she thinks she might be confused with Betty Boop or somebody.

It's been five years since Ruby danced in a picture, altho she was in Ex-husband Al Jolson's musical comedy during its road tryout. She seems a little surprised to find herself in a movie again, because the job sort of fell into her lap and she didn't have an agent going around whooping things up. She'd have been happy enough running her Toluca lake home, mothering her adopted son and improving her golf—which needs no improvement because she has a 7 handicap—at nearby Lakeside. But now that she's in the picture she is happy enough, too.

Ruby is 32. She was born in Halifax, grew up in New York. Went to public schools and the noted professional children's school. At 13 she was in the chorus of "The Rise of Rosie O'Reilly." She danced in Texas Guinan's El Fey club, a speakeasy. She got top spots in Florenz Ziegfeld's "Whoopee" and "Show Girl." She came to Hollywood 13 years ago, married Al Jolson. Made a hit in the Warners' musical "42d Street," which was the first picture to have a junket World Première with special train and everything. Was starred in a number of musicals. Became an ex-star and Jolson's ex-wife—and now finds herself back in the limelight again.

Oscar Smith is smarter than most actors. He has a trade to fall back on. In fact, you might say that Mr. Smith is a well established bootblack with acting for a hobby. He is one of the most popular colored comedians in the flicker business, but in recent years has had stiff competition from Mr. Benny's Rochester and Mr. Zanuck's Ben Carter. However, as far as I know, Rochester can't do anything but act. Carter, like Oscar Smith, has a sideline; he's a colored actors' agent.

Oscar, Paramount's official bootblack—and it's a secure lifetime job—has had to drop his brush and paste and whip into two movies. He's working simultaneously in the Bob Hope-Paulette Goddard "Nothing But The Truth" and in John Barrymore's "World Première." In the former he plays a bootblack; in the later he's the head man of some railroad station redcaps.

Oscar can take acting or leave it, so he's a man among thousands in Hollywood. He has his other trade. He maintains a gabardine uniform which he wears when he's a bootblack in a picture—a uniform which can be changed from film to film by altering the insignia on the shirt pocket. "Ah gets paid as an actor so Ah can furnish mah services and equipment free fo' the one price," he says.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the best spring tonics we know of is a new hairdress. There's nothing quite like changing your hair arrangement—and changing it radically—to make you see yourself with new eyes. If it's a success you'll find yourself dressing and even thinking up to its smart lines.

When you do change your hairdress give yourself at least twenty-four hours to get used to it if it's completely unlike the way you've been wearing your hair. Get the comment of friend and foe, and a few good views of yourself in different costumes and then decide whether or not you'll stick with it.

Most of us are so used to seeing the same old face framed by the same old hairdress that we're not able to judge immediately whether a new coiffure is a success. Its very strangeness terrifies us. But, nine times out of ten, a change is for the better—if you place yourself in the hands of a good hairdresser.

The hairdress of the very young is pretty standard, and perhaps that's all right. But the woman over twenty-five who doesn't groom her hair to the utmost is making a grave mistake. The more mature you become the more necessary it is to give facial contour at least the illusion of lift by a hair arrangement that is crisp and chic. If you stick with the same old coiffure year in and year out you're probably looking older than you need to.

Besides, a new hairdress, like a new hat, does wonderful things for your morale!

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

There were, it seems, Ziegfeld girls and Ziegfeld girls. Those who could take it—the glamor, the gifts and the guys—and those who couldn't.

This two hour and some minutes long picture relates, tediously at times, the tales of three maidens who suddenly and unexpectedly found themselves in the limelight of a Ziegfeld "Follies" show.

One [Hedy Lamarr] chooses a career rather than to traipse along with her violin playing husband, whom she loves very dearly. She feels that by being in the "Follies" she can help him more than by just being a wife. For her Franz has NOT been lucky in landing jobs. But he has a mind of his own and he gives her an ultimatum. She must choose between Ziegfeld and him. . . .

The second [Judy Garland], who has been doing a vaudeville act with her father [Charles Winniger], attracts the attention of a Ziegfeld scout [Mr. Horton], who brings Ziegfeld to watch her perform and is able to offer her a job—MINUS papa. She rebels, but her father sees the handwriting on the wall and insists that she seize her opportunity. . . : She makes good in a great, big way.

Then there is the blonde [Lana Turner] engaged to a truck driver [Jimmy Stewart] who chooses the easiest way—in the company of that handsome and wealthy philanderer [Ian Hunter], who falls for her the minute he sees her strutting down glittering stairs on an opening night. . . . She comes to a sad end. . . .

The show is gorgeously caparisoned and very well acted but it tries to encompass too much.

See you tomorrow.

Mock chicken legs are made from ground breast of veal, which is shaped into drumsticks around wooden skewers. The retail meat dealer will make them up for you. They're cooked by braising, that is, with a cover and a small amount of liquid.

MOCK CHICKEN LEGS.

Buy one apiece for moderately hungry persons, two for the man of the family or for any one else who likes a large serving of meat. Roll them in flour seasoned with salt and pepper, and brown all around in a small amount of hot fat in a skillet. Add a few slices of onion, if you like. Then add ½ cup sour cream [for 4 to 6 drumsticks], cover the skillet, and turn down the heat. Let cook very slowly for half an hour. The cooking may be done in a 325 degree oven.

Baked Stuffed Potatoes.

[Serves Four.]

4 baking potatoes
⅓ cup milk
Salt, pepper
4 tablespoons butter
1 egg
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon paprika.

Bake potatoes at 450 degrees for 45 minutes, or until tender. Cut into halves lengthwise, or simply slice off the top of each potato and scoop out the interior. Sieve or mash potato, and add hot milk, salt, pepper, and butter to season. Divide potato mixture into two parts. To one part add chopped green pepper, parsley, and lemon juice. Fold in beaten egg white. To other part add beaten egg yolk and paprika. Pile two kinds of potato back into shells and brown for 10 minutes in the oven.

TOASTED FRENCH BREAD.

Cut a loaf of French bread into slices, but leave them attached at the bottom. Spread melted butter on both sides of the slices and heat quickly in a moderately hot oven. Let each person break off his own slice of hot, buttery bread.

Coconut Custard.

[Serves Four.]

2 cups milk, scalded
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup sugar
⅓ cup shredded coconut
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon orange extract

Combine ingredients and fill buttered custard cups. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, until a knife inserted into one of the custards comes out without any of the mixture adhering to it. Allow about an hour for baking. Serve the custards warm or chilled, with or without a sauce. Chocolate sauce or a little maple sirup poured over each serving dresses up this simple dessert.

"I give you the actual bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	1 spade
2 hearts	3 clubs	4 hearts	Pass
Pass	5 clubs	5 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

"The five club bid could have been murdered by reasonably good defense, but South felt he had a good play for five hearts and couldn't visualize the disaster that awaited East and West.

"West opened the club queen; East's ace smothered North's king and West trumped the club return. West led the spade king and North's ace won.

"South had not been too disappointed about the club ruff, as he expected a freak hand as soon as he saw the dummy. He was relieved when the spade ace stood up, and immediately concentrated on the possible diamond loser. East had left only four cards outside the club suit, so the finesse seemed fairly certain to be right. However, South took the precaution to immediately trump a spade. He returned a trump to North's ace and trumped another spade. Then he cashed all his hearts. East was marked with exactly two diamonds and West had to keep a spade so that North's spade ten would not become a winner. So South simply cashed the king and ace of diamonds, knowing that the queen would have to drop because neither East nor West could have three diamonds left. The remaining diamond was good for the last trick.

"When South saw that East had the diamond queen, he was very glad he had played carefully. Only one other pair in the game made five hearts and those who doubled a club or spade contract, doubled too soon and only collected a one or two trick set.—R. W., Pennsylvania."

No comment is needed except to echo my correspondent's sentiments about the value of a "count" of the opponents' distribution. Such a count is easy to obtain in many cases, and it is always worthwhile.

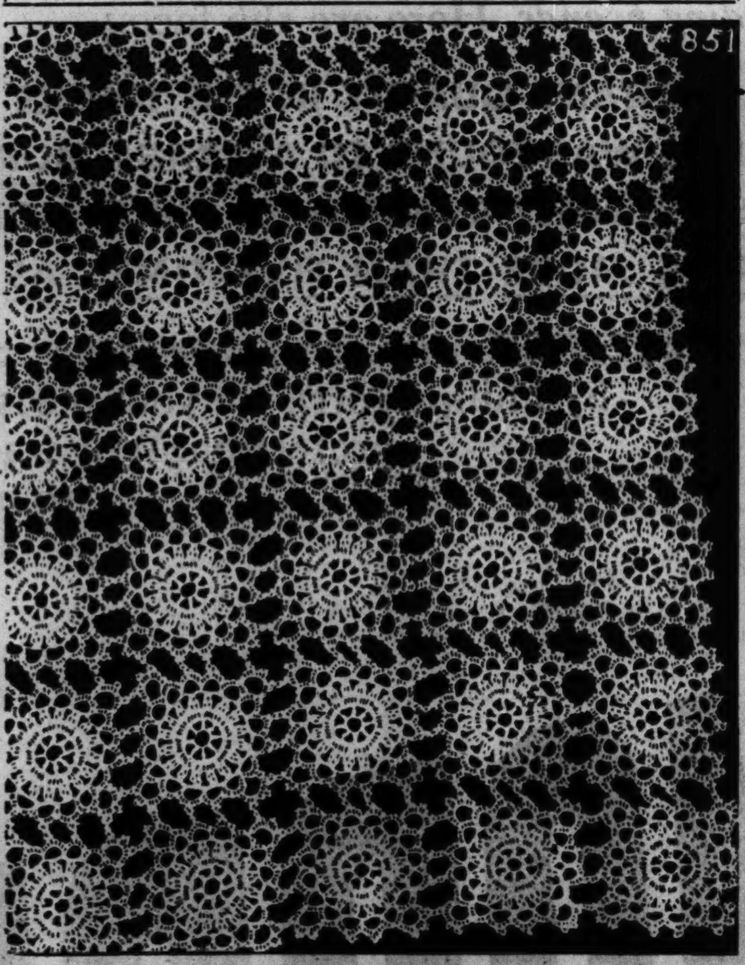
Rose Cluster Medallion



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This crocheted rose cluster medallion creates a luncheon doily beautiful enough to set before a queen. It is extremely simple to create, and one medallion may be made in approximately 15 minutes. Each doily is composed of 35 small medallions, so it is a simple matter to determine how long it will take to create a set of eight pieces. Ivory mercerized crochet cotton is the medium suggested, and the result will be heirloom pieces which are priceless.

For instructions in crocheting the rose cluster medallion, No. 851, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Famed Cellist, Violinist Heard in War Benefit

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A lavish concert which offered not one but two internationally known soloists was given in Orchestra hall last night by the American Jewish congress for the benefit of the British war relief fund.

The Vienna born violinist, Erica Morini, was heard in the Mendelssohn concerto. The Russian cellist, Raya Garbousova, played the Saint-Saëns. An orchestra drawn from the Woman's symphony offered Bloch's Concerto Grosso and Weiner's F-Minor Serenade besides playing the orchestral parts for the soloists. Izler Solomon conducted.

Miss Morini's performance was a miraculous one, partly because of the way her tone succeeded in being both pure and intense at the same time, partly because of her ability to give a phrase an exquisite flexibility without ever letting it sound loose jointed.

Miss Garbousova brought to the theatrical Saint-Saëns concerto almost as great a showmanship as that of its creator. Her playing had a fine headlong quality when the music called for it. At other times her tone became as rich and sweet as a particularly good brand of maple sirup. She permitted herself very little of the gruffness which is a birthright of cellists.

This program, drawn as it was entirely from the works of Jewish composers, was an imposing demonstration of the powers of that incredible race which came out of Asia to become more European than the Europeans and which was responsible in very much greater degree than its numbers would lead one to expect in actually setting the artistic and intellectual tone of modern Europe.

The audience was large and friendly. Soloists, conductor, and orchestra were the recipients of big ovations.

Julian Leviton, a winner of the Society of American Musicians' young artist contest, played a recital in Kimball hall last night. On the basis of a hearing of two small sections of his program, Mr. Leviton seems to be a pianist of considerable technical proficiency with a style which has dignity without stiffness. His tone was almost consistently good.

Packed House Hears Singing of 'Rigoletto'

Full houses are the rule this week at the Auditorium theater, where the San Carlo Opera company is currently installed. Another virtually capacity audience turned out last night to witness the performance of "Rigoletto." The cast was a familiar one: Ivan Petroff in the title rôle, Lucille Meusel as Gilda, Rolf Gerard as the Duke, Harold Kravitt as Sparafucile, Charlotte Bruno as Maddalena, and Richard Wentworth as Monterone.

Verdi's melodramatic masterpiece pursued a quieter course than usual, largely because none of the principals possess either large or brilliant voices. Additionally, Mr. Petroff conceives the focal rôle with less violent physical movement than most other Rigolettos, giving the character dignity and sympathy at the expense of theatricality.

Yet if the presentation lacked vocal and histrionic thunder, it had other excellences to warrant its enthusiastic reception by the audience. Mr. Petroff sang with great smoothness, while phrasing his arias with a moving simplicity Miss Meusel brought to Gilda's music her usual good taste and accuracy. In the pit Carlo Peroni moved the opera along at a good pace but seemed to keep the orchestra subdued for the singers' sake. Mr. Gerard brought a surprising forcefulness to his singing in the third act.

Music Notes

The Chicago Christian High School and Alumni a cappella choirs will be heard in concert at Orchestra hall next Friday evening. Both groups will be directed by James Baar.

The Symphonic Singers of Stout institute, Menomonie, Wis., will give a concert at Kimball hall next Saturday evening. Harold Ray Cooke is the director. A part of the program will utilize a 14 piece string ensemble for accompaniments.

April 16, 1941.

Universal day—Don't be too eager to dominate the situation today, but at the same time keep in the driver's seat.

If you were born on the 3d, 12th, 21st, or 30th of any month and are over 26 or under 56 then you are in the middle period of life influenced by the number of your birthdate which is in this case the number three. This means that you ought to be having a pleasant middle period enjoying friends and taking special pleasure in the exchange of friendship and in the daily contacts with people. You also should be developing your talents and expressing them to their fullest right now. If you are inclined to be light-minded and to spend too much of your time at the beauty parlor, if you are a woman, and if a man, too much time with the boys just talking, then you are wasting the opportunities of this middle period. There is need for the light touch, but not too light. It can be a very active time, keeping you busy with more irons in the fire than you can handle.

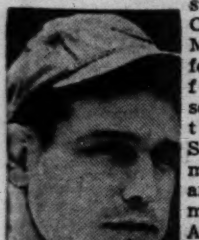
CUBS WIN, 7-4; SOX BEAT FELLER, INDIANS, 4-3

PASSEAU NIPS PIRATES' NINTH INNING RALLY

Nicholson Connects with Two On.

BY EDWARD BURNS.



Bill Nicholson.

Claude Passeau's good right arm, Bill Nicholson's big home run bat, swell work by Catcher Clyde McCullough, offensively and defensively, and some timely hitting by Lou Stringer, which more than balanced four errors made by the Los Angeles rookie flash, yesterday were the principal items in the Cubs' conquest of the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 4, in the National league opener in Wrigley field.

At the outset it appeared the 17,008 inaugural customers were to see Passeau pitch to only one batsman. Frankie Gustine, Pirate leadoff man, whistled a line drive against the ace's left shin and as Claude went down and players from both teams ran to the center of the diamond, the betting was 100 to 1 a fracture had been suffered. But after several minutes on the ground and several more consumed in hopping around, Passeau went back to work. He lasted the full game and never was in great danger until the ninth inning, when the Pirates got two runs home and had the bases loaded with one out.

Strike Out Ends Game.

The game ended when Elby Fletcher flied weakly to Nicholson and Vince DiMaggio fanned.

Nicholson's highly essential homer was knocked into the right center field bleachers in the third inning, driving in three runs to round out a five run inning and a total which proved adequate for victory.

Bob Klinger, assigned the task of pitching the Pirates to their eighth successive opening day victory, didn't allow a Cub to get on base in the first two innings.

Arky Vaughan, in the third, drove in Deb Garms with the first of his two triples to give the Pirates a 1 to 0 lead. The Cubs immediately accepted this as a challenge.

That Big Third.

The Weather Gets Assist in Cubs' Opener

BY ARCH WARD.

Jimmy Gallagher, the Cubs' general manager, convinced opening day spectators yesterday that there is a new order of affairs at Wrigley field. Even the weather was different. When the game started it was more like an afternoon in June than in mid-April.

◆

For the first time since memory of man runneth not to the contrary Jack Bramhall's band was missing from the opening day exercises. It was replaced by a swing orchestra perched high in the center field bleachers. It is probable Bramhall's tooters still would have been on the job if some one in other years had been so thoughtful as to remove them as far as possible from the customers.

◆

Vern Olsen, who beat the Pirates four out of five games last year, will pitch for the Cubs today. The Pirates will rely on Rip Sewell, who won two and lost two against the Cubs in 1940. Charley Root is scheduled to work for the Cubs when they open the Cardinals' home season in St. Louis Friday.

◆

Dr. Andrew Hemingway Lotshaw, whose crackling repartee has floored every ball player who ever tried to bandy words with him, has been seriously handicapped the last few weeks. The Cub trainer's plates have been bothering him lately and his delivery, sans his china teeth, loses most of its zip.

◆

Frankie Frisch, manager of the Pirates, wishes the Cubs would remove Charley Grimm from the coaching lines. "I can't even work up a good hate against the club with him wisecracking at first base," Frisch complains.

◆

The officials included the dean and the baby of National league umpires—Beans Reardon, who is beginning his 16th year, and Jocko Conlan, who is just starting his major league career.

◆

Al Balder is the new scoreboard operator at Wrigley field. He has replaced the late Charles Taubman, who had served in that capacity for more than 40 years.

◆

Next Tuesday will be the first Ladies' day game at Wrigley field. The world champion Cincinnati Reds will be the Cubs' opponents.

◆

The Cub-Pirate game was the only major league contest played on central time yesterday. The other game scheduled on central time was at St. Louis, but it was postponed because of rain. As soon as daylight time is effective in Chicago there will be only one major league city operating on central standard.

◆

"I wish those fellows were enjoying their peak years," remarked Manager Jimmy Wilson while Dizzy Dean, Bill Lee, and Charley Root were working side by side in fungo practice before the game. The three in their best seasons accounted for 78

CARDINALS WHIP REDS, 7 TO 3, IN HOME RUN BOUT

Cincinnati, O., April 15 (AP).—With a blast of home runs that dazed 34,940 people who had come for something else, the St. Louis Cardinals today confirmed advance suspicions that they are the challengers of the National league by outhomering the world champion Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 3.

Paul Derringer, co-ace of the Cincinnati pitching staff, couldn't survive home runs by Ernie Koy and Enos Slaughter, and Joe Beggs yielded a homer to Johnny Mize in the ninth.

Frank McCormick, the league's most valuable player, contributed a pair of homers and a single, but three double plays cut the Reds down almost every other time they threatened.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 15 (AP).—The Phillies, showing a new found punch, won their opening game of the season today, beating the Boston Bees, 6 to 5, behind Cy Blanton's four hit pitching before 10,595 in Shibe park.

Blanton pitched no-hit ball for 6 2-3 innings before Carvel Rowell beat out a bunt. Max West then followed with a homer. In the ninth Eddie Miller hit into the left field stands with two on for the Bees' other three runs.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

LEFTY GROVE, Boston Red Sox pitcher who has won 293 major league games, has defeated the Detroit Tigers 60 times, which is 19 more victories than Dungan Rigney of the White Sox, a star pitcher himself, has scored against all opposition in his big league career. . . . Probably the most enthusiastic word of congratulation received by Elmer Layden after his appointment as commissioner of professional football was from the high commissioner of baseball, K. M. Landis. . . . Booker Beckwith, who many predict will whip Billy Conn, former light heavyweight champion, and Anton Christoforidis, present title holder, when and if they meet, has given Promoter Bill Rand an option on his services for five years. . . . During an exhibition game with the Athletics in California, Jimmie Dykes, White Sox manager, began needling Sam Chapman, the Athletics' center fielder. . . . Between innings Connie Mack reprimanded the south side skipper in what for Connie was highly abusive language. . . . Know what he said? . . . "You should be ashamed of yourself, James." . . . Michigan State college hopes the time is not distant when it will be a member of the Western conference. . . . A national magazine last week apologized for the publication of a recent article entitled "How to Keep Athletes in College," which was an indictment of the athletic policies at the University of Alabama. . . . The editors learned that most of the author's allegations were without foundation in fact. . . . It is likely that other magazines would have found similar stories they have published equally difficult to confirm, if they had the enterprise to investigate. . . . The market for pieces exaggerating the evils and distorting the policies of intercollegiate sport is steadily drying up. . . . You can't fool all the people all of the time. . . .

Leonard Dornell, Duke university end who was expected to join the Chicago Cardinals next fall, has enlisted in the Naval air force. . . . The favorite after dinner drink of Greasy Neale, new coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, is five or six dry martinis. . . . Nick Kearns, Big Ten official, has worked in 269 Purdue basketball games, and is still acceptable to the Boilermakers' fiery little coach, Ward Lambert, which should give you some idea of Kearns' ability. . . . George Svendsen, Green Bay Packer center, has returned to the University of Minnesota to work for a master's degree. . . . Billy Burke, 1931 National Open golf champion, is one of the most virile gents in sport, but don't be surprised if you find him doing needlepoint. . . . He has been known to give some of the feminine members of the golfing set many a good pointer.

LEXINGTON TALKS JUST ONE THING; —IT'S THE DERBY

BY HOWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 15.—Horse racing fans have picked this capital of the blue grass region as a point of vantage from which to size up the prospects of the leading Kentucky Derby candidates. Along the rail and beside the paddock of the Keeneland track, in hotel lobbies, and Lexington street corners, you'll hear them talking about how Warren Wright's Whirlaway worked a mile this morning in 1:38 1-5 and went out the mile and an eighth in 1:52. You'll hear others come back with remarks that some of those horses now in the east—such as Porter's Cap or King Cole—are going to be hard to beat.

The Kentucky horsemen will get a look at two more Derby candidates tomorrow when the Walmac farm's Bushwhacker and New Englander go to the post in the Roodwood purse at a mile and a sixteenth. R. W. McIlvain, Chicago business man who owns Walmac farm, sent this pair down to Oaklawn for preliminary training during the winter.

Today's Effort Important.

Tho they made one start at that track, neither was ready for the effort but they have been coming on steadily since being shipped to Keeneland. Tomorrow's race is expected to give a good line on whether they're far enough along to be serious contenders on Derby day—May 3—at Churchill Downs.

Within the next two weeks Derby fans will have considerably more fuel to fire up their discussions. Events at Keeneland, Jamaica, and Havre de Grace will go a long way toward establishing the leading public choices on Derby day. On that afternoon, of course, it is not impossible that some horse no one paid any attention to will come along and make all the preliminary speculation useless by scoring at long odds, as Gallahadion did last year.

Form Players Not Discouraged.

Therefore the result of last season's Derby hasn't discouraged the form players a bit. They're going to be watching as intently as ever to see what happens in the Chesapeake stakes and the Experimental handicap next Saturday at Havre de Grace and Jamaica, respectively; the Blue Grass stakes a week from Thursday at Keeneland, and the Wood Memorial a week from Saturday at Jamaica.

Sox and Indians Play to Biggest Crowd in Majors

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Yesterday's seven major league openers attracted 195,339 fans, exceeding the 1940 turnout for eight contests, which was 183,957. The record opening day total of 249,010 was set in 1931.

The White Sox and Indians played before the day's biggest crowd, 46,064, in Cleveland. In fact, the three American league games drew 101,192 to the National league's four game total of 94,147. The world champion Cincinnati Reds' 34,940 was the largest turnout in the National league. The Browns and Tigers were rained out in St. Louis. Attendance figures follow:

Chubby Dean and A's Whip Yankees, 3 to 1

New York, April 15 (AP).—Lovell [Chubby] Dean of the Philadelphia Athletics has the New York Yankees' number—on opening day at least.

A year ago he battled Red Ruffing for 10 innings in which each parceled out six hits and then he drove in a run in the extra inning for a 2 to 1 victory.

Today he again opposed Ruffing and handcuffed the Yanks on five hits for a 3 to 1 triumph before 40,128 fans who turned out for New York's home opening.

The game was a scoreless struggle until, with two out in the seventh, Dick Siebert singled and Sam Chapman hit a homer. Then, with two out in the ninth, Siebert singled for the third straight time and Rookie Pete Suder doubled him home.

DIETRICH GOES ROUTE; 46,064 SEE INAUGURAL

Bob Pays for 1940 No-Hit Triumph.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bill Dietrich.

Cleveland, O., April 15.—The White Sox today demanded and received payment for the no-hit suffering caused them by the renowned Bob Feller in the 1940 American league opener.

This afternoon, before 46,064 in the vast municipal stadium, James Dykes' battalion caught up with the same Bob Feller in the 1941 inaugural. But they shook off his deadly pitching in six innings and then charged along merrily behind the brilliance of Bill Dietrich to crown themselves with a 4 to 3 triumph over the highly touted Indians.

If there was any fear among the Sox that Feller might again delay by at least 24 hours their entrance into the hit column, they eliminated it in a hurry. The Iowan's wildness gave the Sox an opening at the very outset and they piled on three solid blows in the first inning to put the speedy, curving marvel on the defensive with a two run handicap.

Sox Cinch It in Sixth.

Later on the Indians tied it but the Sox bounced back in the sixth with two more runs, thus putting an end to their nemesis who probably was hurried on his way by what one of Dietrich's pitches did to his salary arm.

The little incident which might have taken something from Feller's powerful arm was part of a game in which only he and Dietrich participated. Feller hit Bill Knickerbocker harmlessly to start the battle. In the second inning Bob hit Dietrich on the right arm above the elbow. Bill curled up in the dust, but in a few moments he arose laughing. He was taken to the clubhouse for examination, Don Kolloway meanwhile doing the running by courtesy of the Cleveland management.

The next act in the puncturing duel, all accidental of course, came in the fifth inning. With an Indian on base and none out, a wide pitch by Dietrich rammed into Feller's arm just below the shoulder. The Indians got the tying run out of it, but only because Knickerbocker erred in judging where to make a throw.

Lodigiani, Rosenthal Get Busy.

In the sixth Dario Lodigiani and Larry Rosenthal, who between them collected four of the six hits off the Cleveland ace, opened with safe drives. Then Feller lost control completely. He walked three to force in what proved the winning run.

Dietrich started his job at such a dizzy pace that the Indians couldn't solve him for even one hit in three innings. In the fourth business picked up for them but they scored only once despite a double, a single and another double. They got their fifth inning run, altho making only one hit. Dietrich chilled them in a hurry after they had put two men on with none out in the sixth and in the subsequent innings enjoyed comfortable travel except for a homer produced by Ray Mack in the eighth.

Solters Drives in First Run.

Feller opened the season with two strikes, but his next pitch grazed Knickerbocker on the right forearm. Luke Appling wasn't very pleased when Umpire Bill Summers called him out on strikes. Joe Kuhel drew free passage, whereupon Julius Solters pommeled a single into left, Knickerbocker scoring. Lodigiani also singled to left, sending Kuhel home, but Solters foolishly tried for third and was nailed on Gerry Walker's throw to Lou Boudreau. Rosenthal cut into the party by singling to center, but Mike Kreevich grounded to Mack for the third out.

After recovering from the effects of Feller's errant pitch in the second Dietrich proved in the home half he was still strong. With one out Appling allowed Walker's easy roller to slip thru his hands and thus disturbed the temperamental Dietrich to such an extent that he passed Heath. But nothing worse followed than Mack's pop-up, which Knickerbocker handled, and a tap by Rollie Hemsley which Dietrich tossed to Kuhel.

The Sox missed out by inches on a run in the fourth which started with a pass to Rosenthal and a pass to Dietrich after two were out. Knickerbocker drove a liner over short, but it wasn't quite high enough to elude Boudreau's leap. Then Dietrich opened the home fourth by fanning Boudreau, but met up immediately with his first setback. Trosky's long fly slipped off Kreevich's fingers for a double and the Indians' first hit. Walker popped out, but Heath singled to right, scoring Trosky. Mack doubled to left and Heath was on his way to score but fell flat on his face after rounding third and was nailed at the plate.

The Indians Get Gay.

Hemsley opened the fifth with a single to left. A passed ball sent the one time rollicking Rollie to second and first was soon occupied when Feller was hit. The runners moved along on Roy Weatherly's bunt. Knickerbocker made a beautiful capture of Ken Keltner's grounder and had Hemsley trapped between third and home. The instant Knickerbocker chose the long throw to third, Rollie tore for the plate and made it easily. Boudreau flied out, Trosky was passed, and Walker fouled to Lodigiani to end the inning.

Feller's fadeout began in the sixth with Lodigiani's single to left and Rosenthal's double into right center, sending Lodigiani to third. He scooted home on Kreevich's long fly to Weatherly.

Feller Loses Control.

Then Feller lost his bearings. He walked Dietrich, one of the pitches driving Bill into the dirt for protection. Knickerbocker also walked, filling the bases. When Appling walked, Tresh scored. But Feller ended his day's work by fanning Kuhel.

SMITH VS. MILNAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., April 15.—Eddie Smith, who was on the unfortunate end of a 1 to 0 score when Bob Feller pitched the no-hit 1940 opener at Comiskey park, will carry the pitching banner tomorrow for the White Sox. The Indians' starter will be Al Milnar, also a left hander.

Passeau and Cubs Defeat Pirates, 7-4

two singles, putting McCullough on third, whence Clyde scored on Stan Hack's fly to Van Robays. Eddie Waitkus popped to Vaughan, but Dom Dallessandro walked. Then Nicholson smashed that homer, scoring behind Passeau and Dallessandro. Lou Novikoff struck out, but the Cubs then had all the runs they needed, tho they did add two more for good measure off Joe Bowman in the fourth on a pass to Stringer, McCullough's second single, Passeau's second single, and Stan Hack's only hit of the game.

Every one in the Cub cast except Novikoff got on base, and all but Novikoff and Dallessandro made at least one hit.

Pirates Don't Bounce Back.

The Pirates made a dozen hits to 11 for the Cubs, but nine of their total were made after Passeau had been fortified with a 5 to 1 lead. Claude had his strikeout ball working when the jamming became too ominous.

The Pirates didn't bounce back very well in the fourth after the Cubs' five run salvo. DiMaggio's second single constituted the total of damage done to Passeau in the inning. And Klinger disappeared from the scene after Stu Martin was sent up to hit for him and supplied the third out.

Ken Heintzelman took over the Pirate pitching chore at the start of the fourth inning. Herman led off with a single, but was picked off first by Heintzelman. Stringer made his second hit, a single, but was forced by McCullough. Passeau popped to Vaughan.

Bowman Is Touched Up.

Bowman, after batting for Heintzelman in the sixth, also accepted Ken's pitching responsibilities. And the Cubs made merry for a pair of runs after two were out. Novikoff lined to Garms and Herman knocked his second single. Herman was caught trying to steal second, after which Stringer walked. McCullough rammed a single past Garms and Passeau singled to right, scoring Stringer and putting McCullough on third. Hack also singled to right, McCullough scoring and Passeau taking third. Bowman threw out Waitkus.

The Pirates got their second run in the seventh. Vaughan banged his second triple, after two were out, and scored when Van Robays caromed a single off Passeau's glove. Elliott forced Van Robays to get the inning over.

The trouble in the ninth inning started when Bowman singled to right. On a grounder back of second base by Gustine, Stringer attempted a glove-hand throw to Herman in an attempt to force Bowman, but the throw was wild and both runners were safe. Garms then singled to right, scoring Bowman and moving Gustine to second. Waitkus took Vaughan's foul fly, but Van Robays singled, scoring Gustine. Elliott bounced a grounder at Stringer and the rookie received his fourth demerit when the ball went thru him, filling the bases. Fletcher sent a short fly to Nicholson and the inning and game ended when DiMaggio struck out.

victories. Dean turned in 30; Root, 26, and Lee, 22.

Pitcher Claude Passeau says the No. 13 on the back of his uniform was in no way responsible for the injury to his leg incurred when he was felled by a drive from Frank Gustine's bat in the first inning.

William Benswanger, president of the Pirates, saw the opening game, which may or may not have been responsible for the fact that his athletes began their pre-game warmup at 12 o'clock.

John La Porte, a freshman at Lakeview High school, has replaced his brother, Vito, as the Cubs' bat boy.

The Pirates' caps are the gaudiest headgear the major leagues have seen in years. The crown is blue, the peak red and the trimmings are white. The red, white and blue motif is carried out in the socks.

There are no buds on the vines in front of the bleachers, which is a tough break for the hitters who will have to wait until the leaves come out to enjoy a good background for the pitchers' slants.

Yesterday was homecoming for Rip Collins, reserve first baseman of the Pirates, and a former Cub. Rip would rather sit on the bench in the major league than to lead the hitters in the minors.

One afternoon in California the Pirates collected $71 as their share of an exhibition gate. That night Frankie Frisch fined a player $200 for violation of training rules. When Coach Mike Kelly met Frisch at breakfast the next morning he remarked: "We take in more money at night than we do in the daytime, don't we, Frank?"

What Every Man Knows.

Each of us knows in his very own heart
How small he may be or how great,
Knowledge like that doesn't come from without,
It's ourselves tell us just where we rate;
Many a "great" man has perhaps been amused
At the halo he's given to wear,
While deep in himself he quietly knows
Just how little he merits this flair.

Every man knows his own value,
Whether he shows it or not,
A man may be lowly and humble,
Yet still be content with the spot
That's been marked out for him in the plan of things,
And is happy to have it so,
We needn't be told if we're big shots or not—
In our hearts these are things we all know!

Catcher Frankie Pytlak blasted a double against Sid Hudson to launch the Sox' winning surge and then Ted Williams, out of competition with a foot injury since March 19, set the stage with a pinch hit single. Hudson was replaced by Danny MacFayden after Pete Fox connected safely and MacFayden purposely passed Jimmy Foxx to fill the bases. He then gave Manager Joe Cronin a walk on five pitched balls.

The Giants scored against Wyatt in the fifth when he walked two men and Johnny Rucker tripled. The latter uprising included three singles and a pair of doubles by Joe Orengo and Bill Jurges. Score:

HOOSIERS LEAD BIG TEN MILERS —BY A MILE

Count on Cam Kane for 9th Title in 11 Years.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Indiana university has had a strangle hold on the Western conference one mile championship in the last decade. Except in 1938 and 1939 when Chuck Fenske and Walter Mehl of Wisconsin whipped the Hoosier entries, Indiana has held the title.

In 1938 Fenske defeated Mel Trutt, Jimmy Smith, and Tommy Deckard of the Hoosier team, who finished in that order, but he failed by one-tenth of a second of equaling the Big Ten record of 4:10.8 which Indiana's Don Lash established in 1936. In 1939 Mehl barred Trutt's bid for the mile championship on the University of Michigan track.

Here's the Score.

1931	Rodney Leas, Indiana	4:18.6
1932	Henry Brocksmith, Indiana	4:21.1
1933	Charles Hornbostel, Indiana	4:21.5
1934	Charles Hornbostel, Indiana	4:23.8
1935	Don Lash, Indiana	4:14.4
1936	Don Lash, Indiana	4:10.8
1937	Don Lash, Indiana	4:14.4
1938	Charles Fenske, Wisconsin	4:10.9
1939	Walter Mehl, Wisconsin	4:14.3
1940	Campbell Kane, Indiana	4:15.0

Unless the army draft prevents—Kane likely will be called for service late this summer—the 1940 champion can equal Don Lash's record by winning three one-mile championships. If he desires he might also break Lash's conference record, for he ran the mile in the Chicago relays last month in 4:11, only one-fifth of a second off the mark. Kane, of course, can not equal Lash's record of six championships. Lash also won the two mile title for three years while Kane, who competes in the half mile as well as the mile, was beaten last spring by Ed Buxton of Wisconsin in this race.

CAMPBELL KANE.

Comes Up as Basket Star.

Cam [his campus nickname] came from Valparaiso, Ind., to Indiana university with a reputation as a basketball player in which he had competed for four years in high school. Because he wished to get into condition he chose cross country running for that purpose.

As a freshman at Indiana, Kane soon discovered he didn't care for cross country running or for any long races, for that matter, but he was a good team man and for two varsity seasons he has contributed points in cross-country while preparing for the indoor and outdoor track competition. He bettered several of the marks Lash established in his freshman year.

Kane was the first Indiana university freshman to compete in the annual Princeton university invitational meet, a track fixture suspended this year because of the European war. He finished behind Charles Beetham and John Borican.

Later that summer he won the National A. A. U. junior 800 meter race and the following afternoon finished behind Beetham in the senior event.

Sets Record at New Orleans.

In his sophomore year Kane set a record in the half mile in the New Orleans games held in conjunction with the Sugar bowl football game. He was undefeated at this distance until Buxton whipped him in the conference indoor half mile in the University of Chicago fieldhouse. Kane ran this race after he previously had taken the mile championship. This same handicap in the 1940 outdoor meet in Dyche stadium, Northwestern, undoubtedly contributed to his defeat again by Buxton.

Running anchor on the Indiana two mile relay team in the Hoosier relays last April Kane covered the half mile in 1:53.5, which probably was the fastest half mile ever run indoors on a 1/7 mile dirt track. Indiana was beaten by Michigan, however, in the two mile relay in the Drake games last year.

Keeps on Winning.

After the Big Ten meet Kane won the half mile in the competition between that conference and the Pacific coast conference. He then won the National Collegiate half mile in Minneapolis. Kane has not lost a half mile or mile race this year. His only defeat was by Borican over the 1,000 yard course in Cleveland the day after he had run in two events in the Butler relays in Indianapolis.

Kane started the 1941 season by setting a half mile mark in the Sugar bowl meet, won this race in the Veterans of Foreign Wars meet in Boston, ran the fastest 1,000 yards ever recorded in the Boston Knights of Columbus games, won the Millrose half mile in New York, and two nights later whipped Borican at 1,000 yards in the Seton Hall meet. At Purdue Kane won the Big Ten half mile and mile championships. His best time in the half mile is 1:50.

Golf, Tennis Stars Talk at Men's Club Tonight

Golf and tennis stars, including Jim Ferrier, former Australian golf champion and now pro at Elmhurst Country club; Charles Hare, British Davis cup tennis player, and Trevor and Julian Weiss, former Big Ten tennis players, will appear at the South Shore Temple Men's club sports night in the temple, 7215 Jeffery avenue, tonight. The Tribune's movie, "The All-American Way," will be shown.

NAME GALLIGER RACE SECRETARY AT SPORTSMAN'S

Patrick C. Galliger, a Chicagoan with three decades of experience in horse racing, has been appointed racing secretary and steward for the 19 day spring meeting at Sportsman's park. Announcement of Galliger's appointment to the post held by Robert S. Shelley last fall was made by John L. Keeshin, president of the National Jockey club, operators of the half mile plant.

Galliger was associated with various Chicago tracks when racing came back to these parts some 14 years ago, but for the last several seasons he has been the secretary of the Canadian Racing commission in charge of Woodbine Park in Toronto, the Jockey club in Hamilton, Blue Bonnets at Montreal, the Ottawa Jockey club and other tracks under the jurisdiction of the Canadian association.

Proviso and Morton, co-defenders of the suburban High School league baseball championship, failed to march on the title road in their opening games yesterday. Proviso was beaten by Oak Park, 2 to 1, while Morton and Waukegan tied, 6 to 6, in an eight inning contest.

Proviso was held to three hits by Bob de Mir, Oak Park pitcher. Five runs in the sixth and seventh innings enabled Morton to tie Waukegan. Waukegan held a 6 to 1 advantage at the end of the fifth, but Morton scored three runs in the sixth and added two more in the seventh.

Harper, Marshall, and Calumet were victorious in three Public School league games, which were originally scheduled for Monday. Harper routed Hyde Park, 11 to 2; Marshall swamped Kelvyn Park, 19 to 0, and Calumet won from Morgan Park, 6 to 4. Scores:

CAPLIN, MANAGER OF LEW JENKINS, TAKEN TO PRISON

New York, April 15 [Special].—Hymie Caplin, whose career as a manager of prize fighters, including Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins, ended two months ago when a Brooklyn jury found him guilty of financing a gang of card cheaters, was taken to Sing Sing today to start serving a sentence of from 5 to 10 years. Caplin had as his traveling companions three convicted murderers.

Caplin tried frantically to conceal his face from press photographers. His companion in cuffs, Horacia Cabuto, under sentence of from 20 years to life, however, seemed to enjoy his experience as he gazed toward the camera lenses.

NOTRE DAME NINE TRIUMPHS, 17-10, OVER MAROONS

Notre Dame's baseball team pounded out 16 hits and a 17 to 10 victory over the University of Chicago on the Midway yesterday afternoon. Bob Meyer, Maroon pitcher, was the victim of the Irish slugging attack. Meyer yielded 12 runs and 11 hits during his 6 inning stay on the mound. It was Chicago's second defeat in three games this season.

GO NORTH, YOUNG ANGLER, IF YOU CRAVE SMELT

Huge Illinois Party Will Dip Saturday.

BY BOB BECKER.

Approximately 2,000 Chicagoans will go north by train alone to the famous smelt fishing grounds at Escanaba, and Menominee, Mich., and Marinette, Wis., on Saturday. The Chicago and North Western railway expects to run two special trains from Chicago to Escanaba for the benefit of Illinois smelt dippers, and many other fishermen will go by automobile.

This week-end will mark the peak of the annual smelt runs, so the northern cities are holding big parties for visiting fishermen who want to catch lots of fish without the use of rods and reels.

Big Party at Escanaba.

Escanaba, which has 10 streams in which visitors may catch smelt at this time of the year, is planning the biggest party for residents and visiting sportsmen. Friday night the Wolverine Sportsmen's club will hold a banquet to be followed by a ball for the entertainment of out of town guests. Linda Johnson, motion picture star, will be the special guest of Escanaba during the smelt jamboree, attend the banquet Thursday night, and also take part in the festivities that are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Among the Chicago groups planning to attend the smelt parties up north are 400 members of the Hawthorne Hunting and Fishing club; 400 from the fishing club of the Hotpoint company, and 250 lunchroom managers, principals, and other officials of the public schools. The public school officials plan to bring back 25 tons—50,000 pounds—of smelt to be served in the public schools lunchrooms on April 25.

Osborne to Speak.

Livingston E. Osborne, Illinois director of conservation, has been invited to speak at the Marinette and Menominee smelt banquet Saturday night. These two cities on opposite banks of the Menominee river hold their annual spring party together.

Thousands of fishermen fished the Wolf river yesterday when the special season on wall-eyed pike opened. Reports from Weyauwega, Wis., and other towns on the river indicate that the pike run will give fishermen good sport for the next week or 10 days.

HOLD RITES FOR HOFFER, CHICAGO COACH, TODAY

Services for Daniel L. Hoffer, assistant professor of physical education at the University of Chicago and coach of the gymnastics and ice hockey teams, will be held at 4 p. m. today in Joseph Bond chapel on the university campus. Members of the gymnastics team will serve as pallbearers.

Mr. Hoffer died Monday night in the Presbyterian hospital after an illness of more than two years. He was 57 years old and lived at 5515 University avenue. He was chairman of the gymnastic board of the National Collegiate Athletic association and chairman of the national YMCA gymnastic committee. For 16 years he was a member of the American Olympics committee.

Mr. Hoffer was appointed to his post at the University of Chicago in 1909 by Amos Alonzo Stagg. He was born in Denver, Colo., and was educated in the Denver schools. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth Brown Hoffer, and two daughters, Catherine and Jane.

Western State Takes 2d from Ohio State Nine, 3-2

Columbus, O., April 15 [Special].—Western State Teachers of Kalamazoo, Mich., made it two straight over Ohio State today, 3 to 2, in the second game of the series. An error, a triple, and Ivan Leser's home run gave the winners their runs in the second.

Rand Cancels Plans for Zale, Hostak Battle

Plans to promote a 15 round middleweight championship bout between Tony Zale and Challenger Al Hostak in the Chicago Stadium May 16 have been canceled, Promoter Bill Rand said last night. After agreeing to terms earlier, Eddie Marino, manager of Hostak, informed Rand he cannot produce the fighter.

Al's contract called for 12½ per cent of the net receipts, but last night Marino said the fighter would not appear for less than 20 per cent. The promoter said such a percentage was excessive.

Immediately after dropping negotiations for the Hostak-Zale contest, Rand started dickering for a match between Quentin [Baby] Breese, Manhattan, Kas., lightweight contender, and Davey Day to fill the May 16 date in the west side arena. Indications are that this encounter will be closed today.

Sam Pian, manager of Zale, said last night Tony now is ready to defend his title against Ken Overlin, New York 160 pound title holder, or Billy Soose, Scranton, Pa., challenger. Previously Pian would not consider either as an opponent of the champion because they are under exclusive contract to Mike Jacobs, eastern fight czar.

VITTOZ, INDIANA PITCHER, FANS 17 IN 8 TO 3 VICTORY

Bloomington, Ind., April 15 [Special].—Indiana university today defeated Indiana State Teachers, 8 to 3. Bob Vittoz, Indiana's sophomore southpaw, fanned 17, yielding but four singles, tho walking six and hitting two batters. He was taken out in the eighth.

Indiana scored three runs in the second inning on three hits and two of Indiana State errors. After that Melvin, State pitcher, held Indiana until he tired in the seventh, when a walk, sacrifice, and two hits accounted for two more Indiana runs. Chet Francis, Indiana outfielder, doubled in the third for the only extra base hit of the game. Score:

Batteries—Melvin and Gates; Vittoz, Hundley and Wellman.

Spotting the Pins

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The Wednesday division of the Classic Bowling league rolls at Jay Bee recreation, 2002 West 51st street, at 9 o'clock tonight. The Koenig Braus meet Schlitz, Ambrosia opposes Monarch Beers, Michelob faces Ruppert, and Blatz is paired with Pabst. Rheingold Beer, South End Traveling league leader [by seven games], which gained the runner-up spot in the ABC tournament with 3,054 last week, is the surprise team of the South End circuit. Twice this year when tied for first place it has swept the series with the other team in the deadlock. The Rheingolds have rolled the league's high game, 1,173, and Ed Plewa, a member of the team, has marked up high game, 276.

The Cullens rolled a highly respectable 2,916, including a 659 total by Bill Rempert, to win three games from the Tomans in the City and County Employés' league. Other high scores included Floyd Reichard's 689 and Judge Harold O'Connell's 673. Cinderella recreation anticipates an entry exceeding last year's record total of 122 teams in its fourth annual handicap tournament which opens April 26 and continues weekends thru June 1. Entries close next Monday. Honor scores in the Morse Avenue Business Men's league:

West North Avenue rolled up a 2,919 total to win three games from Irving Park No. 1 in the west division of the Patrolmen's league. Irving Park's No. 2 team also was shut out, dropping a set to Albany Park. Austin No. 1 scored twice over Warren Avenue No. 2, and Warren Avenue No. 1 won the odd game from Austin No. 2. On the north side Town Hall No. 1 scored twice over Sheffield No. 2; Hudson Avenue took the deciding game from West Chicago by four pins after losing the middle game by five; Rudy Boedecker's 626 helped Sheffield No. 1 shut out Summerdale No. 2; Town Hall No. 2, with Bob Anderson shooting 605, took a full set from Sheffield No. 3, and Summerdale No. 3 lost three games to Summerdale No. 1, despite Stan Meyers' 616 total.

In the Playdium women's major Pabst-Andeker beat Royal League Insurance, 838 to 830, then 872 to 870, then lost 876 to 865. Total: Pabst, 2,575; Royal, 2,576. All 10 girls rolled honor scores in the circuit's other feature match, in which Logan Square Buicks, rolling 2,821, won three games from Morgen, Inc., Schlitz.

DRIVING RANGES ON PARK COURSES TO OPEN TODAY

A Bank Clerk Hits 1,950 for Sixth in ABC

St. Paul, Minn., April 15 (AP).—Green Bay, Wis., bowlers accounted for the best scores in the American Bowling congress tourney today, sending Henry Zeutzius, 33 year old bank clerk, into sixth place in the all-events standings with a total of 1,950—an average of 216.6 for the nine games.

Zeutzius, who has competed in nine previous tournaments, scored 605 in the team event, 656 in the doubles, and then rolled up 689 in the singles, the latter being high solo total of the day.

William Wittig and Ray Nimh, Green Bay, paced the day's firing in the doubles with 1,276. While Zeutzius was scoring 656, his partner, Bruno Zenz, added 615, as the Badger pair posted 1,271.

FORMER SOCCER STARS TO PLAY IN BRITISH BENEFIT

Professional soccer stars of former years will clash with a picked team next Sunday in Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, for the benefit of the British war relief fund. A record crowd is expected to see the game.

Among British born American soccer players who have accepted invitations to play are Victor Naete, Gavin Wear, Bobby Robb, John Scott, James Easton, Patrick O'Neil, Willie Jackson, Jimmy Munro, Albie Shalcross, Clem Cuthbert, John Pouliton, Peter Mair, Bobby Wylie, Bobby Stevenson, Bobby Walker, John Black, and Johnny McCann.

Patty Berg Breaks Par to Increase Tourney Lead

Asheville, N. C., April 15 (AP).—Playing a brand of golf which won her the national women's title in 1938, Patty Berg whittled a pair of strokes from women's par at Biltmore Forest Country club today with a fine 73 that gave her a 36 hole total of 149 and a six stroke lead at the half way mark of the third annual Land of the Sky spring invitational golf tournament for women. Jean Bauer, defending champion from Providence, R. I., took over second place with a second day 74, which she coupled with her opening 81 for a 155 aggregate, and Jane Cothran, the 1940 runner-up from Greenville, S. C., slipped to 83 and a 163 for third place.

DODGERS AGAIN OBTAIN KIMBALL; SEND MILLS BACK

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 15 (AP).—The Dodgers today repurchased Pitcher Newell Kimball whom they had sent to the St. Louis Cardinals last year in the deal for Joe Medwick. At the same time the Dodgers announced that Pitcher Howard Mills had been returned to the St. Louis Browns. Mills was obtained conditionally during the winter.

Tex Carleton, veteran hurler, who pitched a no-hit, no-run game for Brooklyn against the Cincinnati Reds last April, was not in uniform for today's opening game with the New York Giants.

BROWNS TO MEET TIGERS TODAY IN DELAYED OPENER

St. Louis, Mo., April 15 (AP).—The American league started its 1941 season today with the champion Detroit Tigers and the hopeful St. Louis Browns on the side lines because of rain. Both managers said their plans were unchanged for tomorrow.

MERRILL LYNCH CUTS MINIMUM STOCK FEE TO $3

Breaks from Agreement on $5 from Chicago.

Merrill Lynch, E. A. Pierce & Cassatt, yesterday reduced its minimum commission charge on security transactions in Chicago from $5 to $3, the minimum established by the New York Stock exchange and the one in effect at the firm's other 43 offices thruout the country.

With the reduction, the house withdrew also from the agreement entered into by 57 firms in Chicago setting the minimum at $5.

Explains Company's Stand.

Homer P. Hargrave, resident partner, said the rate cut was made "to meet the company's attitude of fairness in not charging more in one of its offices than in another." Commission rates had been cut by the firm in other parts of the country prior to establishment of the New York exchange minimum.

The Chicago reduction was made after half of the persons questioned in a company survey said they believed that large operators were favored at the expense of smaller customers, Hargrave said. The cut was ordered to relieve any penalty on the small customers, he added.

Agreement to Remain.

Roy E. Bard, chairman of the Chicago Association of Stock Exchange Firms, in notifying members of the withdrawal of Merrill Lynch, E. A. Pierce & Cassatt from the agreement, said that the agreement would be continued "in full force and effect." He explained later that the $3 minimum does not cover expenses of a transaction for many firms and that continuance of the present rate was therefore necessary.

Some La Salle street spokesmen predicted, however, that competition for business would force many commission firms to lower their minimum charges.

INFLATION UNDER WAY IN BRITAIN, BANK DECLARES

Inflation is well under way in England, and inflation on a minor scale is developing in Canada, the Cleveland Trust company declared yesterday in its monthly business bulletin.

Living costs in Great Britain have increased 26 per cent since the outbreak of war in September, 1939, and "there is little hope at present that the slope of the line will change soon," the review said.

In Canada, the cost of living, which the bulletin described as a measure of the inflationary trends of basic consumers' prices, has advanced since December, 1939, to 2.5 per cent above the prewar level.

"England may soon have to resort to the use of fiat money, often referred to as printing press money, or its equivalent, direct borrowing from the Bank of England," the review said.

The United States has had not real inflation, except in bond prices, but warning symptoms are beginning to appear which indicate that precautions are in order, it asserted.

Lilacs Show Promise

April 15, 1941.

THE lilac bushes at the Du Page county farm are beginning to catch up with the season. Because of the steady cold weather during the winter and coolness during the early spring, the bushes were about two weeks behind schedule. However, the recent warm weather and rain have pushed them along rapidly, and now they show great promise for the blooming season.

The gardener predicts a heavy crop of blossoms for Lilac day. Earlier in the season the bushes were carefully pruned. Old stems and dry wood were cut back, and sucker shoots were destroyed. Proper pruning of lilac bushes lengthens their life and assures a profusion of blooms.

Buds Are Bursting.

The buds on the branches are thickening and bursting from their winter protection. The gardener pinched off several of the buds and opened them to see how they were progressing. The flowering buds disclosed tiny, embryonic flowers that held the promise of magnificent blossoms. The leaf buds unfurled to show miniature green leaves that were tightly rolled, awaiting warmer weather and moisture.

The gardener believes that if the weather continues warm and there are no severe frosts the blossoms should come to their peak around the middle of May.

The lilac is one of the most amiable plants in the garden. It can stand abusive treatment better than most plants. Strangely enough, the lilac is not indigenous to America. Yet it flourishes thru the northern part of the country and is one of the most loved of blooming plants.

Found Thruout World.

Lilacs may be found in most of the world. Originally they came from Asia and central and eastern Europe. The old fashioned lavender lilac, which is so familiar to every one, is a native of Bulgaria, Hungary, and Rumania. However, it also may be found in Persia and China, among many other spots.

Many of the different varieties of lilacs used in gardens are the result of years of work by horticulturists in Germany, Holland, Belgium, and France. When the great westward migration started in America, many of the settlers carried lilac cuttings and seeds with them in their covered wagons.

The gardener at the farm has found that heavy cutting of the blooms has helped the shrubs to greater production. To thrive perfectly lilacs should be planted where they can get plenty of sunshine and breezes. They thrive in deep soil full of humus. The ground should be well drained. They do not do well in shade or tight corners.

SOY BEANS REACH NEW PEAKS, BUT GAINS ARE LOST

Soy beans stole the show on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, advancing 2½ cents at one time on a near record volume of business with the May future selling at $1.24 a bushel, a new high since December, 1939, before heavy profit taking caused a setback.

All deliveries of corn and the active futures of oats also went into new seasonal high ground during the early trading, May corn selling at 68¾ cents and May oats at 39¾ cents.

Profit taking and hedging sales developed on the advance and when some of the large operators who bought early attempted to liquidate their holdings they found little support for the market. Wheat futures closed ⅞ to 1¼ cents lower. Soy beans finished unchanged to ½ cent lower. Corn was ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher and oats closed ⅛ to ¼ cent lower.

Lard showed independent strength thruout the day and closed 7½ cents per 100 pounds higher on buying induced by strength in cottonseed oil and a report that the government was in the market for 24 kinds of hog products, including lard.

AXIS BONDS RISE ON CLAIMS OF BALKAN SUCCESS

New York, April 15 (AP).—The bond market shifted lazily today and left price trends mixed in principal groups. Rails and foreign issues declined on balance; low-yields were unchanged and slight advances had the majority among industrials and utilities.

Light demand for a group of Italian, German, and Japanese issues lifted quotation fractions to 4 points or more but other foreign loans were little changed.

Long term treasuries continued popular in the government list. The recently issued taxable 2½s maturing in 13 years reached 103 for the first time in over the counter dealings. Other issues were up 2/32 to 4/32 of a point. The 2¾s of '65-'60 ended up more than ½ point on the stock exchange but the few others that were traded did little either way.

Raise War Risk Insurance Rates to Suez Canal Ports

New York, April 15 (AP).—Shipments between the United States and Egypt today were assessed 7½ per cent instead of the former 5 per cent of their value for war risk insurance. It was understood that American marine insurance underwriters considered the German drive in Africa was aimed at the Suez canal and, in consequence, the increase affected only ports in and around the canal.

SHELL UNION.

What has happened to the East Chicago refinery of the Shell Oil company? I would like to know the present status of the company.—C. J.

Answer: The East Chicago refinery of the Shell Oil company was closed last October when construction of the Wood River, Ill., refinery was completed. The East Chicago facilities are used now as a water and pipe line terminal and the refinery is kept in reserve for possible emergency needs.

Shell Oil is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Shell Union Oil corporation, New York, which holds American properties of the Royal Dutch Shell group. The Shell Union organization is one of the largest producers in the domestic oil industry.

Distilling capacity of the system is 255,200 barrels of oil a day and cracking and reforming capacity, 195,000 barrels a day. The system operates seven refineries and about 5,000 miles of pipe lines. Oil and gas wells are concentrated in California, Texas and Oklahoma.

Crude oil output last year climbed to 51,053,000 barrels, against 47,826,000 in 1939. Profit last year showed a marked gain but fell short of the 1937 net income, which was a 14 year record. The earnings in the last five years compared as follows:

1937	20,668,880	1.44	1.00
1938	11,318,422	0.72	0.70
1939	11,805,713	0.76	0.50
1940	15,654,678	1.05	0.75

Capitalization of Shell Union consists of $110,000,000 in funded debt and 13,070,625 shares of $15 par common stock. The entire issue of 5½ per cent $100 par preferred stock was retired March 1. Dividends on the common stock have been paid each year since 1922, except from 1931 thru 1935.

P. C. I. L. G. A.

What kind of company is the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities?—R. H.

Answer: The Pennsylvania Company, etc., conducts a general banking and trust business in Philadelphia, Pa., and operates ten branch offices. It does not sell life insurance or annuities. The company was formed in 1812 and absorbed various bank and trust companies.

POWER DAMS.

Answer: The federal government has built two power projects on the Columbia river: the Bonneville dam in northwestern Oregon about 42 miles east of Portland, and Grand Coulee in northeastern Washington, 70 miles west of Spokane.

MARCH REVENUES OF RAILS SHOW LARGE INCREASE

Freight, Passenger Traffic Both Top 1940.

The Association of American Railroads estimated yesterday that 86 class 1 railroads in the United States had operating revenues of $339,001,334 in March, compared with $268,805,257 a year ago. The association said the reporting roads represented 82.2 per cent of all class 1 railroads.

Freight revenues mounted to $282,420,954 from $218,682,217 in March, 1940, while passenger revenues increased to $32,161,553 from $27,290,462 last year.

Santa Fe Has Big Profit.

The Santa Fe railroad reported a profit of $1,790,306, equal to 31 cents a share on the common stock, for the first two months of this year, in contrast with net loss of $1,014,308 in the same period of 1940. February net income was $949,066, compared with a net loss of $596,999 a year ago.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois had a two months net income of $236,701, while a year ago it had a loss for the period of $218,515. Its February net was $77,671 against a loss of $118,679 last year.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Atlantic Coast Line it was announced that 1940 net income was $1,823,537, compared with $804,074 for 1939.

TAFT CRITICIZES CONGRESS' SNUB ON PRICE FIXING

Washington, D. C., April 15 (AP).—Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] asserted in the senate today that President Roosevelt had named a price control administrator without legislative authority, adding that "if he has the power to do that he has any other power he may choose to exert."

Taft placed in the record a copy of an executive order by which the President set up the office of price control, appointing Leon Henderson administrator.

"If we are going to prevent inflation we will have to have price fixing to hold down prices but it ought to be done by proper legislation by congress and should not be done by executive order," Taft declared. "If the President can fix prices, congress might as well go home."

Douglas Has 26,295 on Pay Roll; Hires 550 a Week

Santa Monica, Cal., April 15 (AP).—Douglas Aircraft corporation has 26,295 persons on its pay roll and is hiring others at a rate of 550 a week. A company report said employment would reach 55,000 with completion of expansion of Santa Monica and El Segundo plants and of new plants at Long Beach and Tulsa.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

A lower trend prevailed for fresh pork and hogs at the stockyards yesterday. Top light loins fell 50 cents a hundred pounds to $18, equaling the lowest price for this cut in 11 days. The heaviest loins sold at $15. Buying of pork by retailers was light, packers said.

Reductions of 10 to 15 cents were made in hog prices, despite a decrease in the available supplies at principal markets.

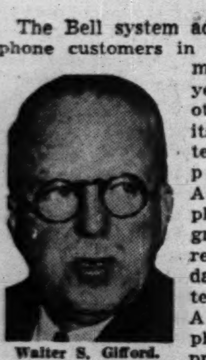
BELL SYSTEM'S CUSTOMER GAIN BEST IN HISTORY

Earnings Show Big Increase Also.



Walter S. Gifford.

The Bell system added more telephone customers in the first three months of this year than in any other quarter in its history, Walter S. Gifford, president of American Telephone and Telegraph company, reported yesterday. The Bell system consists of American Telephone and its principal operating subsidiaries.

Gifford's report on the increase in business accompanies earnings statements for the system for the three months and 12 months ended with February, and for the parent company covering the three months and 12 months ended March 31.

"During the first quarter of this year the Bell system had a net gain of about 371,500 telephones, the largest for any quarter in the history of the business," Gifford said. "The gain for the corresponding period of 1940 was 260,000.

17.8 Millions in Service.

"There were approximately 17,855,000 telephones in service on March 31, 1941, which is 6.3 per cent more than at the end of March, 1940.

"The number of toll and long distance conversations for the quarter was about 12 per cent greater than for the corresponding period last year. The increase in the number of longer haul calls was particularly marked, being 24 per cent."

Net income of the Bell system applicable to American Telephone stock rose to $63,165,413, equal to $3.38 a share of parent company stock, for the three months ended Feb. 28, 1941. In the corresponding period a year earlier, profit was $51,599,233, or $2.76 a share.

The parent company alone reported for the three months ended March 31 net income of $48,370,800, equal to $2.59 a share, compared with $46,076,476, or $2.47 a share, in the corresponding 1940 period.

Richfield Oil Profit Up.

The consolidated annual report of Richfield Oil corporation and subsidiaries showed net profit for 1940 of $3,814,590, equal to 95 cents a capital share, compared with 1939 profit of $2,601,926, or 65 cents a share.

Net sales totaled $41,887,654, compared with $42,910,106 in the preceding year. Volume of products sold, however, increased 465,000 barrels to about 18,275,000 barrels.

First quarter profit of Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company was reported at $5,627,263, equal to $2.10 a share on the combined preferred and common stocks, compared with profit of $4,041,434, or $1.51 a combined share, in the first quarter of 1940. The announcement was made in connection with disclosure that Westinghouse will pay a 10 per cent wage bonus this month under its profit sharing plan.

A. M. Castle & Co., Chicago steel distributor, reported first quarter net income of $223,027, or 93 cents a share, compared with profit of $100,199, or 42 cents a share, a year earlier.

Balaban & Katz corporation, Chicago theater enterprise controled by Paramount Pictures, Inc., had profit of $1,526,912, equal to $5.62 a share, in the 53 week fiscal year ended Jan. 1, Walter Immerman, B & K. vice president, told stock holders at their annual meeting. In the preceding year earnings were $1,329,964, equal to $4.69 a share. Immerman said an extra week in the latest fiscal year accounted for more than $100,000 of the increase.

Slum Clearing Bill Changed in Legislature

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rep. A. W. Sprague opposed amendments.

Springfield, Ill., April 15.—Several amendments were attached to the pending neighborhood redevelopment corporation bill today by a subcommittee of the house of representatives. The bill was returned to the house judiciary committee with a recommendation that it be adopted with the amendments.

Sponsors of the bill asserted that the amendments recommended by the subcommittee would destroy the effectiveness of the measure as a means of promoting the reconstruction of slum areas in Chicago and other cities of the state.

Provides Fixing of Rents.

A corporation acquiring land thru condemnation proceedings would be required under the amended bill to devote 40 per cent of its project to low cost housing, rents of which would be fixed by the municipal regulatory commission. With such a restriction, supporters of the bill said, the proposed legislation would fail in its purpose of enlisting private capital for the rebuilding of blighted areas.

A second amendment, offered by Representative Charles J. Jenkins [R., Chicago], provides that the redevelopment corporations "will accept applicants for tenancy on the basis of qualifications applicable to all persons alike without any discrimination as to race, color, or creed."

Representative Arthur W. Sprague [R., La Grange] opposed both of the amendments, which were accepted by a vote of 5 to 1 by the subcommittee. Jenkins and Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago] voted against recommending the bill in any form.

May Let Measure Die.

The committee also accepted a number of amendments offered by proponents of the measure. One of these would permit a redevelopment corporation to institute condemnation proceedings against minority property owners after acquiring 51 per cent of its building site. This figure was originally fixed at 60 per cent.

A hearing on the amended bill before the full judiciary committee of the house was set for Tuesday, April 22. If the sponsors of the measure fail to get the restrictive amendments deleted the measure is expected to die.

A fight for adoption of the bill free of the restrictive amendments may be carried to the floor of the house, it was indicated.

Indorsed by Civic Bodies.

The bill was drawn by the Chicago Building congress and has the indorsement of many important civic organizations in Chicago, including the Chicago Plan commission and the Association of Commerce. It is intended to remove the present barrier to large scale slum clearance projects. The bill's sponsors assert it has been impossible in the past to assemble large sites for such projects because of minority owners who have held out for excessive prices.

The bill proposes restricted use of condemnation power by private corporations to remove this barrier.

McNear Conspiracy Case Trial Postponed to June

Media, Pa., April 15 (AP).—Judge Samuel E. Shull today postponed until next June the trials of Charles W. McNear and Robert L. Creek, Chicago brokers, who were indicted on charges of conspiracy in the sale of the Chester Water company.

REVEAL BRITAIN ASKS VAST U. S. CHEESE SUPPLY

Great Britain wishes to obtain 250 million pounds of American cheese in the United States in the next 15 months, it was disclosed yesterday. Inquiry for this amount, representing almost half the domestic output of this type of cheese in 1940, has been made to the department of agriculture.

The department disclosed the British inquiry at a recent meeting of dairy industry representatives with government officials in Washington. Altho the news was given to those attending as confidential information, it was generally known among Chicago dealers in dairy products yesterday.

If bought at the prevailing market price of 16¼ cents a pound for American cheddar type cheese, Britain's requirements would cost $40,625,000. Market experts said the price would probably rise during the 15 months because the government is buying huge quantities of dried and evaporated milk and has been active in the butter market.

Chicago Area Big Producer.

Purchase of 250 millions pounds of cheese over and above domestic requirements would be particularly pleasing to farmers in the Chicago area, dairy industry representatives said last night. Wisconsin is the nation's largest producer of cheese, they said, and Illinois ranks third.

There was 97,441,000 pounds of all types of cheese in storage in this country on April 1. Storage holdings had reached an all-time high of 127,202,000 pounds last October.

The dairy industry believes Britain is seeking the cheese in the United States because Canada does not believe it can supply its cheese quota for Britain this year, despite the offer of a bonus to producers.

Dairy products traders expressed amazement at the huge volume of dried and evaporated milk the department of agriculture has acquired recently as disclosed in Surplus Marketing association holding figures released Monday night. They said the government agencies owned more than 13½ million pounds of dry skim milk, but February exports amounted to only 895,049 pounds.

Seek Pork Product Offers.

The Surplus Marketing administration asked meat packers yesterday to submit offers on 24 different varieties of pork products, including lard. Chicago packers said this announcement probably was the initial effort of the government to peg the Chicago hog market at $9 per hundred pounds. Those who received the announcement said it made no mention of the quantity of meat the government would buy.

COAL CONTRACT CONFERENCE IS NEAR ACCORD

New York, April 16, Wednesday (AP).—Chief Federal Conciliator John R. Steelman announced early today that "virtually the entire wage contract has now been completed" for a major part in the country's paralyzed soft coal industry, and that there were indications that at least an important part of the shutdown mines would reopen soon.

He made this statement after northern Appalachian coal operators and the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] worked past midnight in an effort to complete all details for a new wage contract.

The proposed contract, Steelman said, was "very nearly in shape" for possible signing after 2 p. m. [E. S. T.] today. The conciliator added, however, that the government was making one last attempt to bring southern Appalachian operators, who bolted the wage conference last week in a disagreement with northern operators, into the accord.

SUN SHIPBUILDING SOON TO SIGN BIG TANKER ORDERS

Chester, Pa., April 15 (AP).—John G. Pew, president of the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock company, said today the company within a few days will sign a $180,000,000 contract with the United States Maritime commission to build 72 oil tankers.

"We expect to complete all 72 ships in two years," Pew asserted. "The keel of the first probably will be laid about July 1. The first tanker will be launched in about nine months, we hope."

Twelve new ways will be built.

SHIPPERS MOVE TO CONSOLIDATE WAR TRADE GAIN

Co-ordinate Activity in Latin America.

BY HERBERT VEDDER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 15.—Following British example, United States foreign trade and shipping experts here and in Washington not only are seeking further expansion of inter-American trade, but they also are seeking to build this increased trade on a solid basis that will endure postwar reopening of markets now closed.

Some of the steps being taken to make permanent the sharp trade gain resulting from abnormal wartime conditions are these efforts:

1. Stimulating imports from Latin America of products available there but formerly bought elsewhere.
2. Developing Latin American products to meet United States consumer standards and create continuing demand.

Aid Noncompeting Industries.

3. Financing new South American industries of a noncompetitive nature, many of which will require material and machinery from the United States.
4. Supplying emergency financing to stabilize currencies and furnish

Steel Wage Boost to Increase Cost of Armament Program

With production costs rising as a result of the 10 cents an hour wage boost made generally thruout the steel industry, price increases to consumers are virtually certain, steel men in the Chicago area said yesterday. At Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation offices it was said that executives in the east were studying the price situation.

Carnegie-Illinois, usually the bellwether for the industry, during recent years has made price announcements before the start of each quarter. If no change was made it was the custom to announce that prices were being "reaffirmed."

Door Open for Boost.

No announcement was made before the start of the current quarter on April 1, indicating that the company was leaving the door open to change prices should conditions warrant.

Steel officials said that a boost in steel prices would result in a corresponding boost in the cost of the nation's preparedness program since steel is the basic material from which the various forms of arms are made. They stated that no accurate record had been made of the amount of steel used in the armament program, and that as a result it would be difficult to forecast how much the preparedness costs will be increased.

Year's Output Up 10 Per cent.

During 1940 the steel industry produced about 67,000,000 tons of steel, an increase of about 10 per cent over 1937, a year of near record peacetime production. The American Iron and Steel institute said that there was a sharp increase in the types of steel used for rearming and for export to the British. There was a preponderance of heavy products and semi-finished steel which require less man hours in production than other steels.

The institute estimated that most of the steels used for arms required a little more than 17 man hours for the production of one ton. On such a basis the average increase for the arms steel would be about $1.70 a ton.

Other Increases Indicated.

Production of one ton of semi-finished steel, according to the institute, requires an average of only 12.5 man hours of direct labor in the steel mills which would indicate an increase in the wage cost of $1.25 a ton. Shapes and plates require an average of 16 man hours, indicating a $1.60 increase in labor cost, compared with 33 man hours per ton of sheet steel, or $3.30; 37 man hours of pipe steel, or $3.70, and 52 man hours per ton of tin plate, or $5.20.

Officials of the United States Steel corporation, of which Carnegie-Illinois is the largest operating subsidiary, estimated that the wage boost would add about $62,000,000 annually to operating costs.

More Firms Raise Wages

Meantime a number of smaller companies yesterday followed United States Steel and Bethlehem in increasing wages 10 cents an hour, raising the minimum wage in the industry to 72½ cents an hour. Among these were the Wheeling Steel corporation, with 26,000 workers; the Allegheny Ludlum Steel corporation, with 8,000; the Pittsburgh Steel corporation, with 6,000; the Copperweld Steel company, with 2,400, and the American Rolling Mill company.

UTILITY IS GIVEN YEAR TO BREAK WITH NINE UNITS

SEC Orders 'Death Clause' Divorce.

Washington, D. C., April 15 (AP).—The $837,000,000 United Gas Improvement company was ordered by the Securities and Exchange commission today to divorce itself from nine utility subsidiaries and confine its operations to Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Maryland.

The action was taken under the "death sentence" clause of the Utility Holding company act. The company was given one year in which to dispose of the utility properties lying outside the three states in which the SEC believes the holding company's primary system is located.

The commission said that U. G. I. could ask for an extension of time if necessary to comply with the order.

One Sold Last Week.

The holding company sold its controling interest in Connecticut Light and Power company last week for about $28,000,000.

The commission took the position that no additional evidence was needed to complete its integration proceedings against the company, begun recently.

In its opinion, the SEC asserted

There's STEEL in Chicago's Broad Shoulders!

THE story of steel in Chicago begins with the construction of a small blast furnace and rolling mill in 1857—just two years after the first canal was opened at Sault Sainte Marie, thus making it possible to bring iron ore from the Lake Superior region by boat. The first major job of the infant industry was producing steel rails for the westward extension of the railroads. Next, it provided metal to help mechanize the nation's steadily expanding farms.

As Chicago grew, its varied industries required more and more diversified products of the steel mills. Today national defense is demanding their greatest efforts.

The Chicago industrial area runs Pittsburgh a close second as the world's greatest steel-producing center. It boasts the world's largest and the world's second largest steel plants, as well as the world's largest sheet mill. Twenty per cent of the ingot-producing capacity of the nation is located in this great industrial area.

STOCKS DECLINE, RECOVER, THEN RELAPSE AGAIN

Conflicting War News Gets Most of Blame.

Conflicting war bulletins, brokers said, were partly responsible for touching off a little late selling in steels and other industrial leaders. Reports from Budapest that Jugo-Slavia had asked for an armistice were apparently a bit disturbing.

Buying appeared after a hesitant start on the belief that the list had been oversold. Prices had been hovering at or near the lows of the year for more than a week.

Losses running to a point or so were converted into advances before renewed selling put most quotations back to bottom marks of the day. The better labor outlook at home was a factor in the morning recovery, analysts believed.

Steels Close Lower.

Finishing fractions to more than a point lower were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Crucible Steel, Republic Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Sperry, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Atlantic Coast Line, Western Union, Anaconda, Westinghouse Electric, and Texas corporation.

Retaining modest gains were Pennsylvania, Warner Brothers, Loew's, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, and International Harvester.

CHICAGO PRICES FALL.

Prices declined again on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday with transfers dropping to 19,000 shares, from 21,000 Monday. Commonwealth Edison, the trading favorite in turnover of 1,800 shares, was off ½ point at 26⅜.

Food Sales to Employes Taxable, Court Decides

Springfield, Ill., April 15 (AP).—The Illinois Supreme court today held industrial concerns liable for payment of the 3 per cent sales tax on food sold to their employés in company operated lunch rooms. The opinion reversed a Cook county Superior court judgment which had enjoined the state from collecting the tax from the Continental Can company and 11 other companies.

COTTON

Hedging sales by southern interests and selling induced by easiness in securities started cotton futures prices on the downgrade yesterday and the close was at the bottom. Net losses were .09 to .17 cent a pound, with the new crop deliveries leading the decline.

Cash cotton closed .09 to .17 cent lower, with New York, 11.55 cents; New Orleans, 11.10 cents; Galveston, 10.97 cents, and Houston at 10.95 cents a pound. Futures prices follow:

COTTONSEED OIL REACHES HIGHEST PRICE IN 3 YEARS

Rubber Spurts on Record March Consumption.

Cottonseed oil advanced to the highest levels in nearly three years and rubber reached its 1941 top yesterday, but a majority of other commodities for future delivery showed an irregularly lower trend. Wool tops, hides and silk posted small gains. Uncertainty concerning the possible extent of federal price control and trade interpretations of war developments caused market nervousness.

Cottonseed oil advanced rapidly before encountering profit selling, but was able to hold gains of 0.04 to 0.08 cent a pound on reports of an increasing demand for oils and fats. The May delivery ended at 8.83 cents bid.

Rubber Futures Rise.

Rubber futures closed 0.20 to 0.35 cent a pound higher coincident with an announcement by the Rubber Manufacturers association that 66,821 tons of crude rubber, highest on record, were consumed in the United States in March. May futures went to a peak 23.38 cents a pound and closed at 23.28 cents bid.

CHRYSLER PLANT TURNING OUT NEW CARS FULL SPEED

But Keller Warns Material Shortage May Develop.

Chrysler corporation is operating at virtual capacity but shortages of materials may cause some curtailment before the summer passes, K. T. Keller, president, told stockholders at their annual meeting in Detroit yesterday.

K. T. Keller.

"We will produce more than a million of the 1941 models," he said. "Output of the 1940 model year was around 900,000 units.

"We probably will have some curtailment of production before we get thru the summer. We already are having some difficulty with materials but this has not interfered with operations so far."

Sales Set Record Rate.

Sales of 100,000 passenger cars and trucks in the last three weeks constituted a sales rate peak, Keller said. He reported peak employment of 87,000 workmen and said 10,000 probably would be added by next fall when the corporation's tank plant would be in operation.

Stockholders approved a voluntary retirement income plan for salaried employés earning more than $250 monthly to supplement provisions of the federal social security act.

Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric, told shareholders that "profits will continue to reflect the substantially greater provision for taxes, increased costs due to overtime payments and employé training programs, and some sacrifice of operating efficiency resulting from our efforts to attain maximum speed in production of military products."

G. E. Profit Is Smaller.

He announced that the March quarter profit was $11,377,969, equal to 39 cents a share on each share of common stock outstanding, compared with $11,951,450, or 41 cents a share, in the corresponding quarter in 1940. Net sales of $129,860,707 billed in the quarter were the largest for any quarter in the company's history, Wilson said, and compared with $85,949,194 in the first quarter of 1940.

William C. Dickerman, chairman of American Locomotive company, predicted additional steam locomotive buying during the rest of 1941 altho at present steam locomotive inquiries are not active. He told stockholders he based his expectations on the rising curve of carloadings and railroad earnings.

Dickerman said that it would be difficult to deliver any locomotives not now on the books before the end of 1941 due to the difficulty in securing materials, particularly alloy steels.

Phelps Dodge Earns 3.7 Million.

Consolidated net income of Phelps Dodge corporation for the first quarter, after all expenses, including provision for federal income and excess profits taxes but before depletion, was placed at $3,700,000, equal to 73 cents a share, by Louis S. Cates, president, at the annual meeting.

Cates stated that apparently the government believed the price of copper should remain at about its present 12 cent level. He estimated that production this year would not greatly exceed that of last year.

United States Rubber company shareholders were told that while operations were considerably ahead of last year, predictions on net results cannot be made because of the tax situation. F. B. Davis Jr., chairman and president, said sales were in excess of last year and the company's factories were rushed with orders.

Oliver Farm Sales Rising.

Stockholders of the Oliver Farm Equipment company held their annual meeting in Chicago. Business of the company to date both in sales and net earnings is a little better than in 1940, Cal Sivright, president, announced.

Gimbel Brothers, owner of Saks Fifth Avenue in Chicago, is sharing in the general improvement in retail trade, Bernard F. Gimbel, president, reported to shareholders. He said that with the general high level of business activity it is expected that the retail trade should enjoy a good year.

James E. MacMurray, who has attended 50 of the 52 annual meetings of the Acme Steel company either as president or chairman, was elected chairman of the annual meeting in Chicago yesterday. He resigned as chairman of the board the first of the year.

Profits of W. T. Grant company for the first two months of 1940 despite a loss in February were approximately $100,000 above last year, Raymond H. Fogler told stockholders.

INT. HARVESTER ASKS RE-ELECTION OF SIX DIRECTORS

Reëlection of the six directors of International Harvester company whose terms expire this year was proposed yesterday in a proxy statement sent stockholders in connection with their annual meeting in Hoboken, N. J., May 8.

The six board members and their stock holdings as of April 3 are Thomas E. Donnelley, 104 common shares; Maurice F. Holahan, 200 common; Arnold B. Keller, 300 common; Chauncey McCormick, 224 common and 100 preferred shares; Fowler McCormick, 803 common, and Judson F. Stone, 1,700 preferred shares.

The statement showed that the company paid total remuneration of $578,037 to officers and 18 directors during the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1940. Holahan, first vice president and one of the company's three highest paid executives, received $56,350.

Midwest Bankers Discuss Plans for Savings Bond Sale

Preparations for the sale of three new series of federal bonds, were discussed at a meeting of midwestern bankers in Chicago yesterday. The new issues are intended to provide a noninflationary type of armament financing which will permit small investors to help raise the billions the government is to borrow.

Senior officers of banks in the principal cities of the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district met with officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago to discuss their part in assisting the treasury with the new savings bond program which will be launched May 1.

Aimed at Small Investor.

Clifford S. Young, president of the reserve bank, announced after the meeting that the discussion centered around various steps necessary for issuance of the new series E bonds by the banks and the taking of applications for the series F and G, the other two new types.

The E bonds are especially intended for the small investor, and only individuals may buy them. Banks will not be permitted to buy any of the three types, but other institutions will be allowed to buy the series F or G bonds.

The E bonds will be available at banks, postoffices, federal savings and loan association offices, federal reserve banks and certain other issuing agencies. They will be registered, nontransferable bonds in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500, or $1,000.

The E bonds will mature in 10 years, and will be sold at a 25 per cent discount. For instance, the buyer of the smallest denomination will pay $18.75 for a bond which will have a maturity value of $25 at the end of 10 years. The annual interest yield will be 2.9 per cent if the bond is held to maturity.

The E bonds will be the same as the present D series [the so-called "baby bonds," which will no longer be issued after April 30], except that the maximum purchase of the E bonds will be $5,000 a year for each individual, instead of $10,000 as in the case of the D series, and that the redemption value of the new series prior to maturity will be reduced.

The new F bonds, designed for larger investors, will be available in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000, at a 26 per cent discount, yielding 2.53 per cent a year if held 12 years to maturity.

"G" Bonds to Bear Interest.

The G bonds, in the same denominations as the F series, will be priced at par, mature in 12 years, and will bear 2.5 per cent interest.

The maximum annual purchases permitted any one individual, association, partnership, trustee or corporation will be $50,000 for either the F or the G bonds, or for F and G bonds combined. These two types will be issued only by the federal reserve banks, but commercial banks will be permitted to take applications for their customers, Young said.

that "the procedure we have adopted will make for the most expeditious solution of the problems arising by setting in motion immediately steps for compliance involving those properties with respect to which there is no factual dispute." This, the SEC said, should bring a "more orderly trial and consequent saving in time and expense."

Order Names Nine Companies.

The companies from which U. G. I. was asked to divorce itself are the Arizona Power corporation; Concord Gas and Manchester Gas companies, both in New Hampshire; Wyandotte County Gas company, Kansas; Nashville Gas and Heating company, Tennessee, and New Haven Gas Light, Hartford Gas, Connecticut Railway and Lighting, and Bridgeport Gas Light companies, all in Connecticut.

In a statement concerning the order, the SEC said:

1. It rejected the U. G. I. contention that the existence of a Connecticut statute prohibiting control of publice utilities by holding companies outside of the state required the commission to treat Connecticut holdings of U. G. I. as investments rather than subsidiaries.

2. It concluded that the city of Philadelphia would not be prejudiced by an order calling for divestment of scattered properties. Philadelphia had taken the position that such an order might affect a guaranty contract between the city and U. G. I. under which a U. G. I. subzsidiary operates the municipal gas plant.

Disagrees with U. G. I.

3. It disagreed with the U. G. I. contention that the commission lacked authority to enter "piecemeal" orders for divestment of properties. The company had argued that the SEC must treat the entire system at once rather than order severance of various subsidiaries from time to time.

4. It concluded that it was not called upon to decide any question of constitutionality of the holding company act raised by U. G. I. since the commission "must proceed, until the courts rule otherwise, on the assumption that the legislation entrusted by the congress to our administration is constitutional."

5. It reaffirmed its earlier opinion that a single integrated public utility system as defined by the utility act could not include both gas and electric companies.

CHICAGO YELLOW CAB 1940 PROFIT SLIGHTLY LOWER

Chicago Yellow Cab Company, Inc., and subsidiaries had net income of $312,074 in 1940, compared with $313,444 in 1939, Benjamin Samuels, president, reported yesterday.

A proxy statement sent to stockholders showed that directors and officers of the corporation, as a group, received $40,682 of remuneration last year. Samuels received $12,160 and R. H. Bieze $12,140.

The proxies were sought in connection with the annual meeting in New York City May 13. The company proposes to reëlect directors and will ask stockholders to vote on a change in by-laws to provide indemnification of directors and officers for costs and legal expenses incurred in performance of their duties.

G. L. MARTIN BOMBER PLANT EXPANSION OF 24 MILLIONS ORDERED

Washington, D. C., April 15 (AP).—A $24,275,033 contract with the Glenn L. Martin company, Baltimore, Md., for construction and equipment of one new aircraft plant and six additions to its existing plant was announced today by the war department.

The department estimated that $15,145,194 of the total would be required for the plant construction. The work will be principally for the manufacture of heavy bombers.

The department also announced a $396,021 contract with Jack & Heintz, Inc., of Cleveland, O., for the leasing of machinery and equipmnt for the manufacture of aircraft electric starters.

People and Events

E. R. Kroblen, Chicago branch manager of Reo Motors, Inc., for the last three years, yesterday was named general sales manager. He will make his headquarters at the factory in Lansing, Mich.

E. R. Kroblen.

Raymond Moley, educator and author who was an assistant secretary of state for President Roosevelt, will speak at the luncheon meeting of the Executives club in the Hotel Sherman Friday.

Employés of the New York Stock exchange and its affiliated companies yesterday presented to William McChesney Martin Jr., retiring president, a scroll which expressed "appreciation and admiration of his gallant leadership under the most trying conditions." Martin's resignation as president takes effect today when he will be inducted into military service. At a parting luncheon a group of executives gave Martin an engraved desk set.

The name of Brailsford & Co., Chicago investment firm, has been changed to Brailsford, Rodger & Co. The company also has been admitted to the Chicago Stock exchange, the membership held in the name of Arthur T. Rodger.

COURT IMPOUNDS ALL OF FIDELITY ILLINOIS ASSETS

Springfield, Ill., April 15 (AP).—Circuit Judge Lawrence E. Stone of Sangamon county today signed a temporary injunction restraining interference with the possession by Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes of $3,750,000 worth of securities on deposit in Illinois for the protection of contract holders of the Fidelity Assurance association certificates.

The injunction was asked by John T. Jarecki, Illinois securities commissioner, after the association, formerly the Fidelity Investment association, was placed in receivership Friday in West Virginia. The association's home office is Wheeling.

Jarecki said impounding of the association's assets in Illinois would assure complete protection of contracts sold in Illinois after 1931 and would cover approximately one-third of contracts sold prior to 1931. The association's authority to sell contracts in Illinois was canceled Jan. 10, 1940.

MORGAN STANLEY DENIED FEES ON BIG DAYTON ISSUE

Washington, D. C., April 15 [Special].—No underwriting fees, commissions, or other compensation deriving from the issue and sale of $25,000,000 of first mortgage bonds by the Dayton Power and light company may be retained or directly or indirectly paid to Morgan Stanley & Co., the Securities and Exchange commission ordered today.

The order is based on a finding that Morgan Stanley is an "affiliate" of the Dayton company under SEC interpretation of the public utility holding company act and that the relationship between the two was such that "arm's length bargaining" could not take place.

The commission consented to the issue of the bonds only on condition that the fees that would ordinarily have been paid to Morgan Stanley be impounded until the question of its status should be determined.

Chicago Companies Share Orders for Army Gloves

Washington, D. C., April 15 (AP).—The war department announced today these contracts for leather gloves: J. A. Dubow Manufacturing company, Chicago, 100,000 pairs, $109,450; Montpelier Glove company, Montpelier, Ind., 108,000 pairs, $112,833; Twentieth Century Glove company, Chicago, 150,000 pairs, $164,175, and Joseph N. Eisendrath company, Marinette, Wis., 400,000 pairs, $435,810.

SHIPPERS MOVE TO CONSOLIDATE LATIN TRADE GAIN

5. Maintaining a high level of exports to supply needs of Latin America.

The last two efforts are linked particularly with building continuing good will to back up expressions of the good-neighbor doctrine. John Abbink, president of Business Publishers' International corporation, warned that there must not be a repetition of 1918, when normal export orders were shoved aside in favor of war orders and domestic consumer demands.

Cites British Methods.

Eugene P. Thomas, president of the National Foreign Trade council, warned that Americans not only should go out after business now but must plan for postwar trade. He pointed out that Great Britain not only is bending every effort to keep up exports during the war but has "highly organized governmental bodies preparing assiduously to meet demands of postwar international trade."

Two private agencies here are taking a leading part in efforts toward permanent trade development. Importers Guide, an international trade journal, has just set up a foreign commodity bureau. Its primary objective of stimulating imports thru finding purchasers here is designed also to create additional dollar exchange which will finance larger exports of American goods. The bureau will facilitate specific export transactions, and will serve as a means of bringing together prospective buyers and sellers, explained Eugene F. Sitterley, publisher. He added that there is every indication less of the newfound war business will be lost than was the case after the world war.

Plans New Bulletin Service.

C. W. Vanderleck, director of the bureau, called its formation "a concrete step toward the creation of a permanently sound relationship between the United States and her sister republics in this hemisphere." The work of the bureau will be implemented thru special bulletins to United States exporters and importers as well as by page advertisments in the publication, which goes to 50,000 key trade organizations abroad.

Already, said Vanderleck, the bureau is working on commercial development of South American fiber and a variety of home industries. The latter include such products as native Mexican and Brazilian art products, Peruvian rugs and blankets.

Joseph A. Medernach, manager of the trade development bureau of Moore-McCormack lines, now is in South America where he will make a survey of trade conditions and possibilities in Argentina, Brazil, and Uruguay. He will spend two months interviewing companies interested in finding new connections in the United States. He is stressing permanent trade building.

Introducing Products Here.

His bureau claims a leading rôle both in developing South American purchases of goods formerly bought in Europe and in introducing Latin products to the United States.

Commander Robert C. Lee, executive vice president, said the line has been largely responsible for bringing in during the last two years 82 different commodities never whipped here before. Many were brought in small quantities, but some have proved capable of development. One such item is Argentine blue cheese, whose shipments here increased from 1,407,000 pounds in 1938 to 10,406,000 pounds in 1940.

In addition to cheese, Thomas pointed out, products normally purchased in Europe which can be obtained almost entirely from Latin America include hides and skins, wines, wool, manganese, platinum, zinc, mahogany, sisal, sausage casings, and vanilla beans.

Expecting "No Miracles."

At the same time, Thomas and Sitterley both warned against expecting "miracles." Both stressed the present limited buying power of Latin America and the competitive nature of many exportable surpluses.

Latin America as a whole, Thomas asserted, has bought as heavily in the United States as its finances have permitted in order to obtain manufactured goods, machinery, chemicals, leather, and other vitally needed goods formerly bought from Europe. Buying of less essential goods has been put aside temporarily because of lack of dollar exchange.

Hope for renewed United States export increases is indicated, however, in the larger dollar exchange being created by our sharply increased buying. Imports from Latin America totaled $81,897,000 in February, against only $58,642,000 a year earlier, and the gains are reported continuing.

SPRING SHOWING OF PLYMOUTHS OPENS TOMORROW

A spring showing of Plymouth automobiles will be held tomorrow and Friday nights at the Drake hotel, J. E. Bayne, general sales manager of the Plymouth Motor corporation, announced yesterday.

All Chicago Dodge, De Soto, and Chrysler dealers handling Plymouths are coöperating with the Chrysler corporation in presenting the show.

"The record number of new car purchases thruout the nation indicates that the public's interest in new model automobiles is greater than it was during the auto show period," Bayne said.

COTTON SEAT DECLINES.
